

MISS DOROTHY MORRISON

MISS DOROTHY MORRISON

MUSIC has reigned supreme the past week, the Grand Opera usurping the time and therefore little else was attempted.

Owing to the demoralization of passenger traffic, E. H. Sothorn arrived on Saturday instead of Thursday, as previously scheduled, therefore the tea planned by Mrs. Richard Nunn on Friday in honor of the distinguished actor was of necessity cancelled. Since Mr. Sothorn has planned to remain over, Mrs. Nunn has released her invitations for 4:30 P. M. on Tuesday.

The County Fair for the benefit of the People's Institute Club promises to be the most elaborate and spectacular entertainment since the Klumms some years ago. Plans for the coming fair are on such a stupendous scale that the enormous area of the Armory was alone considered adequate to the demands. This vast space will be devoted entirely to features usually attendant upon rural gatherings. Baffle costumes will be in much evidence, and it is expected that the public in general will find the picturesque rural garb a merry-go-round in continuous operation is to be one feature; see-saws, a German garden, a chariot race, a crazy house, fortune-telling booths, burly-guards, fakery, a baby show, illusions, Scotch booth and numerous side-shows.

A note of distinction will be the tableaux vivants, in which conspicuous matrons and girls will represent the paintings of famous masters. Another unique note will be a model dairy farm, where a chorus of splendid voices will preside over the churns and give dairymaid chorus, probably that from "Robin Hood." A sideshow where "The Most Beautiful Woman" in Portland is on exhibition cannot fail to prove alluring. Exquisite maids, matrons and bachelors are to appear in the baby show. This feature alone would be interesting as several of the men in infantile garb will be wheeled about in perambulators.

The country store is to be presided over by girls in gingham frocks and sunbonnets and men in jeans. Cider, doughnuts, popcorn, taffy on the stick, and red lemonade will necessarily be dispensed. Spellers will announce the large assortment of continuous performances.

Miss May Felling, Mrs. Warren E. Thomas, Mrs. John K. Kollock, Mrs. A. G. Barker and Mrs. Holt C. Wilson.

Another popular matron to join the Portland colony abroad is Mrs. N. E. Ayer, who will soon leave for Europe with her daughter, Margaret, and her sister, Miss Laura Smith. They will remain away a year, spending the month of May in London and then traveling on the Continent. The greater portion of the summer they will spend in Switzerland. Margaret Ayer while abroad will probably attend a French school.

The news of the engagement of Miss Judith Minor, of Seattle, to Mr. Lynn Colt, of that city, has occasioned many telegrams of congratulation. Miss Minor is a great favorite in Portland and has visited here a number of times. Her last visit was during the Fall months as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kerr. Miss Minor is a girl of charming poise, with exceptional musical attainments. Much of her life has been spent abroad in travel and study.

A decided acquisition to Portland society is Miss Clarke, the president of the Spokane, Portland & Seattle Railway, who with her father is at the Hotel Norton. Miss Clarke has traveled in various parts of the world, and is decidedly intellectual. Since the age of 18 she lived a great deal in Italy and speaks with an Italian accent. Mr. Clarke and his daughter recently visited in St. Paul as guests of Mr. Louis Hill, the president of the Northern Pacific.

Congratulatory telegrams have been sent to Captain and Mrs. Willis Helms, at Jefferson Barracks, Missouri, over the birth of a son. Prior to her marriage Mrs. Helms was Miss Rachael Amy Helms, a particular friend of Miss Amy Helms, Miss Inez Barrett and Misses Gladys and Hazel Wedder. Coincidentally the small son was born on the first anniversary of Captain and Mrs. Helms' wedding.

with musical and literary work; Miss Leonora Fisher, at present the organist of a large Brooklyn church; Mrs. J. Thayer Evans, who is studying music; Mrs. Lulu Dahl Miller, who was with Fritz Scheff's company; Mrs. Mary Morse and Miss Frances Jones, both of whom are teaching; Harold Milligan, the organist of Rutgers Presbyterian Church; Nicholas Zan, Mrs. John Proctor, who will be remembered as Marion Stackpole; Mrs. J. H. McClement, who was formerly Miss Lena Morgan; Miss Stackpole and Mrs. H. M. Smith, who is the soprano of the Washington Heights Presbyterian Church.

