

MISS META
BUEHNER.
HOSTESS AT
TEA ON THURSDAY

STRICTLY informal has been the entertaining of the past week, vacation plans being all engrossing. Many tourists have passed through Portland, and a great number of people attended the Seattle Fair on Portland day. The presence of Eastern visitors is responsible for a smaller exodus than usually characterizes this season of the year.

Prominent Californians visiting at the Hotel Portland last few days were Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher S. Ryer, of San Francisco, and Miss Dorris Ryer. The Ryers, who have apartments at the Fairmount Hotel, are the owners of some valuable islands near Sacramento and are conspicuous socially in the Bay City and Burlingame. Much of their time in spent abroad, where Miss Dorris attended a Parisian school for some years, spending the summers at Del Monte, with her governess. Mrs. Ryer is a handsome and charming woman, who is invariably smartly gowned. The Ryers have just visited the Yellowstone and the Yosemite, and leave today for Seattle and Alaska. On Friday evening, Mr. Fred Greenwood, of San Francisco, entertained at dinner in their honor at the Golf Club taking his guests to and from his yacht.

At the recent Kirmess, in Seattle, the total receipts were $25,000, which is a few thousand dollars less than our successful event. Four thousand dollars was voted for the most popular dance the first night, the prize being won at the final performance by the footmen and maids.

A unique, stag birthday dinner was given on Tuesday evening by H. C. Bowers, in the restaurant of the Portland Hotel. Arriving in evening clothes the men were provided with linen dusters, "baggy" hats and "rube" whiskers. The decorations for the dining-room were most elaborate and unusual, carrying out the bacchic idea throughout. A lake in the pond filled with great stalks of hollyhocks, bachelor buttons and old-fashioned sunflowers carried out the floral decorations, which were interspersed with stalks of green corn, green yellow pumpkins and other evidences of farm life. Country fiddlers provided the music, and dinner was served by a buxom colored mammy in gala attire. Among the guests were: Allen A. Wright, N. E. Ayer, Fred Morris, F. S. Stanley (who represented Brigham Young), Oscar Huber, John Vogt, Dr. George F. Wilson, H. O. Stuckney, R. H. Pease, of San Francisco; A. D. Charlton, W. H. Hurlbut, John D. Wilcox, Robert Smith, Drake O'Reilly, John D. Bennett, John C. Lewis, August Berg and Marcus Mayer, of New York.

Mrs. W. M. Ridgway, a conspicuous social leader of Boise, Idaho, spent Monday and Tuesday in Portland on her way to Seattle, where she will spend the summer. Mrs. Ridgway is a striking and charming woman, whose daughter, Miss Florence, has visited here. Miss Ridgway, who was a classmate of Miss Hae Koehler at Bryar Cliff, is now touring Europe with Eastern friends and relatives. On Monday Mrs. D. P. Thompson gave a small luncheon at the Golf Club for Mrs. Ridgway, to which were asked Mrs. C. F. Adams, Mrs. Alma D. Katz, Mrs. J. N. Teal, Miss Bertha Moore, of Moscow, Idaho; Miss Genevieve Thompson and Miss Mary Withington, of Greenwich, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Teal entertained informally on Tuesday evening for Mrs. Ridgway, going in a launch to the Rock Island Club for dinner and asking Miss Withington, Miss Thompson, Mrs. D. P. Thompson, Dr. A. J. Cressy, W. A. Johnson, George Dekum and Richard Cox.

Mrs. Bradley, of Providence, R. I., mother of Joseph Bradley, and the Misses Alice and Margaret Bradley, are spending several days in Portland en route to Alaska, on which trip Mr. Bradley will accompany them. On Wednesday Miss Margaret Bradley gave a luncheon at the Golf Club in honor of Mrs. Bradley and her daughters, to which were bidden Miss Josephine Smith, Miss Dobbins, of Philadelphia; Miss Claire Houghton, Miss Lisa Wood, Miss Hazel Dolph and Mrs. David T. Honeyman.

An interesting Russian woman registered last week at the Portland Hotel was Madame de Blumenthal, who spends much of her time in an artistic bungalow in Pasadena. Madame de Blumenthal has interested herself for some years in bringing the products of the Russian peasants to America, a custom which was commenced by the daughter of Count Leo Tolstoy, and which proves beneficial to the laborer, contrary to the efforts of other European peasants whose labor enriches the coffers of a syndicate. Madame de Blumenthal was entertained at an informal luncheon which was given in her honor by Mrs. C. E. Curry.

