

GOING TO HAVE SOCKEYES PLANTED

Government to Send 2,000,000 Eggs From Yes Bay to Bonneville Hatchery.

OREGON WINS BIG VICTORY

Stocking of Stream With This Fish Means State Will Be Able to Compete With Fraser River and Puget Sound in World.

As the result of a strong and persistent appeal by Oregon's Master Fish Warden, Harry C. McAllister, the Government has decided for the first time in the history of the fishing industry of the Northwest to stock the Columbia River with Sockeye salmon.

This is the most important advancement of this great industry that has been made in years. In the first place it is a sequel of one of the picturesque tragedies that sometimes befall the denizens of the sea.

The steady and rapid disappearance of the blueback, a kindred of the sockeye, has been one of the tragedies of nature which the United States Fisheries Department has had to cope with.

This situation struck home with great force when Master Fish Warden McAllister called attention to it to Federal Fish Commissioner Bowers yesterday.

Aside from the fact that this is a victory for Oregon in having the Government undertake such an important experiment in the fishing industry of this state, the replanting of the Columbia with this variety of eggs means that it will have a chance to compete in the world markets with the Puget Sound and Fraser River fisheries.

The Government, under the direction of Fish Commissioner Bowers, will watch the course and progress of this experiment and before leaving here last night for Baird, Cal., where he is to inspect the largest Federal salmon and trout hatchery in the world, he left instructions with Henry O. Malley, the Government superintendent of fisheries for Oregon, to make complete and detailed reports as to the success or failure of the scheme to re-stock the Columbia with this species of salmon.

Wallowa Dam to Remain. United States Fish Commissioner Bowers came here from Puget Sound yesterday, where he had spent some time in locating the seven new fish hatcheries provided under an act of the last session of Congress.

Commissioner Bowers and Fish Warden McAllister visited and inspected the Clackamas hatchery yesterday morning and the management was highly complimented by the head of the Government service.

As the guest of Warden McAllister, Commissioner Bowers and State Superintendent Malley spent the afternoon on an inspection trip of the local harbor on board the launch Astoria. A tug was made down the Willamette, to its mouth and back again.

this state has been able to make, the bluebacks have been vanishing at such a rate there are but few of them left. Commissioner Bowers was greatly interested in this situation, and after I put the matter squarely before him he agreed to give us 2,000,000 sockeye eggs from the Yes Bay hatchery.

JORDAN QUILTS PASTORATE

Baptist Preacher May Become Superintendent of Missions.

Rev. W. T. Jordan, who has been pastor of the Central Baptist Church, East Ankeny and East Twentieth streets for the past four years, has resigned from the pastorate, and will leave that church in about one month.

superintendent of city missions, recently vacated by Rev. John Bentzen. Dr. Jordan has had a long and successful career in the ministry and also as an educator.

Some time ago, after the resignation of Rev. S. C. Lapham, of the Second Baptist Church, out of which the Central Church was formed, there were negotiations for the reunion of the two churches, with Dr. Jordan as pastor, as it was considered that there should not be two Baptist Churches so close together.

EXCURSION PLAN WANTED

Transcontinental Passenger Association to Be Requested to Grant Privilege for Ten Days Preceding Celebration Week.

For the first time since the Lewis and Clark Exposition, Portland is preparing to ask the Transcontinental Passenger Association for special reduced round-trip rates from all points in the East to the Pacific Northwest.

The plan is to make a request through the passenger traffic officials of the Hill and Harriman lines centering in Portland at the next regular quarterly meeting of the Transcontinental Association in Chicago.

Conventions Are Few

Strongest pressure will be brought to bear to get this concession, for the reason that none of the Pacific Coast cities has a regular annual celebration of its own—nothing, in fact, that could be compared as a drawing-card for tourist business or pleasure-seekers from the East.

While out shopping yesterday morning about 10 o'clock Jessie and Marion Standish, who have been on the bill at the Orpheum the past week, lost their railroad tickets, which read to Lincoln, Neb., and consequently their journey, which was scheduled to start this morning, will be postponed a day or two.

will consist of 23 members and of the group that has agreed to serve not a single one failed to speak of the splendid success of the last festival or of the lasting benefit that such civic celebrations mean to Portland.

The committees of the festival organization on which President Hoyt greatly desires "born quakers" to serve are the decoration and illumination committees. The lesson learned from his recent visit to a number of big festivals in the Middle West is that the most distinctive hit made was through a uniform and systematic scheme of decoration of streets, building fronts and interiors for daylight "stunts" and illuminating effects for the night programs.

SALE TO BE CONCLUDED

United Railways to Close Deals Here Tomorrow.

Morris Thompson, vice-president of the United Railways, who arrived in Portland from Seattle yesterday to look after some personal business, said that the sale of the railroad company he represents is to be closed at a meeting of the board of directors to be held in this city tomorrow.

"All Works of Taste must bear a price in Proportion to the Skill, Taste, Time, Expense and Risk attending their Invention and Manufacture. Those things called Cheap are when justly examined the Cheapest: they are attended with much less Profit to the Artist than those which Everybody calls Cheap. Beautiful forms and Compositions are not made by Chance, nor can they ever, in any Material, be made at small Expense. A Composition for Cheapness and not for Excellence of Workmanship, is the most frequent and certain cause of the rapid Decay and entire Destruction of Arts and Manufactures." - Ruskin -
