

MISS CORNELIA COOK, A DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. J. W. COOK, WHO WILL MAKE HER DEBUT AT A RECEPTION WEDNESDAY

PRACTICALLY every one in society contributed to the success of 'Tag Day,' which yesterday netted a handsome sum for the Babies' Home. Dignified matrons sold tags on street corners or acted as chaperons for the girls who did most of the soliciting. Such general co-operation in behalf of a local charity has no parallel in the city's history. It was generally felt that the charity is one of the most worthy for which an appeal could be made, and the response was all that those who directed the successful campaign could have desired. The man who was not decorated with one or more tags was the rare exception, and instances are on record where his or her worth of the little 'you're it' signs were sold to a single purchaser. The universal sympathy felt for the little charges of the Home touched the heart of the most calloused, and the remarkable success of the unique campaign proves that the idea was a most happy one on the part of those who instituted it.

The attractive Miss Genevieve Parke, who made her debut last winter, writes from Manila that her parents, Major and Mrs. Parke, are stationed at Cebu with a battalion of the Fourteenth Infantry. The weather, it seems, has been oppressively hot, but it has, however, not interfered with entertaining, and the hostesses have attracted attention from the different nearby garrisons. Among others at Cebu are Lieutenant and Mrs. Gregg and Major and Mrs. Hasbrook.

In these columns last Sunday, reference was made to the fact that two prominent members of the younger set had recently composed a popular song. They are Miss Genevieve Thompson, the daughter of Mrs. D. P. Thompson, and Leland Smith, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Smith. Miss Thompson has written the words and Mr. Smith, who is a talented pianist, the music. Miss Thompson is particularly gifted with her pen and has during the past few years contributed many clever magazine stories to Eastern publishers. The new piece has been christened 'Swastika Sue' and is attractively gotten up with a flaming red cover and a great white swastika emblem in white, the center of which is the head of an Indian maiden posed for by Miss Buford, the handsome Cuban, who appeared at the Orpheum a fortnight ago in conjunction with Barrington Carter in a sketch called 'The Act Beautiful.' While here Mr. Smith called the attention of the reviewers to the new song in which they at once became interested and signed a contract to give the initial performance in Spokane, singing the song in appropriate Indian costume while the scenic effects are to be on an elaborate scale.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Blake (Miss Ruth Maxwell) have returned to Scotland from a month's visit in London. While Mr. Blake is engaged with his consular duties at Dunfermline, Scotland, Mrs. Blake will leave tomorrow for a month's motor tour with friends which will include France, Portugal and Spain. They will start from Lisbon, sailing on December 1 for London, where Mrs. Blake will join her husband and where they will spend the Christmas holidays. While in London Mrs. Blake met Mr. and Mrs. George Goode and Miss Frances Lewis just prior to their sailing for America, and she also had luncheon in Edinburgh, Scotland, with Miss Hazel and Miss Leslie Welder.

Many pleasant things have been done in New York for Miss Marion Jackson, by the friends of her cousin Professor Murray Butler, who is president of Columbia College. Miss Jackson has also been entertained by her brother, Lieutenant Rhea Jackson, at Fort Jay, Governor's Island, the same post where Captain and Mrs. William H. Jordan, Jr. are stationed. The latter was formerly Miss May Bell.

A pretty luncheon on Monday had as its hostess Mrs. George S. Whitfield, who entertained for her mother-in-law, Mrs. Whitfield, of Boston, who is spending a few weeks out West. The guests included Mrs. W. S. Ladd, Mrs. W. J. Burns, Mrs. C. E. Heber, Miss Sally Lewis, Miss Helen Ladd Corbett and Mrs. Holt C. Wilson.

