

DOGS RUN DOWN FLEEING CONVICTS

Two Trustees, Who Escape From Salem Penitentiary, Are Caught Quickly.

GUARD RAISES HIS RIFLE

Fugitives, Worn Out by Five-Mile Flight, Readily Surrender and Are Back in Cells Within Few Hours.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 30.—(Special)—Prompt pursuit by the prison officials and the splendid behavior of the prison bloodhounds foiled the escape of two convicts at the State Penitentiary this afternoon. The convicts were Thomas Copp, sent up from Linn County last March to serve one year, and H. C. Alexander, who was received last June from Baker County to serve one year. They were trusted and were employed on the farm just across the road from the prison. Soon after being taken out to work after one o'clock the two convicts started on a run toward the south. They paid no attention to the shouts of the attendants, who were unarmed. Guard Mark Gage, who had charge of the dogs, was called and a number of armed guards were ready in a few minutes to take the trail. The dogs took the scent at once and held it until the men were captured, notwithstanding the fleeing convicts waded across and traveled through swamps to throw the dogs off the scent. A short distance south of the Penitentiary the convicts concealed themselves in the thick underbrush, and no doubt would have been passed by but for the dogs, who frightened the men from their cover and sent them scurrying on through brush toward the south. When just opposite the Reform School about five miles from the Penitentiary, Guard Busick caught sight of the convicts and promptly covered them with his rifle, ordering them to throw up their hands. The command was complied with instantly, and the nearly exhausted men were soon on their way back to their cells. The entire episode had consumed less than two and one-half hours. Recently the prison management adopted a new method of training and caring for the bloodhounds, and the result was shown in the speedy capture of the two men today.

200 or 250 names will be necessary. The petitioners are the removal of the said N. S. Pratt, as petitioner, are his utter failure to meet the wishes of the people in the matter of the building of the extensions to the city water plant.

Constipation And Appendicitis Facts About

The Latter Usually Caused by the Former, Which, in Turn, Has Its Origin in Intestinal Indigestion. Chronic constipation is a disease which is about as prevalent as dyspepsia and indigestion. Nearly every one suffers from it occasionally, but there are millions of people who habitually habituate themselves to a life of resort to the use of laxatives and cathartics daily. Many people seemed to have developed a habit of taking pills, and instead of trying to ascertain the latent cause of the disease, and removing it by appropriate treatment, they merely continue the reckless use of laxatives, aperients, drastic cathartics and violent purgatives, until finally inflammation of the bowels occurs, which reaches the appendix, and the result is appendicitis. In investigating and tracing the causative factors of constipation and its frequent sequel, appendicitis, it has been noted by physicians that the majority of cases were preceded and accompanied by a long-standing gastrointestinal indigestion.
