

CONFLICT RAGES ON COTTON DUTY

Aldrich Is Object of Fierce Assault From Dolliver, but Has Votes.

WINS ON EVERY TEST MADE

Jowan Insists Autocrat Remain to Be Roasted and Says He Has Lost Confidence—Tillman Joins in Attack.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—After devoting the larger portion of the day to listening to a discussion of the cotton cloth schedule, the Senate entered upon a period of voting late in the afternoon and rapidly disposed of the entire subject of the tariff for the purpose of preventing undervaluation. On all votes taken the finance committee was sustained by a majority of 16 or 17. Three votes were necessary to accomplish the result and others would have been necessary but for Bacon, who, seeing the futility of opposing the committee, suggested the grouping of the votes after the first two ballots had been taken. This was unanimously agreed to, with the result that so much was accomplished that a night session was not held.

Dolliver Delivers Philippic.

Dolliver occupied much of the time of the session with a speech, in which he made caustic criticisms of the methods of the finance committee. He declared that Aldrich and Smoot, of that committee, were at variance in their estimates of the effect of the committee's action on the cotton schedule, the former contending that there had been a change of only 10 per cent, while Smoot had placed the change at 30 per cent. Aldrich was, however, prompt in his correction of this statement, asserting that his use of the 10 per cent estimate applied to cotton importations affected by the bill and not to changes in duties.

"Bold Band of Buccaneers."

The first vote of the day was on an amendment consolidating the paragraph relating to cheaper cloths, which was won by the usual majority, the vote standing 41 to 20. The amendment was announced as a lead Tillman took the characteristic appeal to permit the tariff bill to come to a vote, because, as he declared, there was no doubt as to what the final result would be. Tillman was, asserted that the members of the finance committee were the "boldest band of buccaners that ever got together."

Cummins Renews Attack.

The latter part of the day's session was devoted to a discussion of the committee's change of the cotton duty from 10 to 15 per cent. In this connection Cummins attacked the committee's change in the interest of higher duties, and when Aldrich explained that a small percentage of the importation was affected by the substitution of specie for ad valorem duties, the Iowa Senator responded that, however small the change, it should be made along the right lines. The vote on the change of system were then taken, after which the Senate adjourned until Monday.

BRITAIN IN FEAR?

Lord Rosebery Tells Press Navies Are Too Powerful.

REFORMER NEARLY WINS

D. C. GIBBONEY MISSES NOMINATION BY ONLY 5000.

Warm Fight in Philadelphia District Attorneyship Race, Lost Through Solidity of the Machine.

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—With the entire Republican organization against him, and throwing its strength in favor of renomination of the present incumbent of the 57 colonial delegates to the Imperial Press congress, which will open at the Foreign Office on Monday. Every section of the British Isles sent a delegate.

The colonial visitors will make a strong plea for the reduction of cable rates, and the laying of a government cable across the Atlantic, as suggested by Minister Lomieux, Postmaster-General of Canada; thus linking the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia and New Zealand by an "all-red line." A movement will be started for the establishment of an imperial press association, and the interchange of news between the colonies and England.

Lord Rosebery presided at tonight's banquet. Lord Rosebery delivered the speech of welcome. Referring to a forthcoming visit of the delegates to the fleet at Spithead, where a naval review will take place, he characterized the present situation in Europe as ominous.

There was an absence of questions which ordinarily might be expected to lead to war, he said, yet the threatening and overpowering preparations for war were unprecedented in history. He was confident of the power of England to meet any reasonable conjunction of powers, but when he saw this bursting out of navies he was uneasy about the outcome.

Lord Rosebery asked the outcome, carry the message that responsibility rested on every man in the Empire and to tell the colonists of the pressure on this little island.

of the office, D. Clarence Gibboney, reformer and leader in battles against that party, almost captured the Republican nomination for District Attorney in the primary today. Gibboney was defeated by about 5000 votes in a total vote of more than 100,000. Samuel P. Lotan was nominated.

Gibboney's fight was against the Republican organization, which was charged with refusing to use its power to prevent the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company from increasing streetcar fares. Gibboney carried the Democratic and William Penn party nominations, and received a majority of about 25,000 on all three tickets over Lotan on the one ticket. Gibboney belongs to the William Penn party.
