ALBERT S. MILLER DEAD

NOTED OREGON BRIDGE-BUILD-ER PASSES AWAY.

Did Much Construction Work on the Southern Pacific and O. R. & N. Lines in This State.

ALBANY, Or., Aug. 14.—(Special.)— Albert S. Miller, who was most promiently identified with early railroad building in Oregon, died this morning at St. Mary's Hospital in this city, at the age of SS years. He was the father of H. B. Miller, United States Consul-General at Yokohama, Japan, but who General at Tokohama. Japan, but who is now in Oregon on a vacation, and Frank J. Miller, secretary of the Albany Iron Works. State Senator from Linn and Lane Counties, and member of the Albany City Council.

Mr. Miller was superintendent of bridge construction on the Southern Pacific when the line was built through Oregon, and built all of the bridges on that line between Roseburg and Rogue River. One of the many bridges which yet stands after many years as a monument to his bridge building ability is the wagon bridge across the South Santiam River at Lebanon. In this county, it was built by Mr. Miller Siyears ago, and though now the oldest bridge in Linn county, it is yet safe and sound.

bridge in Linn county, it is yet safe and sound.

Mr. Miller was born in Massachusetts in 1821, and lived in that state until he was 22 years old. He then removed to Ohio, where he took up the work of bridge-building, and worked as super-intendent of construction on different railroads in that state. In 1872 he came to Oregon, and lived first at Lebanon and later at Eugene, following his occupation of bridge-building.

When the Southern Pacific was built through Southern Oregon he worked as superintendent of bridge construction until the line was completed, and then took up similar work on the Oregon Bailroad & Navigation road east of Portland. Later he engaged in mercantile business in Portland.

About 18 years ago he refired from active work, and since then had lived most of the time at Grants Pass, where he and his sons have property interests.

For the past three years he had lived at the home of his son. Senator Miller, in this city. For many years Mr. Miller had been in poor health, suffering from intestinal trouble. Four months ago his condition become serious, and he had gradually grown weaker until death came this morning.

Mr. Miller's wife died in 1882, and three children are also dead. He is survived by his two sons, H. B. Miller and Frank J. Miller. He was a member of the Masonic frafernity, having taken the Royal Arch degree.

FOUND SHOT DEAD

Friends, Not Satisfied With Coroner's Verdict of Suicide, Suspect Crime.

PISTOL LYING BY HIS SIDE

Rector A. Johnson, Victim, Had Told of Two Recent Attempts at Holdup and Borrowed Revolver to Protect Himself.

MARSHPIELD. Or. Aug. 14.—(Special).—Rector A. Johnson, member of a prominent Marshield family and a well-known young man, was found dead late last night on Central avenue. He had been shot through the heart. A pistol was found near by and his watch was gone and watch chain broken off short. After hearing what evidence could be gathered, the Coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide, but relatives and friends of the young man believe that he was murdered. L. A. Lilljquist, the Assistant District Attorney, has begun an investigation of the case.

Johnson had been about the city early in the evening, and started home shortly before? Sciock. Where the body was found the street is a bridge over the low land, and there are but few houses fronting on that particular block. The fact that a tragedy had occurred was not known for some time. Several persons living in the neighborhood say that they heard two shots, and others declare there was but one shot.

and others declare facts and others declared to the same place. On one occasion his alleged assailant is said to have grabbed at his watch, and another time he had a large sum of money with him, but he got away. Johnson then decided he would protect himself and horrowed his brother's revolver. It was his pistol that was found with one cartridge empty. The father of the young man believes that his son was killed in an attempted hold-up, and is endeavoring to gather evidence which will throw further light on the case.

HAS VALUABLE GOLD COIN

Eagles Finds $10 Piece Worth $500 in His Till.

ALBANY. Or.: Aug. 14.—(Special.)— Reading in this morning's Oregonian that George Jackson. of Portland, discovered he had a $10 gold piece of 1847 worth $500.
William Eagles, proprietor of the Albany cigar factory, found one of the coins, only six of which are said to be in existence. Mr. Eagles had noted the coin because of the absence of the words,
"In God We Trust." and as soon as he read the story he looked in his till and found that it hore the date 1847.
A most peculiar circumstance in connection with the discovery is that Mr.
Eagles has passed out the coin over the counter of his cigar store two or three times since he noted its peculiarity because of the missing words, and several Albany men have possessed it, not knowlog its exceptional value. It came back to Mr. Eagles each time, however, after a few days or weeks, and was in his till when he learned its value today.

MILL'S FIRE LOSS $27,000

Lumber Plant at Middleton Is Totally Destroyed.

MIDDLETON, Or., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—
Fire totally destroyed the Johnson sawmill and its environments at this place late Friday afternoon. Besides the total destruction of the mill buildings and contents, 700,000 feet of lumber in the adjoining yards was licked up by the flames. The total loss is estimated at $17,000 with but $6000 insurance.

The fire is believed to have originated from a spark from the incinerator and gained such headway before discovery that valiant battle with the flames indulged in by the employee and townspeciple dulged in by the amployes and townspeople was futile. J. H. Johnson, owner of the plant, was in attendance at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition in Scattle at the time, and was notified of the fire by long-distance telephone.
