MRS. MARION MAUS, WIFE OF BRIGADIER GEN. MAUS WHO WAS RECENTLY ASSIGNED TO VANCOUVER, B.C.

OWING to the annual tennis tourney at the Breakers there will be a marked influx to the beach, particularly over the week-end. With the list of prominent entries, visitors may look forward to a week of brilliant playing, while there will be much attendant social activity. September 5 has been set for the opening of the theatrical season, at which time we will have a week of the International Grand Opera Company.

Cards were received last week for the wedding of Miss Alta Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Smith to Elliott Ruggles Corbett, which will take place at noon Wednesday, September 1. Both Miss Smith and her fiance belong to the oldest and most prominent Portland families, so the wedding will be one of the largest of the year. Miss Lesley Smith will be her sister's only attendant. A small breakfast will follow at Mr. and Mrs. Smith's Portland Heights residence.

On today's page is reproduced a picture of Mrs. Marion P. Maus, wife of Brigadier-General Maus, who has recently been assigned to the command of the Department of the Columbia. Mrs. Maus is still in the East, but will arrive at the post in September, when her presence will no doubt be the signal for entertaining, as she is well known here. Mrs. Maus has been equally popular in Washington, D. C., with both the Army and Navy set, she being a granddaughter of Rear Admiral Poor. Mrs. Maus is a tall, blonde type and a woman of charming manner and poise. General Maus, who was stationed at Vancouver many years ago, graduated from West Point in 1874 in the same class with Colonel C. E. S. Wood. General Maus' family were among the early settlers in this country. His grandfather, Matthew Maus, was a surgeon in the colonial wars, and war of the revolution. His great uncle, Philip Maus, was also in the war of the revolution, and gave the entire amount of his large fortune to assisting Robert Morris in supplying Washington's army in the darkest days of the struggle for freedom.

General Maus was designated by the President to accompany the Commanding General to the Queen's Jubilee, 1897, to the Turko-Graeco war, and to attend the Russian-German and French maneuvers in the same year. He also accompanied the Commanding General around the world, being among the early Americans to cross Siberia on the great Trans-Siberian Railroad.

Miss Gladys Felt, who arrived over a year ago to visit with her sister, Mrs. Sanderson Reed, will leave on Wednesday for New York, en route to Europe. It is Miss Felt's intention to spend her time in Florence, where she will further her studies in music and art.

Mrs. H. A. Jackson, wife of the recently appointed assistant freight and passenger agent of the Great Northern Railway here, was, before her marriage, several years ago, Miss Virginia Winston, of Spokane, daughter of the late Colonel Patrick Henry Winston, a well-known lawyer and clubman of that city. Her brother, Alex. Winston, and sister, Mrs. Sidney Norman, are among the most prominent society people of Spokane. Mrs. Jackson is spending the summer at the Breakers, but will come to Portland to open her house about September 15.

Miss Black and Miss Bertha Black, of Bryn Mawr, with their niece, Miss Elizabeth Black, arrived recently from the East. The Misses Black are daughters of Colonel Samuel A. Black, who, some years ago, was general superintendent of the Northern Pacific, with headquarters in Tacoma. They are also relatives of General Randall, who at one time was stationed at Vancouver Barracks, and they are cousins of Mrs.

MISS JEANETTE THOMAS WHO IS RETURNING NEXT MONTH TO OSSINING ON THE HUDSON.

J. J. Mann, whom they are now visiting. Their last visit with Mrs. Mann was made 16 years ago. On Tuesday of last week Mrs. Mann entertained in an informal way for her cousins, asking in a few to ten. Miss Genevieve Thompson visited the Misses Black at their picturesque Eastern home while she was attending Bryn Mawr.

A number of the older residents will learn with regret of the death of Mrs. A. M. Simpson, of San Francisco, which occurred on Monday in that city. Mrs. Simpson, who was the wife of Captain Simpson, a prominent California lumber capitalist, had visited in Portland on a number of occasions with Mrs. H. B. Green and Mrs. C. J. Reed. Before her marriage, some years ago, she was Miss Sophia Smith, of Roanoke. Mrs. Simpson's daughter, Miss Edith Simpson, is noted for beauty, and is a great belle in San Francisco society. Louis Simpson, of Marshfield, a son, is prominently identified with the development of the Coos Bay district, and is well known here. At the time of is accompanied by Mr. Hall and the two children, Sherman and Frances.