As a complete surprise will come the news that the attractive Miss Leslie Knapp will become Mrs. Carroll Hurlbut this evening. The decision was made yesterday morning when Mr. Hurlbut was called to Alaska by telegram on business. Owing to the suddenness with which the arrangements were made, the relatives and a few of Miss Knapp's closest friends present. Mr. and Mrs. Hurlbut will sail for Juneau from Vancouver, B. C., and will be gone in all a month. Miss Knapp is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Knapp, a sister of Mrs. Morton Insley and Mrs. Patterson Effinger, and since her debut two years ago has been a great favorite. She is a piquant brunette type of beauty and has a very gracious manner. Mr. Hurlbut is the son of W. H. Hurlbut, a nephew of the distinguished Madame S. A. Barker. Mr. Hurlbut is a University of California man, and also attended the Colorado School of Mines, at Golden, Colo. He is a member of the Chi Psi fraternity.

En route to California Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Johnson are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Malcolm, of Mount Tabor. Mrs. Johnson will be remembered as Miss Helen Tuttle, a daughter of the late David Tuttle, who as a girl was a great belle here. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson since their wedding some years ago have lived in Vancouver and have also traveled abroad, visiting at one time the Fiji Islands.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Leadbetter will leave soon for a visit in New Orleans.

Through an error the date for the next Assembly was erroneously given. Instead of February 19 as previously stated it is to be held this coming Thursday at the new Masonic Temple. An innovation will be the fact of having no programmes and an alternate playing of both band and orchestral music. The patronesses will be Mrs. J. C. Alsworth, Mrs. W. C. Alvord, Mrs. W. R. Ayer, Mrs. C. F. Beebe, Mrs. W. J. Burns, Mrs. Helen I. Corbett, Mrs. Thomas Kerr, Mrs. J. K.

Kollock, Mrs. J. W. Ladd, Mrs. L. A. Lewis, Mrs. K. A. J. Mackenzie, Mrs. W. H. Warren, Mrs. T. B. Wilcox, Mrs. H. C. Wilson, Mrs. Gordon Voorhies.

Miss Isabella Gauld, with Mrs. Mead and Miss Stella Mead, of New London, Conn., were in New York last week attending the opera. Miss Gauld has since returned to Smith College.

On Friday at Washington, D. C., the marriage was solemnized of Miss Faith Constance Woodward to Dr. John Raymond Barber of the Medical Corps of the United States Army. Dr. Barber is the eldest son of Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Barber, of this city, and formerly practiced medicine here.

Appropos of the recent grand opera season is the interesting fact that several of the singers were associated with Miss Elizabeth Harwas in her operatic work in Italy. Miss Harwas made her debut in Torino three months after her arrival in Italy, and in the company was Signor Eugenio Battani, who scored a triumph on Monday night as Edgardo in "Lucia." Signorina Ferrabini had been singing in the opera of "Sarrano" with the same company, but left it just before Miss Harwas joined, and one of the greatest successes was made at Troiste in the part which Miss Ferrabini had been singing. On Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Beals were dinner hosts for Signor and Signora Battani.

Thomas Scott Brooks has been the host at a number of affairs this past week, entertaining each night at the opera with a theater party, followed by suppers at the Portland Hotel. Much of his entertaining has centered around Mr. and Mrs. Lily, of San Francisco, who have been his guests at dinner, the opera and for tea at the Golf Club. At "Lucia" Mr. Brooks's guests occupied two boxes, in which were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ladd Corbett, Mr. and Mrs. Lily, Miss Lisa Wood, Miss Frances Wilson, Miss Margaret Walter, Andrew Kerr and Roderick Macleay. At "La Boheme" Mr. Brooks's party included Miss May Felling, Miss Frances Lewis, Miss Josephine Smith, Miss Caroline Burns, Miss McGunagle, of Vancouver Barracks; Max Wood, Mr. Fairbanks, of New York; Hawley Hoffman and Captain Lansing, U. S. A.

Fred Morey has returned from the East after a couple of months spent with his sister, Mrs. J. P. Allen, who is now Mrs. Axel Ekstrom, of Albany, N. Y.

