Who Really Does Sell the Cheapest?

That's what you are interested in. The man who buys of the local jobber a sample or two at a time, or the man who goes direct to the wholesale manufacturer and buys his goods at the lowest cash price in carload lots, obtaining thereby the lowest freight rates? Who can possibly sell the cheapest? One who carries only a $2000 stock or one who has $75,000 invested? Investigate and you'll find the first man's claims to be mostly air—"hot air"—blown off to hoodwink the buying public. Who DOES sell the cheapest? All we ask is a fair inspection of our stock and prices. You'll find the stock occupying—not ONE SINGLE FLOOR—but four floors 100x100 feet in size. You have an opportunity here for a wider range of choice, and the goods are all marked in plain figures. Our prices are so low that there will remain no question in your mind as to who sells the cheapest. THE BIG EAST SIDE STORE invites your trade, for cash or credit.

PAY UP PROMPTLY

Only $50,000 of 1907 Taxes Remains Uncollected.

PENALTIES ARE BUT $4451

Report to Sheriff Stevens on Roll Amounting to $3,226,564 Shows Thorough System in Securing Payment.

Less than $50,000 of the 1907 taxes remain uncollected at this time. This unusually small shortage is shown in the report submitted yesterday to Sheriff Stevens by S. R. Martin, his chief deputy in the tax collecting department.

The total tax roll is shown to be $3,226,564.23. To this is added the sum of $4451.52 by penalties for failure to pay within the specified limits, or previous to the first Monday in April. In addition the sum of $1516.90 is added by the levy of interest at the rate of 1 per cent a month during the time tax payments are overdue. The further sum of $394.46 is added by Sheriff's assessments on property, real and personal, overlooked in the assessments for the year. This brings the tax roll to $3,232,133.93.

The $50,000 unpaid taxes will be materially decreased by the issuance of tax certificates against real property, as required by law. These certificates are salable and bear 15 per cent interest until redeemed by the owner of the property. In case of non-redemption, title is given to the holder of the certificate, although still subject to redemption. Much of the sum unpaid is represented by assessments made against persons who have since left the city and who cannot be held for payment on personal tax.

that displayed in the window of a clothing store on Third street. The apples were grown by J. L. Bowman in his yard on Tillamook street, Irvington. A number of fruit experts have examined the apples but are unable to determine the variety. The specimens are of unusual size and shape and each averages in weight more than a pound. They are attractive in color and the flavor is declared to be excellent. This is the first year the tree has borne, the yield amounting to about 50 apples.

VICE-GERENT SNARK OF HOO HOOS IN WASHINGTON.

W. B. Mack, of Aberdeen. ABERDEEN, Wash., Oct. 21.—(Special)—W. B. Mack, of this city was recently elected vice-gerent snark of the Hoo Hoos, which places him at the head of this popular organization in the State of Washington. When the Hoo Hoos met here in August with the Pacific Coast Manufacturers Association, Mr. Mack was recommended for the position to the supreme council, which recently met in Chicago and carried out the suggestion. Mr. Mack is one of the most popular men on Grays Harbor. He has been through all the varied changes in the fortunes of the people. Mr. Mack is present manager of the large interests here of the Slade Mill Company and is the highest salaried man on the Harbor. He has always contended for everything that benefited this section and has been in the front rank when there was work to be done. One of Mr. Mack's pet hobbies has been a slogan which originated and which has been adopted by the Chamber of Commerce, a "thirty-foot channel to the sea" for Grays Harbor, which bids fair now to be realized.

OCTOBER IS ACTIVE

Election Causes No Lull in Portland's Business.

REALTY SALES ARE HEAVY

Transfers Show Good Gain Over the Same Month Last Year, While Bank Clearings Also Reveal Substantial Increase.

During the month just ended, Portland found itself in an era of unexpected growth.

"People do not realize it, but it is a fact," said Secretary Edmund C. Giltner, of the Chamber of Commerce, yesterday afternoon. "We shall have a greater city, greater by far than any man of my age would have expected it to be, within a few years. The deepening of the mouth of the Columbia, the building of the Swift Packing Company's plant on the Peninsula and the completion of the North Bank road all tend to the greater growth of the city. Portland never faced a more prosperous era than now."

