W. M'MILLAN RETIRES

Declines to Serve Farther and Sucsessor Probably Will Be George W. Simons or Frank E. Watkins-E. Frank Considered.

BY W. J. PETRAIN The annual election of the Multno-mah Amateur Athletic Club was held last Tuesday night and Edgar E. Frank. Frank E. Watkins, Charles E. McDonell. Martin T. Pratt and A. H. Aller were chosen members of the board to ucceed Edgar E. Frank, George W. McMiRan, J. R. Rogers, E. E. Morgan and H. C. Campbell, Frank being the only member of the retiring board to stand for re-election. The new directors, together with the six holdover members of the board, will meet next Tuesday night and elect the president, vice-president, secretary and treasures of the club. Treasurer Hal Rasch and Secretary Irving Rohr will undoubtedly be re-elected, but the offices of pres

ly be re-elected, but the offices of president and, vice-president will be filled by hew men, for President George W. McMillan, who has occupied that position so ably during the past two years, retires from the board, as does Vice-President H. C. Campbell.

Mention of the retirement of Mr. McMillan recalls the great work that has been accomplished by this highly capable official during his two years' term as president of the club. It can be safely stated that no other president of the club has enjoyed such enthusiastic support and complete confidence of the members as has he. The whole-souled and energetic manner in whole-souled and energetic manner in which he took up the battles of the club has earned him the confidence and respect of not only the members of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club, but of all Portland and Oregon besides, for as president of the splendid club Mc-Millan worked on the principle that whatever accribed to the success of the institution also benefitted the city and state as well.

McMillan's Work for Club.

The Multnomah Club is now one of recognised institutions of Oregon, Since his incumbency George McMillan has had his incumbency George McMillan has had in view the purchase of the additional property to add to the conveniences and grandeus of the stagium of the Multnoman Club, and on his last night as presiding officer of the club, had the satisfaction of hearing the gathering of club members unanimously indorse his proposition. President McMillan has served the Multnoman Club ably and the club owes him a lasting debt of grattitude for the splendid battle he waged, for the most part, single handed, in his effort to persuade the members that the additional persuade the members that the additional property was a much needed addition to the plant of the Multnomah Club. His services in an athletic line are too well known for repetition. His work as an executive will linger long in the memory of the club members, both young and old, for it stands for prosperity and progress, as well as for the future of the younger generation.

Mr. McMillan retires from active par-

Mr. McMillan retires from active participation in affairs of the club as far as an official capacity is concerned, but he will always be with the organization in spirit. His retirement is due to his business connections, for he has found that he is unable to spare the time required as a director of the club, and the club members agreed that his wishes in this matter should be respected.

Speculation is now rife as to whom the trustees, or directors, as the board is styled, will select to take the place vacated by Mr. McMillan Edgar, E Frank has deen prominently mentioned, but yesterday Mr. Frank issued the following statement: "I do not believe I am old enough to fill such a responsible position, and furthermore I shell decline am old enough to all such a responsible position, and furthermore I shall decline to be considered for the reason that I feel that the club has honored me much more than I deserve. The man for the presidency of this club should be an older presidency of this club should be an older head than I and I respectfully decline all such consideration at this time. Per-haps, in later years, should the club-members desire my services in this capacity I may consider it, but not now. I believe the presidency of the club would better be in the hands of George W. Simens or Frank E. Watkins, both of Simons or Watkins for President.

The mention of the names of these two men by Mr. Trank indicates that either of them is likely to head the club during the ensuing year. George W. Simons is eminently fitted for the place and was resulted interscholastic League is president of the club one term before. He already at work laying plans for the seahas slways been a most progressive mem-ber, and during his several terms as a memner of the Board of Trustees, has assisted ably in the upbuliding of the splen-did sibletic institution. Mr. Simons says that he has not considered the possibility believe the office should go to someone else, for this is an honor I have once held and I think it should be passed around when the occasion offers. However, whether elected or not, I shall work for the best interests of the clue of which I am proud to be a member."

Frank E. Watkins, who is also promimently mentioned as a possibility in the selection of a president next Tuesday night, seems to be second choice to Mr. Simous. In fact he himself states that Mr. Simous is his choice for the presidency, and unless it is declined by him, Mr. Watkins, will not be a candidate. Frank Watkins is probably better versed in athletic records than any other member of the club, and, as he is one of the most enthusiastic workers in the interest of organization, and as well possesses considerable executive ability, he will serve the club well as a trustee, whether honored with the presidency or not.

When the new officials are chosen and the new directors commence to work with the holdover board the Mulinomah Amateur Athletic Club will commence another record-breaking era in its history.

Athletes Begin Training for Outdoor Games.

GREAT INTEREST IN SPORT

Portland Schools Are Expected to Have Better Teams Than Ever Before-Season Will Open at Columbia Gym.