For a recent bride, Mrs. Bruce Honeyman, who was Miss Marion Blakely, of Tacoma, Miss Lisa Wood gave a small tea Wednesday afternoon, which was served on the lawn and gallery of the Wood residence on Kings Heights. Those asked to meet Mrs. Honeyman were Mrs. Henry Ladd Corbett, Miss Margaret Walcott, Miss Dobbins, of Philadelphia; Miss Josephine Smith, Miss Lisa Wood, Miss Milla Wessinger, Miss Leslie Smith, Miss Meta Buehner, Miss Marguerite Buehner, Miss Dorothy McCoy, of Chicago; Miss Marjorie Hoffman and her cousin, Miss Robbins, of Spokane; Mrs. Bradley, of Providence, R. I.; Misses Alice and Margaret Bradley, Miss Nan Robertson, Mrs. Marion Dolph, Mrs. David T. Honeyman, Mrs. Margaret Thompson, Mrs. William Clark, Miss Genevieve Thompson, Miss Isabella Bryan, of Virginia, and Miss Hazel Dolph.

After seven months in Europe, Mrs. Alexander Kerr and her daughter, Genie, have returned. The major portion of their stay was spent in Sweden, Germany, Italy and France, where Miss Genie studied both vocal and instrumental music. En route West Mrs. Kerr visited in Cambridge with her son, Thomas, at Harvard. Since their return Mrs. Kerr's aunt, Mrs. Henrietta B. Wells, of Mount Holly, N. J., is a guest at their Flanders-street residence.

Since their marriage a year or more ago, Mr. and Mrs. Jack White Brown (Miss Fanny Brown) have lived in Vancouver, B. C., but recently they have moved to Tacoma. Mrs. Brown's mother, Mrs. J. A. Brown, arrived last week and is a guest at the Hotel Portland.

Miss Dobbins, an attractive girl from Philadelphia, is the guest for some months of Miss Josephine Smith, with whom she went to school at Washington, D. C., at the National Park Seminary. Yesterday Miss Smith and her guest left for a month's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Leslie Warren in Astoria.

Misses Marguerite and Meta Buehner, the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Buehner, gave a tea on Thursday afternoon in honor of Miss Dorothy McCoy, of Chicago. The Buehners have recently moved into their new residence on East Fifty-fifth street and Holladay avenue, which is one of the most artistic in the town. The house is built on severe lines similar to Mount Vernon, and has 17 acres of ground, which includes a cherry orchard. Tea was served on a large lawn and on the lawn, being poured by Mrs. Guy W. Talbot and Mrs. Tammill of Baltimore, and Mrs. Frank Warren, Jr. Assisting in serving were Miss Nan Robertson and three younger girls, the Misses Small and Miss Lillian Buehner. The Misses Buehner are graduates of the '06 class of Lassel Seminary, Chicago. Among the guests bidden were Mrs. Frank Warren, Jr., Miss Marion Dolph, Mrs. Lloyd Baker, Miss Grace Warren, Miss Claire Houghton, Miss Helen Harmon, the Misses Ruth and Genevieve Church, Miss Genevieve Thompson, Misses Lucile and Elizabeth Parker, and their guest, Miss Appleton, of New York; Miss Inez Barrett, Miss Margaret Catlin, Miss Margaret Hoot, Miss Lisa Wood, Miss Marjorie Hoffman, Miss Stella Frohman, Miss Amy Heitsch, Miss Milla Wessinger, the Misses Mildred and Verda Nichols, Miss Faye Nichols, Mrs. Walter Bethel, Miss Frances Wilson, Miss Caroline Burns and Miss Maida Hart, Miss Lillie Hall, Miss Jesse Hill, of Chicago; Miss Hazel Dolph, Mrs. Wilson Clarke, Miss Josephine Sweet, Mrs. Dobbins, of Philadelphia; Miss Isobel Bryan, Miss Florence Stackpole, Miss Caroline Kamm, Mrs. J. T. Belcher, Miss Lisa Parker, Miss Helen Bates, Miss Estelle Parker, Miss Ada Burke, and the Misses McCoy. Miss McCoy has been popular during her visit. She is an exceptionally pretty girl with a wealth of fluffy auburn hair. At the tea Miss Marguerite Buehner wore a lingerie gown of white; Miss Meta Buehner an embroidered frock over a vivid shade of apple green, and Miss McCoy appeared in a striking lavender linen with an empire skirt of black satin.

