

GOLDEN RIVER TO BE EXAMINED

Members of Waterway Commission to Travel Up Great Stream.

WILL TELL WHAT'S NEEDED

Subcommittee Coming to Portland After Having Examined All Great Rivers of Europe to Collect Facts.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—A sub-committee of five members of the National Inland Waterways commission will investigate the Columbia River probably late this fall for the purpose of reporting to the whole commission physical conditions that prevail on the river, in its ports and among vessels which ply it.

Compare With Europe's Rivers. The commission considers the Columbia the most important object of its attention west of the Mississippi River, on the descent of which the whole commission left this morning.

The commission has just returned from a six months' tour on the important waterways of Germany, Austria, Hungary, Holland, Belgium, France, Great Britain and other European countries. While there they visited the main rivers of the Rhine, Rhine and other streams (issuing into the ocean where some trouble with bar formation is met). The sub-committee will compare the conditions prevailing at the mouth of the Columbia with their observations in Europe. Their trip from Portland up the river will be attended with much the same investigation as is being pursued now on their trip down the Mississippi River.

Starts Down Mississippi.

The commission assembled in St. Paul yesterday and boarded the Government snagboat David Tipton this morning at 8 o'clock to descend the Father of Waters. The commission is to arrive in New Orleans November 12. The commission will ascend a short distance both the Illinois and Missouri Rivers. The Ohio will be left to a sub-committee later in the year. The commission was joined at St. Paul by Major A. S. Riche, of the Government arsenal at Rock Island, Ill., who has charge of the Government dredge, snag and light boats on the Mississippi River. Colonel Baber, chairman of the Mississippi River Commission, also joined them, and they will be joined at St. Louis by other members of the commission, who will accompany them to New Orleans. The David Tipton will also be prepared to take aboard delegations from St. Paul, Dubuque, Keokuk and other river ports.

CUMMINS HITS AT CANNON

member of the famed brigade of which the poet sang.

"Cannon to right of them, Cannon to left of them, Volley and fire, Cannon to the right of them."

Reduce Power of Leaders.

He recalled the fidelity of Iowa to the Republican party and resented the charge of infidelity. He was willing to accept an arbiter as to the qualifications of a Republican, but it would not be Aldrich or Cannon. He admitted they were Republicans, and had no disposition to expel them from the Republican party, but he would expel those men from the party who are in sympathy with the course pursued by the insurgents to take the power from the hands of the party leaders.

Fight Within Republican Lines.

He declared the charge that the insurgents had joined hands with the Democratic party to be "sway and a blind passion and a senseless prejudice." He protested that they would be faithful to the Republican party and continued:

"The struggle will be within the lines, but they will not hide the truth as they see it. They will know that, if the Republican party is to be permanently saved, it must be faithful to its platform, and must meet courageously and justly the new age of commerce and industry. It cannot any longer be progressive in its platform and stand pat in its program."

He accepted as arbiter as to the Republican party of those who voted against the tariff bill the National Republican platform of 1888 and said the Republican voters would decide whether their votes were in accordance with it. He said Cannon's theory that the minority of the party who voted against the tariff bill were "rebelling against the party" was "a mere sophism and a degree that it provokes no debate but derision." He continued:

Democrats Are Incapable.

"There need be no concern about the attitude of the Democrats and their friends. They will do their best to nominate candidates who believe in a progressive Republican party. When their nominees will rejoice because a step will have been taken in the path of reform. When they fail, they will be Republicans, for if they ever was a time when there was absolutely no reason for transferring any branch of Government to Democratic hands, this is the time. Individually, I have high regard for the integrity and patriotism of many of the Democratic senators and Representatives in Congress, but collectively they are more interested in the history of the organization. Nevertheless, we do not intend ever to accept as an arbiter of the tariff against which we voted, and we do intend to tell the people of the country from time to time why we do not and did not give the bill our approval."

Tariff Commission Only Way.

Discussing the tariff bill in detail Mr. Cummins advocated a tariff commission, saying:

"There never can be a genuine Republican tariff commission unless it is a body of independent men, shall inquire into and collect the facts which relate to the cost of production of goods and services. The crusade which I intend to strengthen with all my power is a crusade for a tariff commission—a permanent, dignified and independent tariff commission; a tariff commission that will gather together the facts as to cost of production and lay them before Congress and the country."

Boss of Senate Says That Is More Important Than Note Issue and Only Hint at Possibility of Central Bank.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, of Rhode Island, tonight in an address before the Chicago Commercial Club delivered the first of a series of speeches which he is to make throughout the Middle West on the subject of currency reform. Mr. Aldrich is chairman of the commission appointed by Congress to make a comprehensive study of a monetary system for the United States.

To those who expected Mr. Aldrich to use the occasion for the promulgation of the central bank project, or any other plan of National Finance, his speech must have been in the nature of a surprise. He declared at the outset that "the question of a definite plan for reforming the currency has not yet been taken up by the commission," and added that no plan would be adopted "until after an opportunity had been afforded for the most careful and exhaustive study of all the conditions that surround the problem."

Dazzling Teeth Enhance Charms

Hardly a day passes that we do not receive one or more letters from patients who are congratulating themselves and us on their new ALVEOLAR TEETH. A lady recently wrote in and told us that her teeth were so natural looking and beautiful that they had rejuvenated her face. Her friends and those who did not know her but who were completely mystified at the wonderful change in her looks. This was the burden of her long and thanksgiving letters. It may be used in exactly the same way that one can use nature's teeth. We wish to impress once upon your mind or readers that in supplying these teeth we perform no surgical operation and do not bore or cut into the gum tissue. There is nothing about the proposition that is to be feared. The very strength of the method lies in its simplicity and its conformity with nature's laws.