Building operations confirmed Mr. Giltner's statement. For the month there were 268 building permits issued, including repairs, with total valuations of $29,765. These totals are considerably higher than for the preceding year, when valuations amounted to $46,585 for October, or a gain of nearly $200,000 for the month just ended.

For ten months this year the total valuations amount to $3,500,481, or about $300,000 less than for the corresponding period of last year. This difference is accounted for by reason of the depression felt at the beginning of the year. The record for October is regarded as quite satisfactory by contractors and builders and is a matter of pride to all who take an interest in Portland's growth. The East Side had the customary lead in the erection of dwellings. The October total was $200,000 for new residences on the East Side while the West Side had a total of $28,000.

The transactions in real estate were slightly above the normal for the month, and the average was in excess of $60,000 a day. There were many large deals on acreage property. In city property so many transactions were recorded at nominal values that it is impossible to give anything like accurate figures. In financial circles the records of the clearing-house association showed that the clearances for yesterday were $1,138,629.39 as against $794,847.82 for the same day last year. The balances for the day were respectively $128,340.98 and $117,112.82. The record for the closing week in the two years was: Clearance Balances, 1907 $3,519,847.35 $68,843.46 1908 6,068,292.90 $78,157.32

TAKES UP Y. W. C. A. WORK

MISS ALBERTA COREY COMES TO PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT.

New Director Lays Plans of Instruction Along Lines in Which She Is Experienced.

Miss Alberta Corey, the new physical director of the Portland Y. W. C. A., arrived during the week from her home in Barborton, Iowa, and is now busily engaged in formulating plans for her department. The schedule of gymnasium classes is now being arranged and will be published shortly. It is planned to begin the work of the physical department as soon after the new building is ready for occupancy, as possible.

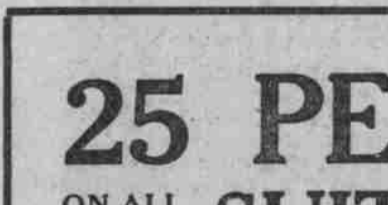

Miss Corey has had wide experience in the conduct of gymnasium work for women. She is a graduate of Oberlin College and of its physical training department. She has also had instruction under the leading physical directors of Boston.

DEATH OF INDIAN FIGHTER

Marcellus S. Daley Came to Oregon in 1853.

Marcellus S. Daley, a pioneer of 1853, and a veteran of the Rogue River Indian War of 1855-56, died yesterday at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Anna L. Thirkell, 667 Market street, as a result of paralysis, from which he first suffered several months ago.

Mr. Daley was born in Beverly, Va., December 6, 1822, and in early life removed to Rock Island County, Illinois. As early as 1849, when the stories relating to the gold discoveries of the Pacific Coast began to be recounted, the desire to "go West" was formed, but it was not until 1850 that he was able to carry out his long cherished purpose. That year he crossed the plains, and late in the Fall he arrived in Jackson County, Southern Oregon. To dig gold near Jacksonville was his first employment, and he followed this intermittently until Indian hostilities compelled him, with many others, to unite in defending the homes of the early settlers of that region from the depredations of the red man. In 1849 he was married to Miss Mary Savage. Of their five children, only two are living, Mrs. Edith J. Harrington, of Medford, Or., and Mrs. Thirkell.

The Late Marcellus S. Daley.

Many years ago Mr. Daley acquired a farm in Washington County, not far from Hillsboro, and later on held the office of Deputy Sheriff for a term. He also, at a later date, rendered good service as City Marshal of Hillsboro. In addition to the children mentioned he is survived by his widow, four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Range Lights Off South Bend.

SOUTH BEND, Wash., Oct. 31.—(Special)—Five range lights for the convenience and safety of night navigators have been installed on this harbor and are now in operation. Captain T. H. Bell, of the Pacific Transportation Company, was the contractor and completed his contract nearly a month in advance of the Government's specifications.

Bryan Meeting at Gresham.

Colonel R. A. Miller addressed the untrifled at Gresham, Friday night in the interests of Democracy. It was a burrah-meeting for Bryan and at times there were sounds of real enthusiasm for stamping on the floor, hand-clapping and loud shouts for the Nebraskan. It is said that the meeting was well attended.