Mrs. J. W. Cook has sent out cards for a reception on Wednesday at her new Portland Heights residence, at which time Miss Cornelia Cook will make her formal debut. Miss Cook graduated last year from Rogers Hall, Lowell, Mass., where her sister, Cully, is now attending. Miss Cornelia has been much admired for her piquant beauty, having a wealth of brown, curly hair and expressive brown eyes. While in Washington, D. C., during the Christmas holidays she visited Senator and Mrs. Levi Ankeny, at which time she was made much of by the members of the younger set.

Added to her long list of miniatures and paintings, Lillie V. O'Ryan will show at her exhibition this month, a painting of Mrs. George W. McBride, wife of ex-Senator McBride, whose handsome brunette type of beauty is shown to advantage in a lace gown and hair with a broad ermine stole. Another strikingly effective piece of work is a pastel drawing of Miss Maud Howell, who is painted as Bluet's heroine in a heavily embroidered Carmesque style of shawl with brilliant scarlet poppies arranged at the nape of her neck. Miss Howell is of the attractive Irish type of beauty with blue eyes and jet black hair and naturally lends herself picturesquely to the pose.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Winslow, after a year's residence abroad, will sail for America this coming week, arriving home early in December.

Some elaborate entertainment was recently done in Washington, D. C., New York, Massachusetts and in Philadelphia for the International Congress on Tuberculosis which met in Washington, for which there was 400 delegates, which represented 33 foreign countries. Two Oregon delegates were Dr. E. A. Pierce, of Portland, and Dr. H. E. Beers, of Warrenton, who are enthusiastic over the trip. While at the capital they were given an elaborate reception at the White House by President and Mrs. Roosevelt, a smoker at the New Willard Hotel, a reception at the Corcoran Art Gallery, and scores of banquets, luncheons and dinners of lesser magnitude. At these formal functions the Americans naturally appeared in evening clothes while the foreigners in most instances were evening gowns with accompaniment of a brilliant sash indicative of honors conferred and around their throats necklaces with jeweled pendants. Particularly handsome were the decorations worn by the famous Dr. Unterberger, who is the physician to the czar, and who at the afternoon sessions of the conference appeared in the uniform of a Russian cavalry officer with spurred boots and saber and uniform laden down with medals. The convention convened for a few days at Philadelphia where much entertaining was done in their honor at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel. Great interest was manifested by the visitors at a reception given by Mr. and Mrs. P. A. B. Widener at the Widener Memorial Home for Crippled Children between the ages of 4 and 10 years. The Wideners who are among the wealthiest families of the Quaker City, have donated several handsome buildings where the unfortunate children are given every advantage known to modern science, where money is unstinted and where they are surrounded by the most healthful environment until they become of age. After that period if they are still incapacitated they are removed to a comfortable adjoining cottage where they are enabled in a degree to support themselves. The final meeting of the conference was an interesting one, representatives from foreign countries making farewell speeches. While the closing address was being made by Secretary Cortelyou, President Roosevelt, unannounced and unexpected, walked into the assemblage in his characteristic 'tranquility' and delivered an inspiring speech, disappearing again with his bodyguard amidst the cheers of the assembled convention. The next meeting will be held three years hence at Rome.

Fleischner, Mrs. Oscar Meyer, of New York, Mrs. L. Lang, Mrs. Ben Selling, Mrs. Charles Kohn, Mrs. I. N. Lipman, Miss Ella Hirsch and Miss Mae Hirsch.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Reed Davis, the latter formerly Miss Mabel Fouch, will arrive today from California to spend a few days with Mrs. Davis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Fouch, en route to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Voorhies gave a small dinner on Tuesday for Major and Mrs. C. Cabell. Additionally there were present Mrs. C. E. S. Wood, Miss Henrietta Felling, Miss Mae Felling, Mrs. Bache, Thomas Scott Brooks and General Bacon.

