MOROS BUY GUNS

Revenue Service Inadequate to Prevent Smuggling.

OPIMUM TRAFFIC INCREASES

Lieutenant Evans, Returning From Philippines, Describes Conditions in Islands and Blames Native Assembly for Law-Breaking.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—That modern magazine rifles of high power, together with quantities of ammunition, are being run into the Philippines by wholesale and sold to the bloodthirsty Moros, while the American Revenue Protective Service is most inadequately equipped for dealing with the dangerous traffic, is the word brought by Lieutenant J. Evans, of the United States Revenue Service, who reached this city a few days ago, after many months fighting the gun-runners and the opium smugglers in the Southern Philippines, Cebu being his headquarters. Lieutenant Evans states that the smuggling of opium since its sale or manufacture in the islands has been forbidden, has become very extensive and a vast amount of the contraband is now being run, owing to the high price to which the illicit drug has been boosted by the restrictive measures. Opium now sells for $12 a tael, about 7 1/2 grammes, in the islands, and the profits to be made have produced many smugglers. There have been a number of important captures, the largest being the seizure at Manila of $3,000 worth of opium, landed secretly in shuffling of machinery and the hollow drum of a which consigned to the Paracels Mining Company, in connection with which two American citizens, Louisou Gray and William Kennedy, are under arrest. The opium would probably never have been found but for the Chinese for whom it was smuggled. Hoping the revenue officers when they failed to secure the drug for less than the smugglers had paid for it. The Chinese in effect doubling-crossed the opium runners, thinking to blackmail them into giving up the smuggled opium for less than cost.

was one of the chief gun-runners, but he was killed by Jikri, the outlaw, when his band was annihilated some months ago. Many remain, however, to carry on the work. The Philippine Assembly backs the efforts to put down the contraband traffic, according to Lieutenant Evans. The revenue officers have only a small Spanish gunboat, one of the small vessels captured during the war, an out-of-date life-boat, which steams about seven knots and can scarcely overhaul a prahu, to combat the gun-running and smuggling among the many hundreds of small islands of the group. Efforts have been made again and again to secure an appropriation for three fast cruisers for revenue service, but the Philippine Assembly has always been unable successfully to prevent the passing of an appropriation for this purpose. The Philippines on the whole are far from loyal, says Lieutenant Evans. There will be no insurrection of consequence, owing to the manner in which the United States has control of the islands, but there will be sporadic outbreaks. "Do you know that when a band concert takes place in Manila by a native band," he says, "instead of ending the programme with the 'Star-Spangled Banner,' the Filipinos play Aginaldo's march, and all come to attention and all take off their hats?"

10,000 GARMENTS WANTED

Miss R. K. Bender to Address Portland's Needlework Guild. Miss R. K. Bender, National Secretary of the Needlework Guild of America, will address an open meeting of the Portland branch next Thursday afternoon at 5 P. M. in the Y. W. C. A. hall. In her address, Miss Bender will urge increased activity among members of the Portland branch and will ask that an effort be made to furnish during the coming year 10,000 garments instead of 2000, the number supplied the different charitable institutions last year by the Portland women. Arrangements will be made during the meeting to hold meetings in different parts of the city this Winter for the purpose of encouraging the work of the guild. It is expected that Miss I. W. Cremon, secretary of the Portland society, will take general charge of the proposed meetings. The guild accepts anything in the way of garments that are new and can be worn. Last year there was a shortage of infants' and men's clothes and shoes, and a special effort will be made this season to collect a supply of these articles. Twenty institutions are supplied by the Portland guild. A private meeting of the sectional presidents will be held Tuesday morning at the Y. W. C. A. to formulate plans for work. Miss Bender is located at the Seward Hotel. Pastor's Son Dies. ALBANY, Or., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Stephen A. Douglas, Jr., son of Rev. E. A. Douglas, pastor of the First Baptist Church, of Albany, died today after a long illness with tubercular meningitis, at the age of 6 years.

Labor Federation Hears More Reasons for Industrial Education. Same Training for Rich and Poor Alike.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Social and industrial conditions in the United States demand that industrial education for rich and poor alike should be democratic. This conclusion was reached by many leaders of workmen and industrial educators addressing the American Federation of Labor's committee on industrial education today. Suggesting that European countries were far ahead of the United States in the matter of fitting young girls and boys for a trade, Charles F. Richards, of New York City, originator of the National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education, argued that the committee should fight for a plan that would relieve the American schoolboy of the confusing plight of not knowing what to do when turned away from school. He declared that more than one-fourth of the boys left the public schools in New York before graduation because they "were sick of it." This he regarded as due to lack of industrial training. President James D. Neenan, of the Federation, strongly endorsed the proposition of introducing industrial training into the last grades of the grammar schools.

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—Samuel Pettengill, a journalist, died today in Vermont. Samuel Pettengill, who died yesterday in Vermont, was in Portland some 25 years ago and for a time was a writer on The Oregonian. He also was employed for a time on the newspapers of Tacoma. He was a man of noticeable individuality, but couldn't accommodate himself to the requirements of Western journalism, yet "Sam" Pettengill had many likable qualities. He was a typical Yankee and drifted back to Vermont, where he spent the last years of his life.
