NET TIGHTENS ON MME. STEINHEIL

Former Servant of Accused Woman Repeats Story of Finding Bodies.

TESTIMONY IS DAMAGING

Defendant Interrupts Proceedings to Repeatedly Deny Story of ex-Employee—Prisoner Grows Nervous in Court.

PARIS, Nov. 6.—Madame Steinheil, who was led from the courtroom yesterday, was not called to the stand when her trial was resumed today.

The first witness called today was Remy Couillard, formerly a servant in the Steinheil household, and now in the military service. He appeared in his Dragoon's uniform. It was Couillard who discovered Mme. Steinheil bound and gagged, in her bed and the bodies of her husband and stepmother in adjoining rooms. He recounted today the story which he had previously told the police. In his examination, special emphasis was laid on the way Madame Steinheil was found.

Arrested on Suspicion. Soon after the crime Couillard left the service of Mme. Steinheil and on November 21, 1908, he was arrested on suspicion of complicity therewith. A pearl, which Madame Steinheil claimed was stolen at the time of the murders, had been found in his pocket, but after he had been held in jail for several days he was released on Mme. Steinheil's confession that she had put the jewel in his pocket.

Couillard's testimony was damaging to the defendant. He insisted that when he found Mme. Steinheil she told him only of a burglary, making no mention of her husband and stepdaughter, who lay dead in their rooms. He said the gag was not in her mouth, but near the pillow on which her head rested. Her hands were tied in front of her and not behind her back, as she had testified, the witness said, and the ropes about her wrists and ankles were loosely bound.

Telephone Cures Illness. Moreover, the witness said that after the police had arrived and the woman had told them the story of the murders, the telephone bell rang, whereupon Mme. Steinheil, who had been feigning illness and pain, ordered him from the room, and, springing from her bed, answered the telephone. During this testimony the prisoner interrupted repeatedly, denying most of Couillard's statements as far as he made them.

FLOATING VOTE IS FEARED

Mining Camp Employees May Decide Local Option Issue.

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—The local option election in Stevens County may bring a surprise. The liquor men have manifested no activity. The messengers sent out with the supplies for the election was surprised to learn that an election was to be held, for they knew nothing of such an election until the supplies were placed in their hands. Since a similar lack of interest brought out only 1712 votes at the bond election, including the vote cast by electors in all incorporated towns, it has dawned upon the dry forces that the apathy will bring out few votes except the electors of the incorporated town. Local option leaders have discovered that the balance of power may be wielded by a large floating vote in the mining camps about Northport, Orient and the Metallis, augmented by several men from the railroad camps in the Pend d'Oreille Valley.

WIFE DESERTER IS SLAIN

Meets Horrible Death in Wreck on Logging Railroad.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Quick retribution came to John McKenzie, a former fireman of White Plains, N. Y., charged with deserting his wife and three children on the streets of Seattle, if the McKenzie decapitated in an accident near South Bend Thursday is the missing man. From the description of the man killed and the man charged with desertion, the humane officers who have been conducting the case here believe he is the same man. The accident happened in the vicinity where McKenzie is believed to have gone, and other facts in connection with their sheep and goats. Some of the sportsmen from here went in search of the bear, but either got scared or it rained too hard, as they returned empty handed.

Hunters Fall to Find Bear.

COTTAGE GROVE, Or., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Some of the farmers living eight miles south of here reported that they are being harassed by bears killing their sheep and goats. Some of the sportsmen from here went in search of the bear, but either got scared or it rained too hard, as they returned empty handed.

$500,000 HIS LOT

Warriner Lost All in Speculation and Blackmail.

TWO WOMEN ARE ACCUSED

They and One Man Got $80,000 From Warriner, Who Talks of Comely Widow—After Confessing He Denies Charges.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 6.—An official of the Big Four Railroad stated tonight that the defalcations for which ex-Treasurer Charles L. Warriner has been arrested would be far in excess of $100,000. According to his estimate, it will reach nearly $500,000.

Eighty thousand dollars is said to have been paid in blackmail. Two women and a man are mentioned as the blackmailers. Detectives are shadowing one of the women, who lives in Cincinnati, but it is stated that the railroad company does not intend to have her arrested, but will try to get her as a witness for the state. Warriner, who is charged with appropriating $54,000, was released from custody late today on a bond of $20,000. During the day, Warriner made a remarkable change of front. In the afternoon he gave out a statement admitting his responsibility for the shortage, but declaring there were others in it. Later he changed tactics and declared that he admitted nothing. This later declaration is taken to mean that he intends to force his alleged partners in guilt into the open.

Makes Good Part of Shortage.