On Wednesday Mrs. C. E. Cheney again entertained with bridge for her sister, Miss Susan Stott, asking Mrs. David T. Honeyman, Miss Effie Houghton, Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, Miss Claire Houghton, Miss Monroe, Mrs. David C. Lewis, Mrs. Frank Freeman, Miss Martha Tongue, Mrs. Clarence Sewall, Miss Inez Barrett, Miss Amy Heltshu, Miss Grace Warren, Mrs. George K. Westwood, Mr. Charles Hirsch, Mrs. Margaret Catlin, Miss Louise Flanders, Mrs. Ralph Matson, Mrs. Harry Sladen, Mrs. George Marshall, Miss Harriet Kinney, Mrs. John K. Kollock, Mrs. James Laddlaw, Mrs. Lansing Stout and Miss Ernestine Felling.

The coming departure for Europe of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Fleischner and their daughter, Miss Flora, has been signalized by a round of entertaining. Commencing on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kohn gave a dinner in the drawing rooms of the Hotel Portland, for which the table decorations were elaborate. As a centerpiece a huge letter F was formed of American Beauty roses, while clusters of green and scarlet grapes with their foliage were interwoven with incandescent lights. Enhancing the effect were silk gauze butterflies suspended on wires. Place cards were slips and favors for the women portmanteaus and for the men hat-boxes. The guests included Mrs. Solomon Hirsch, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Fleischner, Mrs. Gustav Simon, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sellen, Mr. and Mrs. Adolphe Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. I. Lang, Mrs. Oscar Meyer, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Steich, Philip Lowengard and Sandford Hirsch.

On Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Fleischner were dinner hosts in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Fleischner. A miniature steamer was arranged in the center of the table, around which was strewn billowy green tulle to represent the sea. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sellen, Mrs. Oscar Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hausman, Mrs. Solomon Hirsch, Samuel Simon, Philip Lowengard and Sandford Hirsch. A theater party in honor of the travelers was given at the Orpheum last night, and followed by a supper at the Portland.

A new dancing club has recently been inaugurated called the Fortnightly Club, which will have its initial party Monday night at Clark Hall. The Fortnightly Club will meet alternately with the Monday night dancing classes of the younger married set.

Mrs. James Honeyman was a bridge hostess on Tuesday afternoon, asking Mrs. W. C. Alvord, Mrs. Frank Hart, Miss Monroe, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Susan Stott, Mrs. Lansing Stout, Miss Grace Warren, Miss Frances Warren, Mrs. Otis Wight, Mrs. David T. Honeyman, Mrs. David C. Lewis, Miss Carrie Flanders, Mrs. Louise Flanders, Mrs. William Muir, Mrs. Wells Gilbert, Mrs. John Eben Young, Mrs. Harry Sladen, Mrs. Charles Warren, Mrs. Frederick G. Spies, Mrs. E. C. Eshelin, Mrs. E. C. Mears, Mrs. C. J. Reed, Miss Sally Lewis, Mrs. John K. Kollock, Mrs. Solomon Hirsch, Miss Ella Hirsch, Miss Mae Hirsch, Mrs. James Canby, Mrs. Frank Freeman, Mrs. Walter P. Burrell, Mrs. Joseph N. Teal, Mrs. J. C. Robinson, Mrs. A. L. Maxwell, Mrs. Harry Allen, Mrs. William Dunkley, Mrs. J. F. Dickson, Mrs. C. E. Curry, Mrs. LeRoy Parker, Mrs. William Jones, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. W. A. MacRae, Mrs. C. F. Adams, Mrs. Herbert Holman, Mrs. George Wentworth, Mrs. L. H. Tarpley, Mrs. Samuel Kerr, Mrs. Frank Kerr, Mrs. George Marshall, Mrs. Russell Sewall, Mrs. Ralph Hoyt and Miss Hazel Croker.

Mrs. W. T. Gray, of Seattle, formerly of Portland and Salem, has been a guest of friends here during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ransom gave a Halloween dinner party last night, which included Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Coman, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Jackson and Miss Mabel Ransom.

Mrs. George D. Peters has sent out cards for a reception on Friday at Irvington bungalow. Mrs. Peters will also receive with Mrs. L. D. Peters and
