WEDDING QUIET AFFAIR

Mrs. Emery Wanted to Go to British Columbia, but Bride Firmly Refused-Ceremony in Scattle Church.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 27.—(Special.)
—After a long family consultation, Miss Gladys Helen Emery was married today to Gunjiro Aoki, her Japanese lover, in Trinity Parish Church, the Rev. H. H. Gowan performing the ceremony. Immediately after the marriage Mrs. Aoki and her Japanese husband left on a private launch for the fruit ranch of an old family friend at the upper end of Hood's Canal, where the couple will spend their honeymoon. The ranch has been offered them on a commission basis, and Aoki has not yet decided whether he will accept this offer, or purchase a ranch of his own in Idaho. He has a distinct partiality to owning his own ranch, and believes that the Idaho proposition would be the better one.

Family Heeds Daughter's Wish.

Family Heeds Daughter's Wish.

The culmination of the romance in a marriage came today after Miss Emery's family agreed to give in to the wishes of the daughter. Original plans were to have the ceremony solemnized in Victoria, but Miss Emery was much opposed to going to British Columbia. The girl-remembered distinctly the unpleasant episodes connected with the Japanese riots in Vancouver the Winter before last, and feared that racial feeling might still interefere with the peaceful marriage of herself to Aoki. That this matter-was a source of worry to the young California girl was rande manifest on her trip to Scattle from Portland, when she repeatedly asked The Orsgonian reporter who accompanied the party whether the rare feeling in the Canadian city had entirely disappeared. On being assured that no outbreaks had occurred there recently, she was but half convinced and said she would never. If she could help it, be married in British Columbia.

Mother's Desire Thwarted.

Early this morning Mrs. Emery told her daughter of the plans for the marriage in Victoria, or on board the steamer going north, and for the first time in the long history of this stormy remance the bride-to-be raised her voice against that of her mother. She told of her fear of unpleasantness in the Canadian city and pleaded with her mother to se change plans that nothing might mar the final culmination of her happiness. Her father, Archdeacon Emery, who it has been generally understood has opposed the wedding from the start, joined with his daughter in the protest, and after considerable argument, which an exposition of the laws of Washington played an important part, and in which the willingness of the Scattle police to protect the party from impleasantness was brought out, Mrs. Emery finally said that she had no objection to having the ceremony performed in Seattle.

Groom, Arrives on Time.

Groom Arrives on Time.

Word was at once telephoned to Aoki, who was staying at the Great Northern Holel, run by J. Sunada, a fellow-Japanese, and the groom started for the large granite church where the marriage was to be performed. The Emery family left the Savoy Hotel, where they had spent the night, in a carriage and drove to the church at Eighth and James streets, and there found the Rev. H. H. Gowan waiting in readiness. Aoki and Sunada arrived at almost the same time, and without other witnesses the words were said at almost the same time, and without other witnesses the words were said that made the couple one.

Before the marriage Mr. Emery had notified police headquarters of his intention, and during the ceremony two plain-clothes men paroled the sidewalk outside the church. As nobody was aware of the marriage plans and as the press was not notined until after the plain-clothes men had returned to headquafters, this precaution proved unnecessary. After the ceremony the entire party returned to the Savoy, where another brief family council was held. There the offer of the Hood's Canal rauch was made to the newly married pair, and both were overloyed at the prospect of finding a retreat far from the prying eyes and insistent questions of newspaper men and others, to which they have both been subjected for so long. Somether this couple of the subjected for so they has both been subjected for so long. Soon after this the Japanese and his bride took a carriage for the harbor freet, and there embarked on the commoditous launch that was to convey them to their ranch.

Emery Issues Statement.

lumediately after this, Mr. Emery said that he would see representatives of the press, and issued the following statement through the Associated

Mr. and Mrs. Aokl will spend their honeymeon on a ranch in the Hood's canal country. It is owned by a bustness man of San Francisco, a friend of mine, whose name I will not divulge. He has offered them a lease of the place on a percentage of the crop from the fruit trees.

"The wedded pair will either make that place their home or they will purchase a fruit ranch in some other part of this state—I cannot now say where. This proposition is under advisement. I am pledged not to divulge any of their plans, and as a matter of fact their future has not been settled on. My wife will remain here for a time and I shall go back to San Francisco. I shall not be at my work there for some time, as I have other engagements, which will take some days."

After the newspaper men had departed, Mr. Emery and his wife left the hotel, saying that they were going to return to California, and that they would spend some time en route. Before leaving; he thanked the members of the press for the considerate treatment he had received from them in the Oregon and Washington country. The wedded pair will either make

Emery and Wife Reconciled.

Emery and Wife Reconciled.

