NEW ORGAN IS DEDICATED

Musical Held in First Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

One of the notable events of the local musical season took place last Wednesday night at the First Methodist Episcopal Church (South), Union avenue and Multnomah street, when a concert and organ recital were given to mark the inauguration of the new $7000 Kimball pipe organ installed by the Eilers Music House. The church was filled to the doors by an appreciative audience. Vocal music was rendered in artistic style by Mrs. Rose Bloch Bauer, soprano, and Dom J. Zan, baritone, and Waldemar Lind gave violin solos and F. Sorenson cello solos, all with excellent effect.

Frederick W. Goodrich, organist of St. Mary's Cathedral, who designed the new pipe organ, played a number of solos which showed very satisfactorily the capabilities of the instrument, and the latter was pronounced to be one of the best and most up-to-date pipe organs west of Chicago. Each number sung or played was received with warm applause. The new pipe organ referred to has three manuals, 1078 pipes, about 30 stops of movement, several combination pistons, and its tubular-pneumatic action is most admirable and easily operated. One of the special features of the registration is one beautifully speaking vox-celeste stop, and when it is played, one unconsciously thinks of better things and the glory of a cathedral service.

Mr. Goodrich is also drawing specifications for the new pipe organ which is shortly to be installed under his direction at St. Francis' Catholic Church, East Eleventh and East Oak streets. The plans show that the instrument will be built in two portions, one played in the gallery and another in the sanctuary, and both played at the same time when the organist so wills it.
