'73' IS SENT OVER WIRES

Old-Time Operators Entertain Men of National and International Prominence at Banquet in New York City.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The telegraph fast, "73" meaning regards was ticked across the wires tonight over the special wires to the banquet room at the Hotel Manhattan, of Old Time Telegraphers of New York, entertaining Andrew Carnegie on the occasion of his 73d birthday.

Carnegie Sent Edison Message.

At the tables were Thomas A. Edison, a former operator and one of the first telegraph operators regularly employed by the United States Government in the Civil War, who was sent from the Pennsylvania Railroad line in response to a message dated Washington, April 22, 1861, and signed by Mr. Carnegie, Colonel Robert C. Glover, president of the Western Union Telegraph Company, president as toastmaster, and the speakers included David H. Bates, one of the early military telegraphers who said that when the Government refused to pension the military telegraphers Mr. Carnegie at once provided the income of $12 per month for each member of the old corps as were recommended by their organization.

The souvenirs of the evening were miniature but practically always of the nature of ebony and bronze, one of which recorded the many messages which came from various parts of the country throughout the evening.

"I believe," said Mr. Carnegie, "that when we get to heaven and are challenged and asked why we want to come in, we will pick up one of these little instruments and say, '73'. And he made the signal as he spoke the numeral.

Mr. Carnegie said he spoke in no Pickwickian sense, and that he had the expressions of his old friends of fellowship and good will fought as the greatest public honor he had ever received. He felt, he said, a sense of kinship in the ranks of the speakers and their expressions of regard for him.

Values Friendship Shown.

There is no higher compliment which can be paid you than to have the friends of your boyhood days, the friends of your older days do you honor, I would rather have your certificate of friendship than any other. A gentleman took in the manuscript which I had written in pencil. Then another man said he did not want any millions in the club. You know how excited these authors are. Another writer said I was probably all right as a right man, but that I was a fool as an author. I suppose it was upon that basis I was finally admitted.

LAMPHERE GOES TO PRISON

Farwell Visit From Mother—New Trial Will Be Asked.

LAFORTE, Ind., Nov. 28.—Ray Lamphere, convicted of having set fire to the home of Mrs. Belle Guinness, went to prison in state today. He rode from the Indianapolis station to the prison gate in an automobile.

The prisoner was given a bath, photographed, measured and garbed in the prison suit of gray, the middle grade. Upon his future course depends whether he will be given the stripes or the better grade of blue suit.

Before he was taken to the State Prison Lamphere had a visit from his mother. The aged woman wept as she clasped her son in her arms, but the prisoner bore up well. Attorney Worden announced today that he would move on Monday for a new trial and that upon the same being denied, he expected to perfect an appeal. The motion for a new trial will be based upon the claim that Judge Richter was giving the jury instructions that it could render a verdict of arson.

Part of Pacific Fleet Ordered From Manila to China.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Directions have been ordered for the Pacific fleet at Manila, to send two of its vessels to the Yang Tze River country, China, the vessels previously here having gone to Manila with the remainder of the Pacific fleet for target practice. This step is taken as a matter of precaution. The Navy department always maintains two small vessels in the water of the Yang Tze.

A dispatch was received at the Navy department yesterday announcing the departure of the gunboat Wilmington from Manila for Hongkong, presumably on her way to the Yang Tze.

the ceremonies attending Pu Yi's ascension to the throne. It has been understood that this ceremony was to be performed on New Year's day, when the son of the late Kuang Hsu expired. Mischa Elman.

Mischa Elman.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—(Special.)—There are rumors of a violinist greater than Kreisler. Now Kreisler is the acknowledged greatest violinist known in America, and when one compares another violinist with him he is inviting severe judgment. Yet the story is told, not by the press agent of Mischa Elman, but by musicians who have heard him abroad. This 19-year-old Russian, they say, is a marvel.

Elman is to make his debut with the Russian Symphony Orchestra, December 10. He was born in Russia, and when 1 year old received his first instruction in music from his father. At 3 he played before the Princess Durossoff, who offered to adopt him and educate him. In 1896 he began study at the Imperial School of Music in Odessa. Later Leopold Auer, who had heard him play, used his influence to obtain his admission as a free pupil at the Royal Conservatory. He played in Russia and Germany in 1904 and in London in the following year. He is to appear with the New York Philharmonic and other big orchestras here.