Within the next two or three weeks aseball players will not be the only athletes in training, for all the field and track exponents and ambitious cham pions at sprinting, hurdling, hammer throwing and similar sports will be lim bering up preparatory to the coming sea-son. More interest will be displayed in son. More interest will be displayed in field sports during the coming season than ever before in the history of ath-letics in America. Young athletes throughout the country will take up training with new enthusiasm becaus of the splendid showing of the All-Ameri don last July.

It is the spirit of determination that augurs well for the future of America's supremacy among the world's athletes although last year's victory also serves to stimulate the athletes of foreign countries into renewed endeavors.

This league promists to produce a number of crack athletes this season, for each institution possesses good material in the junior division and these lads are anxious to show what they can do.

The fact that a challenge has been re-ceived from the Lincoln High School, of Seattle, is an added incentive to the league, for each team is now anxious to get a crack at their rivals from the North. A meeting will undoutbedly be arranged for the early part of the sea-son, and Portland, under the circum-stances, can easily guarantee the Seattle school the expenses of the trip. Columbia University, which will also compete in the inter-meet when that is arranged, is now preparing for the big annual indoor field and track meet which will be held in Columbia's monster gymnasium about April I. The date of this/meet will be announced as soon as the University of Oregon and the Oregon Agricultural College can agree upon a day. As matters stand at present the Eugene team wants one week and the Corvallis Institution wants another, and Columbia is awaiting an agreeable reply to a compromise date suggested recently With all these field and track events in sight, it is plain that the young ath-letes of Fortland and vicinity are going to have plenty of opportunities for petition during the coming season.

MULTNOMAH VETERANS. MEET IN ANNUAL REUNION.

Well-Known Clubmen Speak on Wide Variety of Subjects at the Nineteenth Anniversary.

The ninth annual reunion and banquet of the veterans or "Old Guard," of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club, was held in the banquet hall of the Perkins Hotel last night, and the members present heartily enjoyed the feast and jollification. The committee, consisting of Dom J. Zan, T. H. f. Andrews and A. M. Ellsworth, had charge of the arrangements. The occasion was held in honor of the 19th anniversary of the organization of the Multnomah Club, and was the ninth annual celebration by the veterans.

R. L. Glisan acted as toastmaster and kept things moving at a lively rate. Aside from the regular menu, the guesta were treated to an "intellectual" feast, which kept them in excellent humor. The

REV. A.A. MORRISON

Signs for Four-Round Bout With "Boomer" Weeks.

YOUNG CORBETT REVIVIFIED

Touted to Fight Battling Nelson, but Story Savors of Overenthusiasm. Jeffries Still in Calcium Glow of Interest.

BY W. J. PETRAIN. Dr. Benjamin Franklin Roller, of Seaterstwhile heavyweight "champio wrestler, and now aspirant for similar honors in the prize ring, is reported to be matched for a four-round engagement with "Boomer" Weeks, a Spokane scrapper of more or less, principally less prominence. The "Boomer," a few years ago, was touted as the coming champion. but some one got to him in time and prevented him from becoming a chopping block for Jim Jeffries, and ever since that time he has contented himself with dealing in Spokane real estate, which, cidentally is much more profitable than the fighting game was at that time, or is at the present time, unless the scrap-per possesses the "get-the-money" propensity of a Tommy Burns.

According to reports emanating from Spokane, this scrap is a sure-thing go. Weeks has annexed his signature to the contract, and Roller has followed suit, and the promoters actually have the nerve to announce that the bout may take place in the tabernacie recently vacated by Rev. Billy Sunday and his flock of evangelists.

 Several Eastern scribes, evidently over-enthusiastic at the prospect of the boxing game's gradual revivilication, are picking up all of the ancient champions and restoring them upon the pedestals they once occupied. The latest and probably most impossible of the restorations at the hands of the scribes is that of Young Corbett, who is slated for the champion ship now held by Battling Nelson. All this halo casting and laudation has been brought about because the "Broadway bum" has licked a couple of alleged live ones somewhere down New Orleans way.

In New York last Summer Billy Rothwell, or Young Corbett, as he was known in the ring, was a perpetual nulsance to every one who halled from the Pacific every one who halled from the Pacific Coast. Unless the unwary was wise enough to dodge the issue, or better still, dodge Billy, a "touch" was in order, for the Denver lad was always in need of a feed and at times the plea was that his room rent was over-due, and of course he had to sleep, although no one would believe it who was cognizant of the hours he kept. For Young Corbett, be it known graced the "great white way" as long as there was a light burning or an individual in eight. As far as entering the ring in his old-time form is concerned he is "deader" than Terry McGovern or

James J. Jeffries is still in the lime light. As the prospective candidate to meet Jack Johnson he cannot escape the calcium for a moment. The rank and file of the fight fans seem desirous of forcing the issue with the big fellow, and that issue means the abolishment of the color line, and all because an insignificant color line, and all because an insignificant little braggart, who laid claim to some-thing that did not belong to him, allowed the burly black to annex a claim to pre-mier honors to which neither is entitled in the least. In the least.

John'son is reported to have started for erat cities.

Cheap lunch-counters for school children, right in the building, are proposed in several cities.
