New Arrivals in the Furniture Displays

The showing of dining-room furniture has been greatly strengthened in the past few days by the addition of new designs in dining tables and buffets, in the fumed oak and the dull-finished golden oak, the tables in both round and square patterns, with pedestal bases. The round tables with 54-inch and 60-inch tops, with the "duostyle" extension, making it possible to extend the table to six feet without dividing the pedestal. If the table is to be extended further, it can be done by simply unlocking the pedestal.

Other new pieces recently placed on the furniture floors are ladies' Desks and Music Cabinets, completing a showing that should interest those who desire to choose such a piece as a holiday gift.

The new Brass Beds and Brass Cribs are the handsomest styles we have ever shown—splendid examples of the metal craftsman's art. There are the square and round-tube patterns, with many new artistic features in design.

Period Reproductions

—the Fifth-Floor Display includes many fine examples

They are true interpretations of the work of those who were identified with the earlier manufacture of fine furniture—whose designs have been handed down from generation to generation and are still accepted by the master designers of today as distinctive and correct. Chippendale, Hepplewhite and Sheraton, the three great 18th century designers, undoubtedly stand foremost in the history of fine furniture making and designing, and there are many reproductions of their most famous pieces that are shown on our floors. Of these we mention in particular the chairs, very proper seating pieces for living room, library and hall.

Our present showing of high-grade furniture for the living-room and library—the large luxurious overstuffed chairs and davenport—should interest those who appreciate the comfort and style afforded in such pieces as these.

Four Poster Beds

A bedroom furnished with a four-poster bed and other corresponding pieces breathes the spirit of Colonial and Independence days and is decidedly proper in any American home. Distinctive features of the four-poster are the carved columns, the claw feet, the pineapple finials and in appearance massive and heavy. Made in mahogany and crotch mahogany it conveys an impression of strength and rich simplicity. The reproductions by Berkey & Gay are considered the best. A number of designs in four-poster beds, as well as many other fine pieces bearing the Berkey & Gay shopmark, are shown on our furniture floors.

An Importation From the Leading German Toy Shops

Just as fast as possible we are adding new things from "Toyland." The past week has been one of activity, and as each day progresses we note that many new arrivals have taken their places on this or that table. It's a whole store in itself, this new department with the newest of all that the toymaker's art has conceived to gladden the hearts of the "little folks." The mechanical novelties—reproducing in miniature automobiles, steam-boats, steam engines, motor-boats, road rollers, sewing machines, printing presses, trolley cars, merry-go-rounds, etc., are here in wonderful variety. And vehicles, there are rows and rows of them—auto vehicles, express wagons, coasters, doll carts, etc.

Moore's Airtight Oak Burns Coal or Wood —has everlasting Fire Pot

One Style From the Great Line of Moore's Heating Stoves

"Moore's Air-Tight Oak is called air-tight because every joint below the fire is ground by means of special machinery, to an absolute surface. Such construction means absolute control of air at all times. This stove heats the entire room quickly, and it heats the floor as well, for the reason that the large handsomely nicked reflector-ring throws the heat, which is radiated from the fire-pot, down to the floor and warms it in all directions. The feed door is large and the firelight showing through the large mica section adds greatly to the general cheerfulness and comfortable feeling. The question of economy is solved in the Moore's Airtight Oak. Five sizes—from $23.50 up.

Moore's "Firekeeper"—an air-tight heater for wood only; has many desirable features not found in the ordinary air-tight stove. Three sizes, from $11.50 up. "Gem" air-tight heaters, in three sizes, from $5.75 up. We have other air-tight heating stoves as low as $2.25.