Army and Navy Will Struggle in Closing Football Game of Season at Philadelphia Today.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—With the annual game between the Army and Navy at Philadelphia tomorrow, the football season of 1908 is brought to a close, leaving the ranking of the teams and the selection of the national All-American eleven to occupy the followers of the sport.

Perhaps the chief thing demonstrated by this year's contest was that the so-called minor colleges are no longer to be despised. The Navy tied Harvard, and Brown held the crimson to a 6-10-2 score this fall; Dartmouth defeated Princeton, while Syracuse and West Point held the men from New Jersey to a 9-10-0 tie, and Yale was able to score one touchdown only against both Syracuse and the Army.

New Game Here to Stay.

Another fact as brought out is that "new" football has come to stay. As now played, the game is far more open and hence more interesting to the spectator and less harmful to the players. Punting, field goal kicking and trick plays have reached a greater development than ever before, while the forward pass is generally admitted to be one of the prettiest plays in football.

It can hardly be said that the revised game has reached as high a development as in the West as in the East. Michigan, which, for years, had one of the strongest gridiron teams in the country under the former rules, has recently suffered successive defeats by Eastern colleges, being decisively whipped this year by both Pennsylvania and Syracuse.

Chicago held Cornell to a tie this season, but Cornell was easily defeated by Pennsylvania two weeks later. Minnesota took the Indians into camp by a score of 11 to 6, but Charlie had already been beaten, it is to be remembered, by the Indians are notoriously erratic and they are said not to have played up to their standard at Minneapolis.

Clear Record for Season.

The ranking of the teams this year, as always, is difficult and largely a matter of personal opinion. There can be little dispute, however, that the choice of the Nation's best eleven lies between Pennsylvania and Harvard, both of which went through the season undefeated. Probably most critics will rank as the six leading teams in the East (exclusive of the Army and Navy) Harvard, Pennsylvania, Yale, Dartmouth, Brown and Princeton. In the West there is no question of Chicago's leadership. She has won every game played except that against Eastern college, Cornell. Next probably would come Wisconsin, then Minnesota.

CALLER WHEN WIFE ASKED VANDERBILT TELLS OF BELIEF IN SPIRITUALISM.

Married Mrs. Scannell, Who Communicated With Spirits, but Was Once Too Slow.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The last testimony was taken yesterday in the case of Edward Vanderbilt, whose daughter Minerva seeks to have him adjudged incompetent to conduct his business. Mr. Vanderbilt's chief contention being that he indicated his alleged incompetence when he married May Pepper Scannell, the spiritualist medium.

Mr. Vanderbilt was under cross-examination before both sides rested. He told of his association with his second wife, before and after their marriage. From his statement it appeared that, when his first wife was dying, she asked him to have Mrs. Pepper communicate with her and learn for her whether she would die.

Mr. Vanderbilt said he had arranged to bring Mrs. Pepper to his home, but his wife died before she arrived. Mr. Vanderbilt married the medium several years later.

A verdict is expected early next week.

PREDICTION FULFILLED.

Ohio Judge's Opinion of Mr. Taft Thirteen Years Ago.

Thirteen years ago, according to a story as told a few days ago to the writer, by one of the participants, there were gathered one evening in a Winter resort hotel on the Gulf of Mexico, a number of prominent public and business men, including Senator Vest, Jerome Hill, a leading cotton factor of Memphis, a Judge of the Supreme Court of Ohio, and several others. Each man in the party was asked to give his impression of the greatest man he had ever known personally. One after another told the story of his estimate of the greatest man that he had met, until finally all had spoken except the Judge. When his turn came he said: "I have listened with much interest to what you have all said about great men of your acquaintance. I think I know a greater man than any you have mentioned. The man I have in view is the wisest and fairest counselor who has ever practiced in my court. He is the safest friend and an adviser I have ever known. He is the best son and the best husband

This conversation took place, as stated by Jerome Hill, one of the participants, to the Manufacturers Record a few days ago, at Bay St. Louis, just 12 years ago. The prediction has been fulfilled, and William H. Taft has been elected President of the United States.