Miss Hazel Croker, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. David C. Lewis on a motor trip to Seattle. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will also ship their car and four Victoria and Vancouver, B. C.

Walking parties have lately come again into vogue. This coming week, Mrs. William Biddle will act as chaperone for a coterie of pedestrians who will leave from Seaside, Or., and walk to Newport, Or. The party will include Miss Becky Biddle, Miss Iles Kophler, Rodney Gilman, Kenneth Beebe and Erskine Wood.

Another tramping party is composed of John Felling, Jack Reed, Paul Golesey, Elliot Holcomb, who left on Wednesday for two weeks of rambles. They will leave Seaside for Tillamook, going from there to the Siletz reservation and thence to Newport. They will carry packs and sleep in the open.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Walter Gates and their son, Walter, left on Thursday for a week at the Breakers.

At the Arlington Club on Tuesday and Wednesday, Guy W. Talbot entertained at luncheon in honor of four Easterners, Francis B. Prothingham, of Boston; Judge Cullen, of New York; E. F. Smith, of Chicago; and Theodore F. Miller, of Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis and their two boys, who are occupying this summer the Freeman cottage at Seaside, have had Mrs. Frank E. Hart and Miss Sally Hart as their guests for ten days. Miss Martha Hoyt is also visiting them during August.

A stag dinner Thursday evening at the Claremont Tavern marked the annual Summer reunion of the Zeta Psi fraternity members of the Northwest. Stanford was represented by Frank Branch, Harry S. Sladen, George Willard Brown, Plowden Stott, Chester G. Murphy, Stephen Gage, a son of Governor Gage, of Los Angeles; George Durham, Joseph Henry, of San Jose; Harry Ilett, Eugene Rockey, and Raymond Holman. Others present were Harry Felling and Roland Merceon, both of Yale; Roland Kelly, George Brown, Edward Mass, of The Dalles, and Frederick V. Holman, who represented the University of California; Herbert Harburt and Ashley Vanline, of the University of Michigan; and David C. Lewis, of Columbia University and Princeton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Andre Foulhoux leave this week for Gearhart Park.

Miss Sadie American, the executive secretary of the National Council of Jewish women, is expected this week from the East, and with her mother will be at the Hotel Portland for some days. Miss American is one of the ablest women platform speakers in the United States. She is prominently identified with the Consumers' League of New York, the National Playground Association, and is chairman of the Immigrant Aid Society. She is also interested in municipal research and has been an active factor in having "child labor laws" passed. Miss American has recently visited in San Francisco, where she was tendered many courtesies. During her stay in Portland a special meeting reception will be given by the local Council of Jewish Women at which time an open reception will be held.

Mr. and Mrs. William Warren and their three boys, left on Thursday for a fortnight's camping trip. They drove first to the Trask River and thence to Garibaldi Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Alsworth will visit this week at Eccla.

Another prominent wedding scheduled for September 1 is that of Miss Mary Lela Goddard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Goddard, to Horace B. Fenton, the second son of Judge and Mrs. W. D. Fenton, which will take place at 830 P. M. at the Goddard residence, 688 Hoyt street. The bride-to-be is a graduate of the University of Oregon and a Kappa Alpha Theta. Mr. Fenton is a Johns Hopkins man, who still has another year at that institution. In view of the fact, Mr. Fenton and his bride will take up their residence in Baltimore. Kenneth Fenton will be the best man. Miss Melodie Ward the maid of honor and two small cousins of Miss Goddard will act as the flower girls.

For Mrs. Tannyhill, of Baltimore, Mrs. Otis Wight gave a luncheon on Wednesday, which included Mrs. Frank Warren, Jr., Mrs. John E. Cronan, Mrs. Marion Dolph, Mrs. Guy Talbot and the Misses
