

SOCIAL HAPPENINGS OF WEEK IN PORTLAND

SOCIETY PEOPLE CLAIMANTS TO VALUABLE MINE. (Continued From Page 1.)

Girls have been spending the Christmas vacation in Portland, and are planning a dance at the Portland Heights Club Saturday evening, January 2. It will have a pleasant social life, as they return to college the following Monday.

EVENTS OF WEEK.

The infant and junior classes of the Sunday school connected with Calvary Presbyterian Church, Eleventh and Clay streets, held their annual Christmas tree and entertainment at the church on Wednesday afternoon. Their respective teachers, Miss Catherine Burns and Miss Abbie Lamberson, were in command and successfully furnished the children through a succession of games which appeared to call for the greatest amount of rapid and continuous motion that the kind of man could devise. Around the room sat mothers and other feminine guardian angels, supplemented by one lone, brave man.

Miss Margaret Lamberson, organist of the church, presided at the piano, and sang several pieces suited to the caliber of her juvenile audience. Refreshments were served, the tree equally despoiled of its fruit and another pleasant milestone in the lives of all had been passed.

The Sunday school entertainment of Piedmont Presbyterian Church was held in the church on Wednesday evening. An unusually ambitious programme had been arranged, including Santa Claus in person; Mrs. Santa Claus (whom the male was Mary Christmas), the Wandering Jew, Jack Frost, a ghost dance, deftly enhanced by subdued light; fairies of the woods and fables of the starling girls and piece-speaking boys. Both the preparation and carrying out of the medley reflected great credit on the committee, who had expended time and money on its production, and standing room was difficult to obtain. A Christmas tree, which bore a large proportion of "original packages" fruit than ornamental decoration, was presided over by Santa Claus, ably seconded by the Wandering Jew, and every child, and many of the grown-up contingent, had cause to joyfully remember the occasion.

The members of the kindergarten conducted by Miss Maria Clausen, at 331 Thirteenth street, entertained their respective mothers at a Christmas tree on Thursday forenoon. The tree was decorated entirely with articles made by the children themselves—clever little productions which grown-up people have neither time nor talent to imitate. The really artistic manner in which the children were swung from branch to branch and the little gifts attached to the tree to show to the best advantage, were extremely creditable to the children and the entire work had been done by themselves. A holiday was proclaimed till Monday, January 3.

A surprise party in form of a shower, was given to Miss Grace E. Campbell by Miss Angela McPherson, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McPherson, last Thursday evening. Miss Campbell was the recipient of a number of very beautiful presents. Those attending were: Misses Helen Dineen, Florence Hough, Lillian Harper, Ellen Stone, Katherine Dunbar, Crosby McPherson, Lina Sommers, Teney Cohen, Margaret McDougal, Mrs. Charles Peterson and Mrs. W. J. Campbell.

A number of members of the football team of Stanford University of California attended a box party at the Oregonian Theater, on Tuesday evening. Those present were: J. Stuart, manager; D. P. Crawford, captain; J. G. Presley, coach; G. McGregor, E. A. Roth, J. W. G. Hickey, E. T. Kinnard, M. N. Mitchell, Elliott Holcomb, R. Erb, D. Young, D. G. Healy, C. B. Evans, A. H. Drew, P. C. Giesy, E. P. Stott, P. R. Johnson and H. E. Reed.

The regular meeting of the Billiken 500 Club was held at the home of Mr. Prines, on Thursday evening, December 18, and Dr. R. B. Northrup. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Camp, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Ciesin, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Du Puy, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Kincaid, Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Northrup, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Huriburt and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Trent.

The Hawthorne "500" Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Millie Terry, 453 East Market street, on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Terry was the recipient of a handsome cut glass bowl in honor of her birthday. Prize-winners of the afternoon were: Mrs. Jessie E. Vose and Mrs. Harry Pfaff. The club will meet next, January 6, with Mrs. Peter Borgan, 1014 Hawthorne avenue.

Winslow Meade Circle, No. 7, Ladies of the G. A. R., held a Christmas party consisting of music and recitations. A large Christmas tree, beautifully decorated, won the admiration of all Oregon grape, Christmas bells and the National colors. In January the officers-elect will be installed.

One of the events of the coming week that is being looked forward to with a great deal of interest is the New Year party of the Alumni Association of the Christian Brothers College. This is the third of the series of parties that have been given this winter. This will be held in the alumni hall, Chickamauk and Grand avenue, on Thursday evening, December 31.

The members of the infant class of the First Presbyterian Church were entertained at the church on Wednesday with a Christmas tree and a programme which consisted of songs, recitations and illustrated Biblical stories. Mrs. Barta, who stood in a miniature house, distributed boxes of candy to the children.
