OCEAN'S CHARMS STILL DRAW CITY FOLK

Hegira to Oregon and Washington Beaches Increases as Summer Days Grow Ever Warmer.

LONG BEACH, Wash., July 31.—(Special.)—In spite of the fact, or rather because of it, that a very great number of Washington people, and Oregon folk, too, who invariably fly North Beachward as the halcyon days of Summer advance, have this year turned their steps fairward and are waiting until later to visit the beaches, the old guard, the regular devotees and loyal adherents to the charms of this popular resort are holding their own and the showing is remarkably good. Each week sees more cottages opening and the hostelries are well patronized. Many affairs of a social nature are in progress each day and with the weekly dances, artificial amusements and the natural and unsurpassed charm of North Beach, the days are ones long to be remembered.

CHILDREN OF MR. CHAS. W. GOODMAN - 714 EAST MADISON ST. AT SEASIDE.

GAIETY RULES AT SEASIDE

Crowds of Tourists and Pleasure-Seekers Flock to Resort.

SEASIDE, Or., July 31.—(Special.)—The past week has been a combination salad of rains and sunshine, with a predominance of the latter, and this beach has been the mecca of good-sized crowds of tourists and pleasure-seekers. The surf bathing proves alluring under the balmy warmth of mid-Summer skies, and exuberance of spirits and strenuous idleness are decidedly in the ascendancy among the fortunate beings who are here.

The sands are dotted with children, sand-players who dig and build forts and miniature cities, make culinary achievements of modeled sand, and waders who dare not venture far into the inviting Pacific pond. Horseback parties and tallyho parties leave Seaside every day for interesting points about the surrounding country. On Thursday a tallyho party left the Moore for a journey to Cannon Beach and Elk Creek points. In the number were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goodman, with their youngster, Bertha, and Miss Rose Goodman, who are guests at the Moore; Miss Miriam Jacobs, Mrs. H. Bernstein, of Seattle, who is visiting Mrs. Emil Marx in her Seaside cottage, and Mrs. Ludwig Hirsch, with her guests, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Goldman and son Paul, and Miss Sarah Harris. The trip included a visit to the cave and other noted spots.

Many social affairs, formal and impromptu, have been in evidence. On Saturday Mrs. J. W. Matthes was hostess at a small tea, to which were bidden Mrs. Joseph Smith, Mrs. Benjamin I. Cohen, Mrs. W. D. Fenton, Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. Lawrence Knapp.

On Tuesday Mrs. Joseph Smith gave a luncheon at which 20 guests were present.

The stringed orchestra has arrived at Seaside House for the season and many plans are being made for small dances and musicales at this famous and established hostelry.

Among People at Seaside.

Mrs. Frank Moore, of Spokane, who is a guest of her mother, Mrs. R. Sherlock, on Twenty-second street, Portland, has been sojourning at the beach for the early season, but recently left for a trip to Cloud Cap Inn.

Miss Bessie Frogley, of Salem, is at Seaside for the season.

C. H. Lingenfelter, who is United States District Attorney for Idaho, is at Locksley Hall, accompanied by Mrs. Lingenfelter and their attractive young daughter, Miss Madge Lingenfelter.

Portlanders who recently arrived at the Moore were Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Mays, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Russell, Mrs. W. D. Skinner and Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Patten.

Mrs. L. C. Mackay, of Portland, was a late guest at Locksley Hall.

Probably the first pedestrian trip from Portland to Clatsop Beach was made this season with the arrival at Seaside House of Stuart Strong and Thomas H. Walker. The trip consumed 10 days and carried them over territory from Forest Grove, via Tillamook, the Nehalem, up to Cannon Beach and Elk Creek, in all about 45 miles.

Miss Ada Patterson is registered at the Moore Hotel.

Miss Irene Simington, of Astoria, accompanied by Mrs. Thomas Vaughn and Miss Una Smith, of Pendleton, came over to Locksley Hall recently from North Beach, where the Smiths have a cottage.

GEARHART MOST ATTRACTIVE

Multiplicity of Diversions for Guests at This Resort.

GEARHART PARK, Or., July 31.—(Special.)—Gearhart Park offers unrivaled opportunities for tennis playing, horseback riding, automobiling and strolls through leafy arches of woodland that few beaches in the world can give. The picturesque nooks and beautiful woods at this resort have attracted the interest and admiration of every one who has ever had the good fortune to visit Gearhart. At no other place does the surf bathing attain such a climax, for here it is absolutely free from drift wood, danger spots or rocks. The wide stretch of ocean is beautiful in its possibilities for Summer delights. Kruse's Beach hostelry is well patronized and the beach residences for which this resort is justly famed are filled with guests. Dancing parties, rides, drives and walking parties are the order of the days' and nights' joys, and the season at Gearhart is a round of care-free and lazy loitering mid-Summer gladness.

SUMMER JOYS AT NEWPORT

Moonlight Nights Are Utilized for Strolls on Beach and Bathing.

NEWPORT, Or., July 31.—(Special.)—Those "lazy, balmy, how-do-you-do" clouds that floated leisurely over Seaside last Sunday came together with a crash over Newport and wet a thousand people who were assembled on the beach, putting many in a good humor who wore bathing-suits and dampening the spirits of others.