The $54,000 named in the warrant for Warriner's arrest represents the present amount owing to the railroad company and not the entire amount of the shortage. The balance, according to the statement of General Counsel Hackney, has been covered by property that Warriner has turned over to the company. Mr. Hackney also stated: "Mr. Warriner has with considerable frankness admitted the irregularities in his accounts. He has undertaken to account for the disappearance of the moneys taken: "First, through speculation. "Second, through efforts to recover the losses sustained in such speculations. "Third, through blackmail levied upon him by a former employee, who claimed to know of some such irregularities. "Fourth, through blackmail levied upon him by a woman. "I am glad to have been found out," said Warriner, who in charge of a defective, was leaving the Sinton Hotel. "I am not alone in this. And, another thing, I never played a game of poker in my life. There is no woman in the case; that is, as far as I am concerned." Warriner, it is said, first took money to speculate in wheat. He declared he has not a cent in the world but that friends will aid him. James E. Robinson, prominent attorney of this city, an old friend and personal counsel of Warriner, said tonight in answer to a direct question: "Warriner simply said others were involved in this case with him; he did not say whether he meant railroad officials by the remark. I don't know whether he meant every man and woman."

When Mr. Robinson was asked pointedly whether or not other railroad officials would be involved in any way, he declined to answer. "I have not carefully read or considered the formal charges made against my client," said Mr. Robinson. "I will say this, however: Mr. Warriner's case has been poorly managed. He should have sent for me before making that trip to New York to submit to an inquisition. Quizzed by Officials. "He went on there alone with no legal representative or even a friend accompanying him. While at the headquarters of the New York Central Railroad, he was quizzed, cross-examined and put through all kinds of trying tests. "Had he seen me first there would have been a different programme carried out. He would not have gone to New York at all. He would not have been arrested. That a Chicago woman, Mrs. Jeanette T. Ford, who, through a series of escapades, has been for six years a target for publicity, gave information to the Cincinnati authorities that led to the uncovering of the defalcation from the Big Four Railroad, resulting in the confession of C. L. Warriner, the treasurer of the road, and involving E. S. Cooke, of Chicago, was the assertion of Cooke's friends today. Cincinnati was the former home of Mrs. Ford, and she is believed to be the "comely widow" spoken of in the confession of Warriner.

CHICAGO MAN'S NAME HEARD

Edward S. Cooke Accused of Blackmailing Railroad Man. CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The Tribune this morning says: "A Chicago man, Edgar S. Cooke, was accused yesterday by C. S. Warriner, treasurer of the Big Four Railroad, of blackmailing him out of $100,000. "Warriner is charged with the shortage of a large sum from the treasury of the Big Four Railroad. He claims that Cooke surmised his secret and thereafter lived upon the profits of his information. "Cooke, through his attorney, last night made indignant denial of complicity or knowledge. He said his acquaintance with Warriner ceased several years ago."

STIR IS EXPECTED

Taft to Shake Things Up When He Returns.

PARAMOUNT ISSUE DARK

Administration's Recommendations to Coming Congress Remain Secret—Cabinet Departments Are in Chaotic State.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—The return of President Taft to Washington next Wednesday is expected to put an end to the policy of delay which has dominated the Taft Administration since the passage of the tariff bill last August. Since the departure of the President and almost his entire Cabinet from Washington many matters of great importance have been postponed for settlement pending their return. At present nobody in Washington pretends to know what the Taft administration expects to ask for passage at the coming Congress. The meeting of that body is only a month off and yet the paramount issue of the Administration is not yet apparent. The State Department presents the most chaotic condition of any of the executive departments, as a result of the policy of delay. Changes in the diplomatic corps at London, Paris and Pekin are on the table and the new Far Eastern and Latin American bureaus are yet to be put on a working basis. In the absence of Secretary Nagel the Department of Commerce and Labor is administered by Solicitor Earl, who is acting Secretary since Ormsby Mitchell, the Assistant Secretary, resigned. The customs division of the Treasury Department, which administers the new tariff law, is being supervised by Charles D. Hillis, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. In addition to his regular duties, which are in themselves onerous. It is understood here that this history of public activity on the part of higher officials of the Administration has not been without result. Practically all of them, from the President down, have been giving close study during Summer months to departmental affairs with a view to outlining a definite Administration policy in each.

FANS' EYES ON MEMPHIS

National Commission Will Decide on Admitting California League.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 6.—The attention of the baseball world will be attracted to Memphis Monday, when the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues convenes in annual session in conjunction with the National Board of Arbitration. The National Commission has 69 cases to be disposed of. The important case Monday is that involving the admission of the California State League, now an outlaw organization. A successor to Acting President Seaton, who was named to fill the unexpired term of President Powers, will be named.
