HARD FIGHT AHEAD

La Follette Begins to Make Ready for Re-election.

HIS LIEUTENANT ACTIVE

Herman L. Ekern Resigns as Deputy Insurance Commissioner, Making Attempt to Belittle Significance, but Struggle is Forecast.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 28.—(Special)—

Politically, perhaps, the biggest event of the week was the resignation of Herman L. Ekern as Deputy Insurance Commissioner. While an attempt has been made by Commissioner Beedle and Mr. Ekern himself to attach little if any significance to the resignation, it is known that the relations between the two have been very strained since it was learned that Ekern would be a candidate for the office held by Beedle.

While this may have contributed something to Ekern's determination to quit office at this time, it is said his real object is to make it possible for him to devote his entire time to the La Follette campaign. Ekern and La Follette have been political cronies for many years and it was Ekern who managed the Presidential campaign of the senior Senator at Chicago last Summer.

That Ekern would cut off his connection with the state administration this early is significant, and is indicative of La Follette's conviction that he will have a hard fight next Summer to retain his hold on the Senatorship.

A factor that politicians of both parties in Wisconsin must reckon with, but which has been given scant attention up to this time, is the position the Society of Equity will take toward individual candidates. Except its officers, no one in the state knows the real strength of the organization, but that it is a power in certain sections of the state, especially in the Northwest, is admitted.

BEQUEST IS CONTESTED

Pacific University Claim Taken to Supreme Court.

ALBANY, Or., Aug. 28.—(Special)— Pacific University must contest in the State Supreme Court for the bequest it received from Robert McCullough in 1892. Attorneys for the defendants today filed in the Circuit Court here a notice of appeal to the higher tribunal in the case of the President and Trustees of Pacific University and Tualatin Academy vs. Emma A. Keene, et al. The value of the bequest is said to be between $1000 and $2000.

When McCullough died in 1892, he devised his Linn County farm to his wife for her life, and provided that upon her death it should go to the Forest Grove school. Mrs. McCullough died in 1900, and in the meantime the devise had become entangled by a number of deeds and mortgages covering portions of the farm.

This suit was filed here August 16, 1906, to quiet the title to the property, and it was strenuously contested by the numerous defendants until April 1 last, when Judge William Galloway rendered a decision in favor of the plaintiffs. The land given to the university is valuable, but a number of mortgages must be paid and other claims settled before a clear title is secured under the decree, and the exact value of the bequest cannot be accurately determined.

UNION WOULD DICTATE

SPOKANE PLUMBERS ISSUE NEW WORKING RULES.

Employers Assert They Will Decline Open Shop Before Accepting Demands.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 28.—(Special)— As a result of communications containing working rules, which were sent yesterday afternoon by the Journeymen Plumbers & Steam & Gasfitters Union to the master plumbers of this city who employ union help, the masters may decide to declare for the open shop.

The masters declare that the old order has changed; that the employees are now laying down rules to the bosses. The innocent pieces of pasteboard which were received by the masters yesterday are the sensation among the plumbers of Spokane today.

The masters assert that if they are obliged to obey the rules to the letter they will be unable to make good on the contracts they now have in hand. It is rumored today that two of the largest shops of the city which now employ union help will declare for the open shop as soon as conditions permit.

The rules, 29 in number, relate to the hours of work, wages and the use of tools. The rules supplant the working agreement which was entered into between the journeymen and masters on April 1 and broken by the journeymen several weeks ago. The masters say that the work which they now have on hand was figured on under the working agreement and that the rules which now have been laid down are much more stringent than the conditions of that agreement.

Loose as it is to be sole althip station for Switzerland, and a station house is to be erected at a cost of $50,000. It is hoped soon to establish regular communication between this town and Friedrichshafen.

WEDDING IS SPOILED

Girl Says She is Beaten and Robbed by Thugs.

SALEM, Or., Aug. 28.—(Special)— Robbed down and beaten by thugs and robbed of her savings on the eve of her marriage was the fate tonight of Pearl E. Ax, according to the girl's own story. Miss Ax, who is 18 years old, was to have been married tonight to James H. Miller. She says while walking on Avignon avenue just at dark this evening she was stopped by two rough-looking men and ordered to hand over her money. When she resisted, she was knocked down and beaten and left unconscious on the sidewalk.

She was picked up by passers-by, application for life through a newspaper man, formerly employed on a Salem paper. The wedding has been postponed.

The police are somewhat skeptical, but are making a thorough investigation.

CESSPOOL YIELDS BODY

Logger Meets Death While in Epileptic Fit.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Aug. 28.—(Special)— The body of E. J. Greely, a logger, who disappeared early Monday morning from the camp of the Chehalis Lumber Company, at Littell, was found this morning in a cesspool near the bunkhouse.

Greely was subject to fits and the presumption is that he fell into the hole while sick. Coroner Sticklin was called, but declared an inquest unnecessary. Greely's body was taken to Centralia, where his parents reside. He was about 35 years old and unmarried.

M'HARG BREAKS OUT

Declares Dreamlike Methods Hamper West.

"UPLIFT" HE SAYS BOSH

Maintains Farmers Are Insulted by Recent Movement—Raps Conservation and Holds There is No Danger Timber Giving Out.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Common sense has been displaced by visionary theories, already proved unsuccessful in the problems of the West development, according to Ormsby McHarg, assistant secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor, who is outspoken in the declaration that too much "dreaming" has been indulged in dealing with the Government irrigation projects and forest conservation policies in the West.

Mr. McHarg handled vigorously the subject of the uplift movement, declaring that to have directed a government of "uplift" among the farmers was an insult to the finest element in the country's body politic and the "absurdest of absurd dreams."

Mr. McHarg in an interview flatly contradicted the assertion of the forest service that the lumber supply of the country will virtually be exhausted in another generation if the present rate of cutting is not curtailed.

"There is enough timber standing in the State of Washington alone to supply the country for 50 years," he declared. Vast supplies remain in other states, said the secretary, sufficient to maintain a supply for a much longer period, which could not and need not be estimated. The abundance of the forests was such that the alarmist's statements as to the approaching exhaustion of the supply were utterly unfounded, he asserted.

"Furthermore," said Mr. McHarg, "the forest service has been put in possession of facts and figures proving the truth of what I say, and it has failed to make them public."

"Methods too dream-like are being pursued in our forest administration. It is attempted to designate what tree the logger may cut down and that which he may not cut down. Knowledge of logging is applied. Men who are doing the practical developing work of the West are hindered and thwarted, and you hear nothing but cursing from them for the present methods of forest conservation."

"Out near Chepewahe recently a woman settler went on a forest reserve and cut rails for a small corral. The forest service have had her indicted for this heinous crime. What do you think the attitude