The excursion brought nearly 400 visitors, and probably they were among the most disappointed, as the weather before and since has been delightful. The Summer band made its first appearance and was un-Germanic enough not to mind the water—rendering many selections which tended to brighten the crowd gathered along the main street and those on the boats.

The moonlight evenings of the past week have been thoroughly utilized by the young people who were seen promenading along the beach and seated in various sheltered nooks, much to the discomforture of Nightwatchman Oscar Olson, who though assigned to Nye Creek has included the beach and "all that on them is" in his district, electing himself moral squad and warning every person of the dignity of the law before they have time to question his jurisdiction.

However, the bay is far enough from Nye Creek to be immune, and each evening launches and small boats containing parties of various sizes, and musicians of various capacities glide over its smooth waters dotting the bay with red and green lights like floating stars, and sending out sweet strains of music which travel forth until they are eagerly devoured by the roar of the grinding waves on the bar. Phosphorescent fish swimming near the surface are seen darting in all directions, and occasionally the low moan of the distant whistling buoy breaks into the charm of the night—"The night has a thousand eyes" and they are wondrous bright.

But the green and red spots gradually disappear as the moon climbs higher, and the music softens and soon all is quiet and the playground deserted, for tomorrow means a picnic, a horseback ride, a swim or a dance, and must be prepared for by a healthy rest, and all the bright eyes are closed in sleep except those of the people whose work it is to be on guard in the stillest hours of the night.

The excellent restaurants scattered everywhere make the rooming-houses desirable to those who care not for the clatter of a hotel or the cares of a cottage.

It is said that four-fifths of the Newport cottages are now occupied, although two-fifths are taken up by strangers.

LIVELY AT COLUMBIA BEACH

Big Tank Completed and Waterworks Well Under Way.

COLUMBIA BEACH, Or., July 30.—(Special.)—F. G. Kelly, Warrenton, of the Kelly Lumber Company, has completed the construction work on the 30,000-gallon tank which has been installed on the beach front. This tank stands nearly 50 feet in height and is visible from all the Clatsop beach as far south as Tillamook Head.

Peterson and Johnson, contractors, have well under way the water system, the main line of which is being laid down Fifth street.

Mr. Oller has completed his new cottage on Fifth street and will expect to move in the early part of the week.

Rev. J. A. Leas and family took up their residence in their new cottage on Idaho street on Tuesday last.

The recent arrivals at the tent city in Idlewild Park are the following: Mr. Cooper and family, M. E. Gruber, one of Portland's police force, and family; A. L. Gustafson and family, Mr. Fones and family, T. A. Herbst and family, Mrs. Harsch and Mrs. H. W. Grable.

The Oregon Baptist Summer assembly closed Sunday with a genuine old-fashioned baptism in the Pacific Ocean, and all departed Monday morning, saying that their outing at Columbia Beach was most enjoyable and hoping for another session of the assembly at Columbia Beach next year.

Misses Emma and Lydia Reimers, of Davenport, Iowa, left for Spokane after a sojourn at the beach since early in March.

Among visitors at the beach during the week were the following: H. M. Huxley and family, of Hood River, Or.; Mrs. M. E. King, daughter and niece, of Portland; Mrs. Agnes Kearney, of Spokane, Wash.; Agnes Dugan, Mary King, J. C. Ale and C. L. Marshal, all of Portland; Charles C. Green, of Richmond, Va., and W. Von Derbill, of London England.

GAME APLENTY AT MOCLIPS

Grays Harbor Watering Place Attracting Many People.

MOCLIPS, Wash., July 31.—(Special.)—Game and fish were never more plentiful and such sea-fellows as seals, sea otters and sea lions were never more in evidence than right now off Moclips beach. One seal is on exhibition in an enclosure opposite the Moclips Beach Hotel, and the skin of a valuable sea otter was recently sold for $900.

More people arrive daily and all cottages are now taken, though reservations can still be made for parts of August and all of September. The hotels are filling, but there are accommodations for more than 1000 transients yet. Automobile parties by day, to the Government jetty, 25 miles south, and to Granvills Point and Taholah, in the Quinault Indian reservation, seven miles north, are quite the fashion, while at night dances are held at all the leading hotels.

Governor Declines to Talk About Presidential Nomination.

SPOKANE, Wash., July 31.—Governor John A. Johnson, of Minnesota, the members of his staff and a party of intimate friends are the guests today of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce, the Scandinavian Brotherhood and the Swedish League. A banquet will be given tonight in their honor.

"We are having the time of our lives," said the Governor, "and I am enjoying it more than I can express. Really, you must not ask me to talk politics, for this trip has no political significance."

"But what about the Presidency in 1912?" the Governor was asked.

"That is a long way off," said Mr. Johnson, with one of his most fascinating smiles. The tariff is now practically settled for a considerable period, and there may be new men and new issues to discuss before the next campaign."

Mrs. Johnson accompanies her husband. The Governor's special train will leave tonight at 11:30 for Seattle.
