

INTRODUCE BILL FOR SANATORIA

State to Be Asked to Aid in Fight Against Spread of Tuberculosis.

COMMUNITY OF INTERESTS

Senator Beach to Introduce Bill Providing for Relief's Interest in Estate Acquired by Couple After Their Marriage.

Provision for two sanatoriums for the treatment of advanced and incurable cases of tuberculosis will be asked of the State Legislature this winter. It will be proposed that one of these institutions shall be located in Southern Oregon and the other in the eastern part of the state. The control and management of both sanatoriums will be vested in the state, which will be asked to establish these institutions and appropriate the bulk of the funds for their maintenance.

Prominent people of this city who are identified with the tubercular campaign in this state have united in a movement to secure state assistance in their crusade. At the present time hospitals and private sanatoriums refuse to receive or treat a patient who is suffering from tuberculosis in its advanced stages and it is urged that humane considerations alone justify the request that will be made. As it is now, many persons afflicted with lung trouble are said to delay seeking proper treatment until the disease has thoroughly entrenched itself and then the patient is denied admission at the hospitals and private sanatoriums. Aside from providing a place where such patients can be treated properly, the advocates of the proposed measure contend that it is to be commended for the results that will follow in preventing the spread of the disease.

Draft Now Being Made.

The draft of the proposed bill is being made and State Senator S. C. Beach has been asked to introduce the measure in the Legislature. Preliminary to submitting such a bill to the state's session, the friends of the anti-tubercular movement have undertaken the formation of a provisional committee of members to organize an Oregon branch of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Later the proposed committee will be called together for the purpose of forming an organization through which support of the bill for state aid will be urged of the Legislature.

Senator Beach does not expect to have his pockets overladen with bills when he goes to Salem next month, but there is one measure he proposes to present to the Legislature, and that is one known as a "Community of Interests" law, patterned after the one in operation in Washington. In brief, the bill will provide in essence of the death either of the husband or the wife, the other shall immediately succeed to a one-half interest in that portion of the estate acquired subsequent to their marriage.

"Such a law as I propose to offer, I find is opposed very generally by the members of the legal profession," said Senator Beach yesterday, "but if I can succeed in getting such a bill drafted before the Legislature convenes, I certainly shall introduce it as a matter of right and justice, have, at my own expense, had the data necessary for such a bill collected and I have induced a lawyer friend to prepare it in presentable form. There was talk of offering such a bill at the session of the Legislature two years ago, but so much opposition developed that the bill was never presented."

Law Needed as Justice.

"Instances are happening daily that go to show the need and justice of some such provision. I will cite just one circumstance with which I am acquainted here in Portland, and there are hundreds of others just like it. About 15 years ago a couple married, neither having any money. A few months ago the husband died suddenly, the couple in the meantime having by good management and frugal habits acquired property worth about $75,000. When it came to administering the estate it was discovered by the widow that her husband had by will bequeathed all of the property to other relatives, leaving her absolutely penniless and without any support, notwithstanding that she had assisted to accumulate the full value of the estate. This woman worried over her destitute circumstances until her mind became impaired and she is now a patient at the state insane asylum."

Dr. Brougher at Y. M. C. A.

For three Sundays the Men's Meeting in the afternoon will be addressed by Dr. Brougher. His general subject will be "The Fight with Heredity and Environment," on December 13, "The Fight with Temptations," and on December 20, "The Fight with Happiness." This series is one of the strongest series of talks for young men that Dr. Brougher has ever given, and while they are full of wit and humor, they also offer a solution to the man who is fighting these fights. Besides the address each afternoon there will be stereopticon pictures and special music. This afternoon just before the address, Mrs. Olga Bartsch Lang will sing a special solo, and a number of Alaska views, taken by Mr. Greig, the physical director of the Y. M. C. A., will be shown and explained by him. Just following the address will be the usual Bible class and fellowship luncheon. All men are invited to attend the full afternoon programme.

MANY TOURISTS COMING

AGENCIES WILL SEND EXCURSIONISTS TO SEE FESTIVAL.

Descriptive Literature Being Sent by Association—Canvass Meets With Encouragement.

