tained. General Simon was received at the outskirts of the city by a delegation from the committee of public safety. The welcome of the people was offi-cially conveyed to him and he was of-fered a magnificent crown of palms. Accompanied by his personal escort and followed by a large crowd crying "Long live the President," the General made his way to the cathedral, where he assisted at the celebration of a Te beum. The service was conducted by the archbishop. the archbishop.

Te Deum and Popular Acclaim.

Te Deum and Popular Acclaim. After he left the cathedral the ova-tion in honor of the successful revolu-tionary leader was redoubled. The hells of the city rang out and the drams and trumpets sounded the sa-lute that is used only to welcome the chief executive of the Haytian Repub-lic. General Simon made a tour of Port au Prince, still accompanied by his escort, and still cheered by the people wherever he went. The popular hellef was that he would go directly to the national palace and establish him-self there, but the general finally haited at a private house on the Champ de Mars, where he established his headquarters.

Has Rivals for Presidency.

General Simon's position undoubtedly is very strong and there is great like-lihood of his proclaiming humself pres-ident of the republic. If he takes such a step, however, there is every reason to believe that General Zeconte, at Cape Haytien, General Firmin, at Go-naives, and General Fouchard, at Jeremie, all aspirants to the presi-dency, will enter a vigorous protest. deremie, all aspirants to the presi-dency, will enter a vigorous protest, and that an outbreak of civil warfare will follow. The hope of peace rests in the holding of free elections, and it is believed that General Simon recog-nizes the wisdom of such a policy. The rebel army has occupied the var-lous barracks. He is anxious, he says, for a com-plete examination into his case, and it is not unlikely that the final work of prohing will end only with a legist. of probing will end only with a legis-lative investigation.

Richardson Deal Looks Black.

The Palmer deal; according to infor nation given the committee, is as fol-

In 1906, Richardson laid before Merritt In 1906, Richardson laid before Merritt & Merritt a proposition in which he aud was made to him by E. B. Palmer, ex-State Senator and altorney of Seattle, to secure a judgment of $19,000 in a di-vorce proceeding for a division of the Richardson property, in consideration of the payment to Palmer of $3500. When the matter was laid before the Spokane altorneys they took it to Olympia and laid it before the Chief Justice of the Su-preme Court, with the request that Root preme Court, with the request that Root be not allowed to write the decision in the Richardson case. The Chief Justice in the rate of exchange since the Alexis informed them that the case had not been decided, but when the decision was handed down it was found to have been written down it was found to have been written by Root, and judgment was awarded Mrs. Richardson in the sum of $12,000. Richardson expressed to Merritt & Merritt an inclination to pay Palmer the $2500, but after conferring with his at-torneys is said not to have done so. In any event, he has denied to Merritt & Magnit that our money was paid Merritt that any money was paid.

government was thrown out and the population is very jubliant over the amellora-

The committee on public safety has been dissolved and General Simon has named a commission to carry on the af-fairs of the city. Throughout the day General Simon was acclaimed on every hand by the crowds.

Will Let Assembly Decide.

In conversation with the senators and in conversation with the senators and deputies who are now here, the revolu-tionary leader said that he would ac-cept the decision of the National As-sembly, which had his permission to vote freely on the matter of the president to succeed Nord Alexis, if it were possible to secure a quorum. This declaration is accepted generally as being sincere, but his officers are urging him to assume the office himself and take control of the government. General Colcou is still a refugee in the French legation and the people are furious. The legation house is strongly guarded by a detachment of marines.

ROOT DENIES ALL WRONG

When the decision first was rendered the court stood three to four against the rallway. I have been honest. No one has ever influenced me in the matter of decisions. This horrible stuff that has decisions. This horrible study that has been circulated against me is untrue. It is as false as those who have attempted to besmirch my name and character." "Why did I resign? I'll tell you. News-paper accounts to the effect that I had agreed to resign following my election are false. I never knew a word concern-ing their phase of my trouble nor did ing that phase of my trouble, nor did know of the trouble that would ensue. first heard of it through friends who old me the stories my enemles were circulating.

Following the election, I came to Seattle and started to run the reports down. I went before the court and and told its members that rumors had been circulated reflecting upon my charac-ter, and that I did not care to embarrass the court. I asked for an investi-gation. Justice Hadley called for one. I returned to Seattle. Friends of mine I returned to Seattle. Friends of mine came to me and stated that if I con-tinued to sit on the bench the remain-der of the court would refuse to sit with me. I was advised to resign forthwith. This I did. When I went to Olympia the week every member of the court told me that the statement that they would have refused to sit with me longer was falso. It was just another slap of faic. "I was sick when I penned my resignation. I am sick now. I am heart-broken and disheartened. I would not have resigned had I known that my friends on the bench had not made a demand for it.

A demand for it. Asks Gordon to Tell All. In justice to myself it should be known before the committee. He has not said that he would and I doubt if he will. I have asked him to appear and tell every-tims. My indiscretion resolves likelf him to be defined by it rusting that a friend of mine would so far forget himself and the friendship is valued. Yes, my letters could be com-strand as meaning things different than what I meant. I have known Judge for for years. When he was Pros-cuting Attorney I assisted in clevating him to the Supreme bench. When he moved to Spokans I felt that he was pro-cuting Attorney I assisted in clevating it of the others again something in the way the one man upon whom I could rely Richardson Refused to Talk.

The case originally came from Douglas County, where Richardson resides. In 1964 the Supreme Court sent the case back for a division of the property by a Court Commission. In the second trial the court gave the wife property valued at $35,000. An appeal was taken from this verdict, and it was while this ap this verdict, and it was while this ap-peal was pending that Richardson told Merriti & Merritt he had been approched by Palmer with the proposition that he could secure a reduction of the verdict to $13,000. Palmer told Richardson that he was a law partner of Justice Root and could be the Richardson swore him to ecording to Richardson, swore him to Merritt & Merritt told the Root in-vestigating committee that they had made an effort to get an affidavit from Rich-ardson, but that they could not do so. ardson, but that they could not do so, vent a meeting of the special har com-mittee, charged with the investigation of the Root-Gordon charges for several days. If it is possible for the attorneys to escape from their work they will meet during the first days of next week, for the committee is extremely anxious to nelude it labors immediately.

Investigation No Whitewash.

The committee has two objects in view in hastening the hearings. It has been a serious handlcap upon all the attorneys in their practice to go into the Root inquiry, and in addition to the personal inconveniences, the committee feels, the attorneys are anxious to conclude their hearings and stop the circulation of rumors. In justice to the other members of the Supreme Court who have not been brought into the scandal in any way, the attorneys on the committee show the exact situation and will relieve both the exact situation and will relieve both the court and the bar generally of the effect of unfounded reports. Members of the special bar committee are determined to report fully on the exact facts on every charge they can hear. There is no chance of a whitewash report, and the bar committee's findings may be even more drastic than have been intimated thus far.

thus far. An attorney who stands close enough to the bar committee to know the feelings of the members, declared today that the committee would rec-ommend disbarment proceedings, a grand jury inquiry or any other action that is fitted to the case.
