FIRST RACE ON TODAY

OREGON YACHT CLUB WILL HOLD REGATTA.

At 2:30 This Afternoon Boats Will Sail Over Course From Clubhouse
to Madison-Street Bridge.

Sailors will be out this afternoon for the opening of the yachting season and a regatta will be held on the river. At 2:30 o'clock the yachts will start from the clubhouse at The Oaks for the first race of the season. The course will extend to the Madison-street bridge and return. Instead of holding the races according to length and classes, a handicap race will be held. This is because lack of time in which to rig the yachts has precluded a large list of entries. New sails have not yet arrived. However, a number of the boats have been given a fresh coat of paint so as to make as good an appearance as possible.

The following boats have been entered: Comet, owned by Lee Wells; Pore-naft, owned by H. E. Todd; Dancin' Gal, owned by Francis D'Arcy; Fubinite, Charles Clansy, whose skipper will be Connie Balsam; Jewell, owned by Max Meyers, and probably the Terrier, owned by J. E. Stackenstone. The Mischief, owned by Commodore Foster, will not be entered as intended on account of an illness in the family. Extensive preparations are being made for the season by the new officers of the club and later, when fair weather sets in, there will be more interest taken in the sport.

None but local teams were scheduled for tonight's events, the big events, consisting of several entries from Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco and Portland being scheduled for later in the tournament.

SHATTUCK FIRST IN SCHOOL MEET

Wins Grammar League Field
Day With 31 Points on Multnomah Grounds.

MONTAVILLA RUNS SECOND

Has 25 Points, While Stephens Takes Third Place With 19—Hummel, of Shattuck, Is Notable Point-Winner.

Shattuck Grammar School, with a score of 31 points, came out victor yesterday afternoon in the annual grammar school field day, held under the direction of the Grammar School League, of which Professor Robert Krohn is president, on Multnomah Field. Montavilla was a close second with 25 points and Stephens came third with 19, while Holladay ran up 13 points. North Central and Kerns each secured six points and Portsmouth and Irvington each scored three points. Hawthorne, Ladd, Arista, Highland and Couch each won a third place, counting one point each, while South Mount Tabor, Woodlawn, Sunnyside and Vernon were not fortunate enough to secure a point.

Youngsters of all sizes and ages took part in the meet, but most of the points were naturally won by the larger pupils. Some promising material for future athletes was in evidence. Although young in years, a number of the boys were large for their age and good records were made. Hummel, of the Shattuck school, who won the victory for his school as well as winning the individual gold medal offered for the student making the most points, did noticeable work. He took three firsts and one second and one third for his school, making 19 points in all. Hummel is 16 years old.

Hot Pace in Half-Mile.

Another strong point-winner was Elliott for Stephens, who won two firsts and a second, scoring 13 points. He won the half-mile race, which was perhaps the most exciting race of the afternoon. This was entered by 13 contestants, the faster of whom started out at a terrific pace for boys of their age. In the latter part of the second lap the runners were strung out. Gross, for Kerns, in the lead. As they neared the goal Elliott crawled up on Gross, who was putting forth every effort, and passed him by an inch or two as the tape was crossed.

The relay race was also an interesting feature. Seventeen schools were entered in this event, four laps being run. Two heats were run owing to the number entered and the three winners of the first heat entered the second. This was done to eliminate the delay necessary in running out three heats. In the first heat Stephens, Hawthorne and North Central won first, second and third respectively. In the second heat the winners of the first heat were given the inside of the track as a handicap, but Montavilla, Irvington and Shattuck took first, second and third respectively received a handsome cup for winning this prize.

Stephens started strong and was well in the lead until the last 100 yards of the race, when it is said on turning the corner an Irvington runner either tripped or spiked one of the Stephens men, causing him to fall and lose the advantage gained. The judges, however, did not see the accident and after discussion the result was allowed to stand as made.

A large crowd of eager boys and girls of every age swarmed in the grandstand, together with their teachers and fund parents, to see the meet, and the winners were heartily cheered. It was interesting to watch the little fellows putting forth their small efforts in an attempt to make scores for their schools. They were handicapped of course by the larger boys, but they had spirit and grit and did not give up. This is the very thing that Professor Krohn, who has the interests of the young people at heart, desires. An interest that can be stirred up like this so as to give the pupils something to think about is in his opinion the means to make the youngsters enjoy going to school.

The last event on the programme was a consolation handicap race for 100 yards for all contestants who had not won a prize. The prize for this was 10 boxes of candy, donated by Hermann Wittenberg, president of the School Board. Dozens of small boys took part in this race and there was a mad scramble for the candy.

JUVENILE RIDERS WILL BE IN LINE

Section of Festival Parade
June 10, Will Be Reserved for Young Horsemen.

RIVAL CITIES TAKE PART

Many Outside Towns Enter Floats in Big Pageant—Portland Hunt
Club's Entries to Be Feature of Parade.

A brilliant feature of the horse and carriage parade of the Rose Festival, on Thursday afternoon, June 10, will be one whole section devoted to children—little boys and girls of Portland who own their own ponies, carts and other toy equipment. For such occasions, Chairman Davis, of the parade committee, has been working for several days on details of this portion of the cavalcade, and has a sufficient number of entries listed now to guarantee from one to two whole blocks for the youngsters, many of whom are junior members of the Hunt Club, under whose auspices the big parade is to be negotiated.

As absolute protection for the little folk, a special detail of police or squad from the grand marshal's staff will attend this section throughout the line of march, and, in addition to this, a special band will be provided to render music peculiarly suited to children. Much is to be made of the children's feature of the procession, largely in view of the fact that there is to be no separate children's parade on the West Side during the festival. There is assured enough of the sons and daughters of the elder members of the Hunt Club to make this one of the most attractive sections of the afternoon's event, and a conspicuous position is to be given to the juveniles in the line of march.

Push Clubs File Entries.

The push clubs of Portland and commercial organizations of a number of Oregon towns are filing entries in this parade, and they will occupy their own divisions in the line. Among the improvement clubs which have already started to arrange for their entries are Montavilla, Hillwood, Sunnyside, St. John and the Peninsula. Voting contests are being held in these communities, as is the case in Vancouver, Wash., which will have a strong representation. Medford, Hillsboro, Baker City, McMinnville, Roseburg and a number of other towns will have one or more entries in the line. The hottest contest in out-of-town entries for the honor of appearing in the parade is now being waged at Vancouver, where several of the prettiest young women in the town are entered as contestants to grace the vehicle or float that shall take part.

Many individual entries from out of town are coming in, any of the best so far received being that of Frank E. Alley, of Roseburg, who has listed his brake and four-in-hand to be driven by himself.

To date the number of entries in the various classes that are to compete for the 50 cups and trophies being up as representatives of the Hunt Club itself will exceed 150. The new English riding costumes which have been ordered in the East will arrive Tuesday or Wednesday of this week, and as soon as they are here the club members will engage in dress rehearsal out on the Country Club track several days in preparation not only for the parade, but for the big Spring matinee harness race meet to be held Saturday, June 12.
