

NO ROYAL FRILLS FOR E. H. HARRIMAN

Will Leave Steamer on Tug and Meet Reporters When He Lands in America.

CHAMPAGNE BATHS! BOSH!

Wizard's Secretary Evaporates Pipe Dreams of Yellow Journalists. Harriman Going to Arden to Finish Cure.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(Special.)—The talk that Mr. Harriman will be received with honors and pomp of an unbecoming kind is shared by those who know him most intimately, as are the stories that he is virtually on his deathbed, and that his active life is at an end.

Charles C. Tegethoff, E. H. Harriman's confidential secretary, thus set at rest today the rumors that the financier was to be met at sea by a private yacht and hurried to his home at Arden under such close guard as surrounds only a Czar or an Emperor.

No Champagne Baths.

"As for the so-called champagne baths and all that Dr. Struempel, the German specialist, is quoted as having recommended, I don't know any more than I have read in the papers, but it is my guess that Mr. Harriman won't have much time to pay attention to fancy wrinkles about his goings and comings. He will just lead a quiet, sane life, and nature will do the rest."

Will Let Reporters See He's Well.

Mr. Tegethoff thus outlined the plans for Mr. Harriman's reception on his homecoming.

"One of the big bugs of the Southern Pacific fleet will meet the Kaiser Wilhelm II in the lower harbor and take Mr. Harriman to the Erie Railroad station, where, unless his plans are changed, he will meet reporters and they can judge of his condition for themselves. This talk of his being met at sea by a private yacht and hurried to his home at Arden under such close guard as surrounds only a Czar is bosh."

"Mr. Harriman is very far from being a sick man. Our advice from him is that he is greatly improved. His going to Arden is not because he is ill, but because he wishes to complete his cure."

No Board Meetings at Arden.

Asked as to the possibility of Mr. Harriman's transacting his business for the future at Arden and having the board meetings of the Union and Southern Pacific directors, which are scheduled for Tuesday, held there, Mr. Tegethoff said: "They have managed to get along pretty well without him on other occasions and he must have complete rest at Arden, and it is the expectation he will take up his activities again after that."

tion if the law permitted me to do so, and I would have been a candidate for nomination by the Republican party at the primary election had the Supreme Court not construed the primary law as it did.

"If my understanding of the court's decision is correct, my name cannot be put on the ballot at the general election as the candidate either of the Democratic or the Independence League party, notwithstanding the fact that a majority of the members of those parties who voted at the primary election announced their desire to have my name appear as their candidate."

"The only way in which I can become a candidate is by petition signed by a certain percentage of the voters who did not vote at the primary election, requesting that my name be placed on the ballot at the general election as an independent candidate."

TRAIN DROPS INTO GULCH

Passengers Have Remarkable Escape Near Spokane.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 21.—That many lives were not lost when the southbound Spokane Falls & Northern passenger train crashed through the bridge near Darts siding at 9 A. M. today was almost a miracle.

Rounding a curve and running through burning brush, the engineer could not see the blazing bridge till too late to stop the train. The engine ran clear across before the bridge broke, letting the baggage and mail car tumble into the ravine. The weight of the car dragged the engine back and down, but fortunately the car coupling broke, leaving the two passenger cars standing on the brink above. All the passengers escaped safely, but the blazing wreck set fire to the cars still on the track and all the coaches were burned.

Engineer Gillette sustained injuries about the head, and for a time it was thought he was killed. Mark Williams was conductor of the unlucky train.

TRY TO ENTANGLE TAFT IN POLITICS

La Follette's Friends Blame Him for Holding Up Appointment.

PROBABLY HIS OWN DOING

Delay in Confirmation of McElroy Attributed by "Little Bob's" Men to Taft, but Probably He Is Playing Old Trick.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 21.—(Special.)—An attempt will be made by the friends of Senator La Follette to get President Taft mixed up in Wisconsin politics on his visit to Milwaukee next month. The arrangements for the Presidential visit are in the hands of several business organizations, the heads of which are in sympathy with Mr. Taft's policies; but they are personally antagonistic to Mr. La Follette, who, they declare, represents a fragment of the Republican party that has strong Democratic tendencies.

Who Holds Up McElroy's Job?

It has been intimated that Mr. Taft is responsible for holding up the appointment of W. J. McElroy for United States District Attorney for the Eastern district of Wisconsin. Mr. McElroy has been one of the most faithful lieutenants of Mr. La Follette in this state, and it is currently reported that he "needs the job." As far as six months ago he was promised the appointment, but his name was not sent in for confirmation, the office is still held by District Attorney Butterfield, a stalwart Republican. A strange situation has presented itself, as Mr. Butterfield has made personal application to be relieved from the duties of the office.