Paul Elder, of San Francisco, who is well known in artistic circles, is registered at the Portland Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. James McCracken have been the guests of Colonel and Mrs. John McCracken, having come down from their ranch, owing to a serious operation performed on Colonel McCracken's eyes. Mrs. Gay Lombard gave an informal luncheon at the Rock Island Club on Friday in compliment to Mrs. McCracken.

Two Princeton boys, Burr Mann and Harold Hartman, are the guests of Herbert Cudlipp, a son of the Rev. J. H. Cudlipp, the new pastor of the Grace Methodist Church, who arrived from the East three months ago. Miss Mabel Cudlipp, who is a Wellesley girl of the class of '09, is entertaining two college girls, Miss Pauline Russell, who is attending Fairmount Seminary, in Washington, D. C., and Miss Esther Davis, who is from Smith.

Mrs. Philo Holbrook has announced the engagement of her eldest daughter, Miss Emily Harriet, to Harry S. Gaylord. The wedding will take place in September. Mrs. Holbrook is a member of an old pioneer family and a sister of Dr. Millard Holbrook, Samuel Holbrook and Mrs. Thomas W. Watts, of New Mexico, the latter a recent bride, who was Miss Helen Holbrook.

Miss Mary Withington, of Greenwich, Conn., who has been the guest of Mrs. William M. Ladd and Miss Genevieve Thompson, leaves on Tuesday morning for Canada, where she will visit with her sister, Mrs. Hamilton Abbott. Holbrook Withington will arrive tomorrow from Medford to visit with his sister, joining her on the trip north. Miss Thompson, on Wednesday, gave a small tea at their apartments in compliment to Miss Withington.

Two motor parties that returned this week from Seattle were Mr. and Mrs. Julius L. Meier, Mrs. S. Frank and Aaron Frank, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Seller, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oppenheimer and Miss Amy Seller, of San Francisco. The cars left Sunday morning, and arrived Monday afternoon, the night being spent at Chehalis and several hours in Tacoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Brandt H. Wickersham are receiving congratulations over the arrival on Friday of a son.

Miss Marjorie Barrows, of St. Paul, who proved a great favorite during her visit of some months with Miss Lisa Wood, left on Monday evening for her Eastern home. Mr. Barrows, her father, arrived on Friday, a week ago, and for several days was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. S. Wood. The trip east will be made via Canada. Miss Barrows is a pretty and dainty type, with a pleasing manner. Her tennis playing during the recent Oregon state tournament attracted much favorable comment.

Mrs. George Flanders, Miss Flanders and Miss Louise Flanders left last week to open their cottage at Ecota. Mr. and Mrs. William Warren leave tomorrow to be their guests.

Dr. Belle J. Macdonald and her daughter, Mrs. James Brooks, of New York City, will visit Mrs. Frank E. Watkins, this coming week.

Mrs. Lillie Hexter left last week for Tacoma to visit her daughter, Mrs. Paul B. Thompson.

Mrs. John E. Cronan entertained on Wednesday the members of the Monday Bridge Club. A prize for the highest score for the day was won by Miss Hazel Croker, and one for the maximum games for the year fell to Miss Inez Barrett. Four tables of bridge were played during the afternoon, by the following: Mrs. David C. Lewis, Mrs. Guy W. Talbot, Mrs. Frank Freeman, Miss Inez Barrett, Miss Amy Heitsch, Mrs. Lanning Stout, Mrs. George K. Wentworth, Jr., Mrs. Morris Whitehouse, Mrs. Marion Dolph, Mrs. George Marshall, Miss Hazel Croker, Miss Margaret Catlin, Miss Grace Warren, Miss Rhoda Pulling, Mrs. Wells Gilbert and Miss Estelle Flower, of New York.

Beta Epsilon, the oldest women's local fraternity at the University of Oregon, has been formally installed as Alpha Xi Chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta. The installation ceremonies were conducted in this city at the Hotel Oregon Wednesday night by Miss Jessie Macfarland, president of the Gamma district. Following the ceremonies a banquet was served in the hotel grill.

Admission of the Beta Epsilon into the Kappa Alpha Theta is a distinct honor to the University of Oregon, which now becomes equally prominent with any other educational institution on the Pacific Coast in fraternity matters. The Kappa Alpha Theta was founded at Green Castle, now DePauw University, Ind., in January, 1870. It is regarded the most conservative of college fraternities for young women students. It consists of $1 chapters, of which the chapter just admitted from the State University makes four on the Pacific Coast, the other three
