

DARKEST AFRICA HAS BOOM IN CHICAGO

Naturalists, Photographers, Humorists to Follow Roosevelt—Uncle Joe's Standpatism Loses Votes for Him. Grafters Promised Hot Time.

BY JONATHAN PALMER.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—(Special.)—Ex-President Roosevelt promises to be the greatest press agent for Africa since the days of Stanley and Livingston, although he carries no commission of that sort.

W. D. Boyce, wealthy publisher, who likes to spend money for something that has excitement in it, is financing one party. He is to bring interior Africa back with him in the shape of pictures taken from balloons and moving pictures.

Another party includes Mr. and Mrs. Carl M. Akely, zoological experts, and John T. McCutcheon, famous cartoonist. The Akelys have seen over the ground before with the guide whom ex-President Roosevelt now has to pilot him through the wilds.

The big elephant which Mrs. Akely killed is mounted in the Field Columbian Museum in this city. With it are other specimens, and the two are in an attitude of combat. The environment is just as it appeared to the hunters in the native habitat of the animals.

"Uncle Joe" Losing Friends.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon will have to reckon with his own party the next time he seeks election to Congress. If the intimations that are appearing in the Illinois press mean anything, there are a lot of Republicans in the state—a host in his own district—who do not think much of the Speaker's attitude throughout the tariff proceedings in Congress.

"Uncle Joe" was easily victorious 15 times out of the 19 he has been a candidate for Congress in his district. He was defeated once because he had alienated the support of a large part of his own party.

Washington dispatches to the Illinois press declare this trend of the Speaker's policy was so positive that he lost the old-time friendship of men in Congress who had stood by him for many years.

Will Make Grafters' Fur Fly.

Aware of the mighty task it will be to convict any of the indicted men in the outfit of the police department for grafting, State's Attorney Wayman has gone away for a month or more and these buildings. He promises to return in a few days when he comes back in September.

No sooner had Inspector McCann, of the West side police district, been indicted on the charge of levying tribute on the vice of that community than there was a lining up of forces for and against the accused man.

Probably the only way to convict McCann will be on the testimony of men and women of ill repute. If he accepted vice tribute it was from just such persons. Their word, backed up though it may be by oath, is not highly valued.

Colonel F. A. Eastman, City Statistician, has just issued a city manual, in which, by a system of computation of his own, he announces that the population of Chicago in 1906 will be 5,749,334. That is only 12,000 short of the estimates of the subway calculators for the same year.

The latter may have reckoned into the account the 1,000,000 persons who are buried in Chicago's cemeteries. The cemetery figures also are Colonel Eastman's. Statistics of the sexes are presented, showing that 14,821 Chicago girls between 20 and 25 cannot hope to marry Chicago men unless they are content with spouses more than ten years older than themselves.

every four Poles in Warsaw there is one here, and for every five Swedes in Stockholm there are two here.

Woman to Run Chicago Schools

Chicago is being made the butt of jests, sarcasm and even ridicule because its Board of Education has elected a woman to preside over the public school system. It is noteworthy that these thrusts come from sources where Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, the new superintendent, is not well known and especially from quarters where there is opposition to this sort of ascendancy for the fair sex on general principles.

When two brigades of the Illinois militia went to Elgin for annual camp practice, some good, old, gray-haired members of the W. C. T. U. "allowed" the town-ought to be organized into a huge chaperonage for the young girls, and forthwith proceeded to organize.

Major Busse has put a lot of new blood in the School Board. A majority of the present members believe in getting away from the theories that have failed and back to practical work. To achieve that end they sought a safe pilot. Half the members had never met Mrs. Young until she appeared before them to answer questions.

Then the regulars from Fort Sheridan took a "hike" across country and wound up at Aurora. No sooner had the blue uniforms "moved in sight" down the dusty highway than Mrs. D. W. Cromer, president of the Aurora W. C. T. U., sounded the alarm in behalf of the soldiers.

Century Plant in Bloom.

Barkers on the "Seeing Chicago" wagons are pointing out a new object of interest. In the yard of the Potter Palmer mansion in the Lake Shore Drive there is a century plant in bloom. The plant has been growing 30 years and never before had it shown a sign of flowering.

Then the regulars from Fort Sheridan took a "hike" across country and wound up at Aurora. No sooner had the blue uniforms "moved in sight" down the dusty highway than Mrs. D. W. Cromer, president of the Aurora W. C. T. U., sounded the alarm in behalf of the soldiers.

previously to maintain his claim, he has not taken the public into his confidence. At that he has some of the vigilantes of the district on the anxious seat.

Which Need Protection More?

Should girls be protected against soldiers, or should soldiers be protected against the wily ways of girls? Women have raised the question, and women are answering it. On the whole the preponderance of evidence now in seems to be in favor of protection for the soldiers.

When two brigades of the Illinois militia went to Elgin for annual camp practice, some good, old, gray-haired members of the W. C. T. U. "allowed" the town-ought to be organized into a huge chaperonage for the young girls, and forthwith proceeded to organize.

Instantly a howl went up from the mothers of the soldiers. The very idea of girls needing protection against their sons. It was a reflection on the honor and gentility of the boys who were setting an example of patriotism, was the mothers' argument.