Entirely new channels for the exploitation of the Portland Rose Festival of next June have been opened up in the last two days. In response to telegrams sent to the heads of at least a dozen or more tourist agencies in the East, the Festival management has received replies which guarantee the presence here of hundreds of Eastern pleasure-seekers during the week of festivities. These agencies are located in New York and they have already made arrangements to take early advantage of the enforcement of the extremely low rate which will be granted to the Coast next summer, beginning May 25.

One of the tourist agencies, which stated that it had routed more than 1500 Eastern people through Portland last summer, states in its answer that it will be able to send out at least three trainloads of people who are willing to start early enough to take in the week of the Festival here and to see the fair at Seattle later. The Festival Association has been asked to forward these tourist companies all the literature available, not to be limited to the Festival alone, but to embrace pictorial matter covering last summer's celebration and characteristic scenery in and around Portland.

One party of 240 New England tourists is already assured for the Festival through one of the tourist firms, the plan being to leave Boston just as soon as the low rate goes into effect. This crowd will not only make all points on the Coast, but will take in the Hawaiian Islands before its return. Another party is now being made up from New York and Brooklyn; a third from Baltimore and Southern points, and a fourth to congregate at Chicago and take in the entire Pacific Slope during the month of June.

Headquarters of the National Grocers' Association has notified the Festival people that there will be at least two trainloads of delegates and their friends who will come to Portland for the next annual convention to be held here the Festival week, and that their itinerary will include Seattle, after the gathering here.

Arrangements will be made by the Rose Festival management at once to keep in the closest touch with the tourist agencies with a view of routing as many Eastern tourist parties as possible this way during the week of June 7 to 12, when the Festival will be held. Co-operation with the Seattle Fair will be asked and it is likely that both expositions will work hand in hand in bringing these large sight-seeing crowds to the Pacific Northwest.

As showing the general tone of approval with which the Festival financial campaigns are being received by the business public in their canvass for funds for the celebration, the following letter is a good indication: PORTLAND, OR., Dec. 4.—Mr. Ralph W. Hoyt, President Portland Rose Festival—Dear Sir: The Schiller Cigar Company made a modest contribution to the Portland Rose Festival last year, not realizing the importance and magnitude of the celebration. It was the best money we ever spent and we received direct and better results from the investment than we have from any other event in Portland, not excepting the Lewis and Clark Fair. We therefore cheerfully hand you our subscription for 1909 and will do everything in our power to make the Rose Festival greater and grander than ever. Very truly yours, THE SCHILLER CIGAR FACTORY, By E. SCHILLER.

President Ralph W. Hoyt yesterday wired to Harvey W. Scott, editor of The Oregonian, asking him to use his best influence with the City Board of Aldermen of Philadelphia to secure the presence here of the famous Liberty Bell. Mr. Scott is now in Philadelphia and it is believed that he will be able to bring sufficient pressure to bear upon the Aldermen to persuade them to allow the great token of American freedom to make its first journey across the continent.

In this connection, another appeal was sent to Governor Chamberlain, urging him to use his good offices as the chief executive of the state when he reaches Philadelphia in behalf of this movement. The matter was taken up with Governor Chamberlain before he left for Washington last week, and he agreed to make a strong representation in support of this movement while he was away.

ARCHBISHOP CHRISTIE TO PRESIDE AT DEDICATION THIS MORNING

ST. STANISLAUS' CHURCH, MARYLAND AVENUE AND FALLING STREET. St. Stanislaus' Church, on Maryland avenue and Falling street, will be dedicated this morning at 10 o'clock by Archbishop Christie. The mass, which will follow, will be celebrated by Rev. Arthur de Lortmier, with Rev. J. P. Fitzpatrick as deacon and Rev. T. Daum as sub-deacon. Archbishop Christie will deliver the sermon. Rev. Charles Seroski is pastor, and two years ago was commissioned by the archbishop to build a church for the Polish people, and he succeeded after overcoming great obstacles. He says but for the support of the business men of the city it would have been impossible to build the church. The design is Romanesque, the building 45x100, and will seat 500 people. The church may be reached either by the Lower Alhambra or the Russell-Shaver car from Union avenue, the latter car being reached by transfer from any Union-avenue car.