This brings to an end the public interest in the case of Aoki and Miss Emery. It is said that before the family party was broken up all differences between Mr. Emery and his wife had been adjusted an that the recent coolness between them was at a close. It is known that Mrs. Emery was the one who practically forced the marriage against the opposition of not only her husband, but that of friends as well, who, walls they had no abjection to Aoki personally, nevertheless felt that Miss Ghadys should not be sacrificed by a marriage to a man of a foreign race and color. Mrs. Emery was the first lectures and demonstration train will be formed at Colfax, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings the first lectures and demonstrations will be given under arc lights at the world for insisting on the marriage, and that as she believed right

Before her marriage Miss Emery told the representative of The Oregonian that she would be glad when the knot was finally tied.

finally tied.

"I am tired of this fleeing from place to place and this everlasting dodging of people and denying of my identity," she said. "I have done nothing to deserve it, and because I love Mr. Aaki and am willing to marry him, is no reason why I should be hunted by everybody. I know we will get along well after our marriage and I am looking forward to a happy future. Mr. Aoki is a perfect gentleman, kind and considerate, and I am as proud as he is of the fact that he is a Japanese with the traditions of a family of noble fighting men behind him, men who have never done anything to smirch their name and men who can look the whole world in the eye and not flinch."

Aoki Has War Pin.

Acki were at the wedding a pin which has aroused considerable interest in all those who saw it. It bears the representation of the rising sun, the national emblem of Japan, behind two crossed swords, while on its face are several Japanese characters. Acki refused to tell the significance of the pin, but other Japanese who have been asked about it say that it is a tribute to his daring during the Russian war and is a sign that the blood of the Samurai, or fighting nobles of Japan, runs in his veins. In connection with this, it may be mentioned that while Acki was waiting in Tacoma for the advent of the Emery party he was the guest of one Sukiro, a leading member of the Japanese colony and was regarded as an honored visitor by the little yellow men. Aoki wore at the wedding a pin which Robert E. Johnson, of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, who has been holding evangelistic meetings with remarkable success in the Middle West, will come here to conduct the meetings and will bring a corps of helpers. The services will begin on Friday, May 7, and will continue at least five weeks, and possibly longer.

This meeting, which will be an unprecedented one in the history of Albany, has been planned solely by the laymen of the different churches of the city. A petition asking Evangelist Johnson to come here has been signed by 115 of the leading business and professional men of the city.

Monday, April 5, was designated as "Tabernacle Day" at the meeting last evening, and on that date funds will be raised to build a big tabernacle. As the building will be only a temporary structure, it is estimated that it can be constructed for $1000, and it is planned to divide this expense among 1000 people. The city will be districted and a committee will canvass it systematically for this purpose on "Tabernacle Day". nacle Day.

This, in brief, is the story of an Irrigation project that promises to reclaim from 30,000 to 50,000 acros of land in the Lower Powder River Valley in Baker County. The above telegram was sent to the Washington office by Mr. Hopson.

Whether the land will be reclaimed by private capital, operating under the Carey act, or by the United States Reclamation Service, will be up for consideration before the board on April 1. The matter was thoroughly considered by the board at its meeting March 2, and immediate withdrawal of these lands was considered necessary, as about 50 per onsidered necessary, as about 50 per ent of the area without water is still in ablic ownership.

As withdrawal under time Carey act is As withdrawal under tine Carey act is not possible without much delay, E. G. Hopson, of the keclamation Service, offered to secure immediate withdrawal under the reclamation act. He explained to the board that it was the policy of the service to aid in the reclamation of arid land wherever possible, and not to compete with private enterprise. Therefore, if any person or corporation should express a willingness to enter into a reasonable contract with the state and furnish satisfactory evidence of their ability to complete the project, he would recommend the restoration of such lands for segregation under the Carey act.

W. A. Thacher and R. S. Cookingham represented one of the interests seeking the reclamation of this tract under the Carey act. Messrs. J. A. Almirall and A. B. Jacobs, of the Eagle Valley Railway Company, were also present. The construction of this project was of much linterest to them, because of their present plans to construct a railroad through the valley.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges sweetens the breath by removing the cause—a disordered condition of the stomach, and by this means imparts to the breath the natural, healthful odor, void of all unnatural or suggestive condition. Charcoal fills a four-fold mission. First, it purifies the breath by restoring to it the natural odor nature intended it to have. Second, charcoal is an absorbent, absorbing 100 per cent per volume of gas, by this means relleving flatulence and gases of the stomach and bowels. Third, charcoal aids digestion and by this means regulates the action of the bowels, relieving flux, diarrhoes, piles, constipation, etc. Fourth, charcoal oxidizes the blood, thus preventing pimples and other eruptions that arise from indigestion and impurities of the blood. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are a household necessity and should be in every home, containing only young willow wood charcoal and honey. They are perfectly harmless and any quantity may be taken without ill effects. Old and young alike can take Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges with the same beneficial results.
