An engagement that is bringing many felicitations in its train is that of Miss Leslie Knapp, whose portrait is given on today's page. The betrothal of Miss Knapp to Carroll M. Ruhlbert was announced on Saturday afternoon at a smart luncheon given by Mrs. Mortimer H. Insley in honor of Miss Knapp and Miss Effie Houghton, whose marriage to John Emerson Cronan is set for immediately after the holidays.

The luncheon was yellow in its appointments with masses of golden chrysanthemums and greens used in the decorative scheme. The table appointments were especially handsome. Insley, who is a sister of Miss Knapp, was gowned in an imported white lace

IN MANY respects this week's social calendar has been filled with more events than the fortnight passed. Prominent among the large affairs was the Assembly Ball on Tuesday evening, which was of dominant interest. Other events of importance were the White-house tea and reception on Tuesday, the subscription dance on Friday evening, Mrs. Samuel C. Kerr's bridge, and Mrs. Morton Insley's luncheon. Of interest, too, was the Scottish Rite dancing party. Very few things are promised for the coming week, and the affairs social will no doubt be confined to home entertainments and family parties, with few, if any, large events.

The Assembly Ball given on Tuesday evening at the Hotel Portland was quite the largest event of the season of a semi-public nature. The attendance was representative and in every way the affair was a triumph to the committee in charge, which is composed of Roderick Macleay, Henry Ladd Corbett and Tom Robertson. The salons of the Hotel Portland were beautifully decorated, and a number of artistic bowers and retreats added to the hospitable atmosphere. The large grillroom was given over to the dancers. In the conservatory masses of chrysanthemums, poinsettias and anemones were used effectively, with a background of palms and large potted plants.

In the dining-room, where supper was served, the tables were gay with cut flowers, and Waldemar Lind's orchestra gave selections here throughout the evening.

The breakfast-room was converted into a Japanese summer garden, with a tea-house and pagoda at one end of the room, from which punch was dispensed by two little almond-eyed women in native costume. Oriental rugs, Japanese screens, comfortable divans and chairs, together with a generous use of gay colored lanterns, made the scene a truly festive one, and one of the most beautiful dances ever given here. The patronesses were Mrs. J. C. Alnsworth, Mrs. W. C. Alvord, Mrs. W. H. Ayer, Mrs. C. F. Beebe, Mrs. Walter J. Burns, Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mrs. Thomas Kerr, Mrs. John K. Kollock, Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, Mrs. L. Allen Lewis, Mrs. K. A. Mackenzie, Mrs. William H. Warrens, Mrs. Theodore E. Wilcox, Mrs. Holt C. Wilson and Mrs. Gordon Vancouver.

An attractive note was lent by the number of bright-toned gowns worn, and even the older matrons took this occasion to appear in light colors.

Mrs. John Alnsworth wore a white robe of satin and lace, with cut steel passementerie. Mrs. W. C. Alvord was in blue satin. Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett's gown was of handsome white lace with touches of gold. Mrs. John K. Kollock wore an artistic creation of white and gold brocade. Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd's gown was of white and gold, with a large brocade. Mrs. William H. Warrens wore a black spangled net over satin. Mrs. Theodore E. Wilcox's pale blue messaline gown was especially handsome with imported pieces of Oriental insert. Mrs. N. E. Ayer was gowned in black satin with cut jet. Mrs. H. W. Corbett was in amethyst velvet with handsome lace. Mrs. Edward Shelby was gowned in blue with touches of silver. Mrs. E. C. Means' gown, of brown and gold, was striking, and also Miss Edith Sawyer's imported cloth gown of apricot hue with rich embroideries. Mrs. Samuel C. Kerr was in warm-colored silk. Miss Nan Robertson wore a white lace gown. Miss Lullie Hall was in an Empire gown of yellow satin messaline. Miss Josephine Smith's gown was of apricot satin. Mrs. Guy W. Talbot was robed in lavender satin and her guest, Miss Edith Elmore, looked charming in a pale green directoire gown, with touches of cream lace and a cut-stone ornament in her coiffure. Miss Leslie Knapp wore an empire gown of messaline. Miss Frances Wilson made an especially charming picture in a yellow satin empire gown, with which she carried red roses. Mrs. David Lewis wore pale pink. Miss Dorothy Morrison's gown was of pink chiffon with satin bands. Miss Bertha Houghton was in pink satin, and Miss Claire Houghton wore a handsome white satin directoire robe. Mrs.

David T. Honeyman was gowned in white with touches of black. Miss Genevieve Thompson wore a blue directoire satin gown with garnitures of silver. Miss Hazel Dolph wore white satin with touches of gold and Venetian point. Mrs. Clarence Sewell was charming in a turquoise blue robe. Miss Frances Lewis wore a white directoire satin gown. Miss Lisa Wood was in pale blue tulle, and carried Golden Gate roses. Mrs. C. F. Adams wore corn-color chiffon, with rich embroideries of gold, over pale yellow satin.

The list of the assembly includes: Mr. and Mrs. William McMaster, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Meares, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Muir, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mathewson, Dr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Nichols, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Nunn, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. O'Gorman, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Page, Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Pendleton, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Platt, Mr. and Mrs. P. H.
