Traces Taint of Insanity in Family History, With Outbreak in Harry.

DISCREDITS EVELYN THAW

Thaw's Lawyer Also Accuses Her of Plotting Against Husband's Liberty-If Defeated, Thaws Will Continue Fight.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. T .- In a cell at White Plains jail Harry Kendall Thaw awaits decision as to his sanity The Supreme Court hearing in the habeas corpus proceedings against the State of New York ended this afternoon when his attorney, Charles Morschauser summed up his case. District Attorney Jerome preceded Mr. Morschauser this morning. Justice Isaac N. Mills said

The prisoner's mother, with her daughter Alice, formerly the Countess of Yarmouth, and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Thaw will remain here until Harry Thaw's fate is settled. Mrs. Thaw's statements show that, if this case goes against her son, she will less no time in trying to free him by other means.

Jerome Is Hard on Evelyn.

The addresses of District Attorney Jerome and Mr. Morschauser today were alike free from the authorsts of oratory that characterized the two homicide trials. The District Attorney was parti-cularly temperate and spoke of Thaw plyingly as "That poor boy." Only two witnesses among several hundred that testified for Thaw at his rials and hearings were picked out by Jerome for rebuke. These were Evelyn Neshit Thaw and Dr. Britton D. Evans. Thaw's chief allenist. The District At-torney said that in his helief Thaw's

He said that "the night before she testified she had consulted with Dr. Austin Filmt in Mr. Jerome's office and had formed a combination with the allenist against her husband." Mr. Morschauser concluded with a denunciation of Stan-ford White and an appeal for Thaw's mother that left tears on his own

Shows Contempt for Jerome.

Mrs. Thaw emphasized her opinion of Mr. Jerome and his efforts by reading a magazine throughout his argument When her son's attorney began, she laid the pamphlet aside and listened in-tently. Thaw's pale face remained im-passive under both Mr. Jerome's con-temptuous pity and Mr. Morschauser's

Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw. "I do think," he declared, "that this girl was deliberately and intentionally faisifying. That she told her husband the story of the injury at the hands of Stanford White I have no doubt."

Mr. Jerome then passed directly to the question of Thaw's sanity. He acknowledged that modern science did not attach extreme importance to the influence of heredity in disease; nevertheless, he declared, this influence must be considerable in assessing the defendant's mental condition. He summed up the defendant's family history with the declaration that, "when a member broke," he or she broke in the weak spot, the mind. Under strain they developed immediate imbecility or explepsy. He added: "Let me point out mow that the whole Thaw family developed what might be called peculiarity. # Signs of Diseased Mind.

The District Attorney de-clared that he placed little reliance in the testimony of Dr. Evans, Thaw's chief allenist, and asked the court to disre-

"If a person had come in here from Mars," continued the prosecutor, "and seen Thaw on the stand, he would have realized something was the matter with him. I call your attention to his atti-tude regarding his act. No man of sound mind would have said, "Yes, I killed him, has he did a rest wrong to the woman but he did a great wrong to the woman. I loved and I hated him. It was wrong.

Mr. Jerome's voice rose for the first time. Mrs. Thaw laid down her magazine and she and Mr. Morschauser held a whispered she and Mr. Morschauser held a whispered conference. The prosecutor went on:

"Here is a man whose heredity has proved to be bad; he is a man whose childhood was that of a nervous sort. We find him marrying this girl, and there was nothing after the marriage to excite his jealousy. We see him pursuing this idea of injury to young American girls."

Referring to Mrs. Thaw's attack on him in the "Secret Unvelled," Mr. Jeroms haid:

the homicide. He dwelt on the testimony of his own alienists, and attacked that of opposing alienists, especially Dr. Baker's. Thaw had a latent trace of insanity, he said. Incidents of Thaw's early life were grossly exaggerated at the trials, he said, to show insanity. A similar result might be achieved by the boyhood pranks of any man. Referring to Evelyn's alleged misconduct with White, Mr. Morschnuser said:

"With this before him every day and every night. Thaw started out to wreak his vengeance on Stanford White and sought to break up his den and destroy forever that power to wreck and ruin the lives of young girls. Mr. Thaw appealed to District Attorney Jerome. The District Attorney admitted the existence of such places, and if he had used the energy in rooting them out that he had in hounding this young man, the crime would never have been committed."

Wise to Change Lawyers.

Mr. Morschauser criticised Susic Mer-rill and Clifford W. Hartridge, Thaw's former attorney, who is suing Mrs. Mary Thaw for $100,000. Mr. Morschauser asked why Mr. Hartridge falled to support his testimony by producing the record of money he alleged he paid to Mrs. Merrill. Thaw listaned to his course's arguments Thaw listened to his counsel's arguments and several times passed him notes, of which Mr. Morschauser made use. Mr. Morschauser declared that Thaw's action in changing attorneys after his first trial

"T've been attorney for Harry Thaw for a year," he said. "We've had a great many defeats. If he had had any suspicion regarding his attorney or any defusional idea of a combination against him, wouldn't he have suspected me?"

TOKIO, Aug. 7.-President Nakamura of the South Manchurian Railroad, reported today that work on the reconstruc tion of the Antung-Mukden line, regarding which Japan has issued an ultimatum to China, was begun Friday evening, and up to that moment there has been no dis-turbance. In an interview here, Naka-

Upon China.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The decision reached in Japan regarding the construction of the Antung-Mukden Railroad, in spite of the objections of China, is considered here to be justified. Before taking the step Japan consulted Great Britain and the other powers with whom her relations are close. While regretting that her ally has found it necessary to defy China, it is understood Great Britain agrees that Japan had no alternative. The South Manchurian Railroad Company, which on account of the large subsidies it receives from the Government, has been compelled to rebuild its line, is not pleased with this decision, for while the undertaking involves it in large expenditure, it will divert a part of its traffic from Dainy to Fusan.

It is the sense of this association that this impression should be convented."

Criticism of Luther Burbank and his methods, which has been going on among Southern California hordeniturists for many menths, reached a climax last night when the foregoing resolution was unani-mously adopted at the close of a discus-sion of Eurbank and Burbankism before a meeting of the Pasadena Gardeners' As-sociation, attended by upwards of 160 florists and gardeners. The meeting was held in the assembly room of the Pasa-dena Board of Trade, and was attended by members of the association and a lurge delegation from the Los Angeles
