WILLIE BOY DEAD

Desperate Piute Murderer Takes Own Life.

LAST SHOT FOR HIMSELF

Surrounded by Posse, He Trips the Trigger of His Rifle With Toe. Body Standing, Sheriff Fires, Thinking Indian Is Alive.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Oct. 16 .-Willie Boy, the Piute Indian double murderer and desperado, for whom three posses of 50 armed men have been scouring the San Bernardino desert, was found dead yesterday on the summit of Bullion Mountain, where he made his final stand. He had killed himself with the last shot from his rifle. The news came by courier and telephone to San Bernardino. The Indian had been dead several days.

At 1 o'clock on the afternoon of October 7. Willie Boy made his stand on the mountain against the pursuing posse of Sheriff Ralphs, after having been relentlessly pursued for ten days across the most barren section of the Western desert. Entrenched behind an ambuscade of rocks, he fired a rain of bullets from his repeating rifle at the members of the posse as they were as cending the mountain, following his trail. The first shot struck Deputy Charles Roche through the hips, des perately wounding him. Two other of-ficers were struck by flying splinters of bullets and chips of rocks and slight-

Three Horses Killed.

Three of the posse's eight horses were killed. Sheriff Ralphs and his men re-turned the fire ineffectually, and the Indian, safely hidden behind his barricade of rocks, laughed derinively at his ene-mies. All that afternoon the posse lay behind shelter, the members not daring to show themselves in the open for fear of drawing the Indian's fire. When nightfail came Sheriff Raiphs and other officers, carrying the wounded deputy, retraced their steps down the mountain. Their food and water supplies were ex-hausted and the men were worn out from loss of sleep.

It was decided to return to San Berardino and secure reinforcements and additional supplies. As the party left the mountain that night, they heard a demoniacal laugh from far up on the mountain summit, where the Indian desperado had made his stand, and a single shot rang out. It was thought then that the Indian, crased by his sufferings and his long pursuit, had slain himself. When the posse returned to the spot yester-day, they found the Indian's body. Memorable Man-Hunt.

The pursuit of the Indian murderer has been the most sensational man hunt oc-curring in the Southwest in recent years. Willie Boy was a member of the tribe of Plute Indians at the Banning reser-vation. He was known as a reckless character and a dead shot with a rifle Among the Indian women he was much of a Lothario, and his frequent love af-fairs finally led him to the killing which him to the desert and finally to

The body of the Indian was found leaning back against a rock with a bul-let hole just below the heart. He had removed one shoe and pulled the trigger with his toe, firing the last shot in his

Constable Ben de Crevecosur was the first officer to see the body. His horse caught sight of it and leaped high in the air. So lifelike was the posture, that the officer fired a shot from his revolved before realizing that the desperado was

Body Is Cremated.

The body was stripped and placed on a high pile of dry brush and cremated. It was 8 o'clock yesterday morning when it was found. As soon as the discovery was made, other officers rushed to the spot and surrounded it. The body of the Indian was stripped of everything possible in the way of souvenirs. Boulder Mountain had been surrounded early yesterday by a posse of 20 men and an advance ordered. Not until the summit was reached was the body dis-covered. The Indian had evidently watched the retreating officers on Octo-ber 7, saying his last shot for himself. Apparently he had believed that the offibers would surround the mountain that night and attack him at daybreak, and he had caimly executed his plans for Twenty pounds of provisions were found beside the body.