Among a few of the Portlanders whose premeditated visits to California were frustrated by the crippled railway conditions were Mr. and Mrs. David C. Lewis, Mrs. Allen Lewis, Mrs. M. Y. Shelby, Miss Adams, Miss M. Y. Shelby, Miss Annie Blanche Shelby and Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Simon.

Mr. and Mrs. Gay Lombard have left for a three weeks' visit in California.

Cards have been received announcing the marriage on February 1 of Miss Beezie Taylor, of Tacoma, and William Murray Morrow, formerly of Portland. Mrs. Morrow is a daughter of Thomas H. Taylor, of Tacoma. Mr. Morrow has many friends here, having graduated from the Portland High School. He is also a Stanford man and later attended law school at Columbia University. He is now a member of the firm of Groscup & Morrow, of Tacoma.

Another pretty luncheon was given Friday by Miss Ella Morris at her Kings Heights residence, to which she asked Mrs. L. Allen Lewis, Mrs. A. A. Morrison, Mrs. H. D. Green, Mrs. H. C. Workman, Mrs. Ralph Hoyt, Mrs. C. J. Reed, Mrs. C. E. Curry, Mrs. R. R. Rogers, Mrs. William Honeyman, Mrs. C. S. Jackson and Miss Preston, of Canada, who is a cousin of Miss Morris.

In the Photo Era for February is a reproduction of a photograph by George F. Holman entitled "A Foggy Evening," now being exhibited in the Fifth American Photographic Salon, which is making a tour of the larger Eastern cities.

Ernest Webb returned on Wednesday to Medford, where he is for the time being making his residence. During his extended visit here Mr. Webb has been a guest of four bachelors—Howard Holland, June Avery, Jr., Mr. de Schweinitz and Arnold Rothwell—who are occupying the home of Mr. George Russell's home during their absence in Europe.

Miss Celeste Moore will present Miss Constance Piper, the talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar B. Piper, in a recital on Wednesday evening at Ellers Hall. The young pianist who is but 14 years of age, attained remarkable results in a year and a half's study. Her technique is splendid and her playing shows strength and temperament. Miss Piper at her coming recital will give some well chosen numbers by Bach, Grieg, Rubenstein, Stinling, Paderewski and Chopin.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Wilbur are spending the month of February in California.

Judge and Mrs. Harry Hogue have returned from their wedding trip in California.

From all indications auction bridge will eventually attain an even greater popularity than bridge proper. This correlation of the past and present, combining as it does the always interesting element of bidding with the inherent principles of the game, is said to constitute one of the most fascinating as well as scientific games of cards known to the card-loving public. In London and the East, it is fast superseding bridge altogether, and from the numbers who have fallen under its spell, there can be but little doubt that a like condition will shortly be in effect here.

The first of a series of bridge parties with Mrs. W. W. Cotton as hostess will be given on Tuesday afternoon.

On Thursday a bridge party was given by Mrs. Byron E. Nicholas, formerly Miss Voorhies, of Kentucky, who is a sister of Gordon Voorhies. The affair was in honor of Miss Winifred Rankin, a bride-elect. During the afternoon Mrs. H. B. Nicholas announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Beulah Nicholas, to Horace P. Hallinan. The wedding will take place this summer. Miss Nicholas was a former student of Portland Academy and also attended St. Helen's Hall.

Mrs. L. Allen Lewis, with her daughter Clementine, had planned to leave last week for several weeks' visit with Mrs. Lewis' mother, Mrs. Kittle, of San Francisco. Owing to the congested condition of the Southern Pacific the trip was necessarily postponed until a later date.

Miss Josephine Yates, of Spokane, the house guest of Judge and Mrs. Thomas O'Day, was the motif for a bridge party on Friday.

Mrs. Walter F. Burrell left on Friday evening for a week's visit in Seattle.

Miss Grace Wentworth, of Chicago, last sister of George K. Wentworth, has arrived for a visit. On Monday Mrs. Walter Goss, asked in a few to meet Miss Wentworth and play bridge among them being Miss Hazel Croker, Mrs. George Wentworth, Miss Barbara Croker, Miss Ethel Wentworth and Miss Margaret Catlin.