One of "Little Bob's" Tricks.

Now some friends of Mr. La Follette are blaming Mr. Taft for this peculiar situation, and Mr. La Follette has declined to give any explanation of the matter. Those who know "Little Bob" best are satisfied that this situation is of his own making. He is merely following out what has been his practice ever since he became a power in Wisconsin politics. It has always been his practice to dangle some fine plum in front of the nose of his lieutenants, who were thus spurred on to work the harder in his interest. Then, having got what he desired, he would give the office to whomever he thought most fit.

HAYWARD GETS OFFERS

EASTERN COLLEGES AFTER OREGON'S TRAINER.

Development of Seattle's Victorious Team at A. A. U. Meet Makes Trainer Famous.

EUGENE, Or., Aug. 21.—(Special.)—Trainer Bill Hayward left today with a party of friends to visit the rest of the members at the head of the Willamette River. When Bill's mood responds to the wild caroling of the birds and the soft sighing of the woods, he will pluck seven feathers from Chicago and decide whether he will return to the University of Oregon to train its athletes.

"I have received four flattering offers from Eastern colleges," he confided to an Oregonian representative previous to his departure. "But I am loath to leave Oregon, and the foxy trainer who, with Seattle Athletic Club recruits, had conquered five athletes from Chicago and the Olympic games, rubbed his chin reminiscingly."

Referring to the recent A. A. U. meet, Hayward said: "President Sullivan, of the A. A. U., declares that Edmundson is the greatest half-mile in the world, and I am of the same opinion. Any time the boy starts the track again without the handicap of a heavy wind, he will smash the world's record. In practice one day he made the distance in 1:51.45. The record is 1:52.24. I was dubious about making the record public, fearing the wise ones would laugh at me, but he sure stepped it off in that time. Twenty minutes afterward Edmundson ran the quarter on the oval in :39.15. The record on the straightaway in this event is 47 seconds, held by Max Long, of the old Knickerbocker Athletic Club. I tell you this youngster is a world-beater."

From the manner in which Hayward discussed his probable removal it is doubtful if Oregon will be able to retain this clever trainer's services.

MUCH TIMBER IS LOST

FIRE STILL BURNS IN COEUR D'ALENE RESERVE.

Loss of Life Not Feared, as Settlers Have Ample Time to Escape From Flames.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 21.—(Special.)—Superintendent Waigle, of the Coeur d'Alene forest reserve, stated this evening it was impossible to gain definite information regarding the extent of the fire on the Coeur d'Alene reservation, but judging from information received by telephone this afternoon, he thought the estimate that a million and a half feet of fine timber has not been destroyed is probably low. A message received stated the homes of several settlers were in danger and supposed to be burned, but loss of life is not feared, as settlers in the path of the flames had ample warning.

Persons coming down the lake past the burning region say only logged-off lands are burned, as far as they can see, and the Blackwell Lumber Company, largest holders of timber there, declares the property loss to timber is minimal and reports of fires grossly exaggerated.

The forest fire in Pend d'Oreille Valley, 43 miles north of Newport, today started Tuesday in an old slashing near Ruby postoffice, on the west side of the river, ran east to the river, thence north to Blueslide and jumped across the Pend d'Oreille River Thursday near Blueslide during a high wind.

Several ranchers in the path lost buildings, and Blueslide had a narrow escape. After crossing the river it has been confined to a narrow strip of bottom land. Forest Supervisor Miller, with a force of men, is fighting to keep it from crossing the mountains into Leeleer Creek Basin, in the Kaniku National forest, and indications are he will succeed.

On the west side the fire is more severe. John McInnes has 50 men working for the Panhandle Lumber Company and the Consolidated Elk Company has a force fighting fire. The Rouse mill, between Ruby and Blueslide, was saved after a hard fight.

FISH TOWS BOAT 9 MILES

Fighting Tuna Gives Sportsman a Royal Battle.

AVALON, Catalina Island, Cal., Aug. 21.—After a six-hour battle off Seal Rocks, C. C. Conn, a well-known yachtsman, landed a 160-pound tuna, the largest he has ever caught. He was the only successful one of scores of sportsmen who started out in every available craft to be on the bay in the morning as soon as the fog got about that the tuna had reappeared.

The big fighting fish took the hook on a 100-foot line and towed Conn's launch nine miles before he could be brought to gaff. The sudden reappearance of tuna after an absence of five years is drawing large numbers of anglers to Catalina.
