

DAVIDOR TRAIL HOT

Canada Mounted Police Watch
Boundary for Fugitive.

REAL ESTATE MEN ROUSED

Effect of Swindling Operations Already Felt in Current Business.
Formation of Protective Association Is Likely.

Canada's famous mounted police force is reported to be beating the brush bordering the line between the United States and the Dominion in search of S. V. Davidor, late real estate promoter of Portland, and dealer in Lincoln County farm lands, who became a fugitive from justice last Wednesday afternoon.

In the belief that he may have taken the shortest route to a foreign land, the Canadian police force was notified that a warrant had been issued for Davidor and his photograph has been supplied. The police force of Canada has been the recipients of several favors at the hands of Oregon officials and has wired its intention of arresting Davidor if he set foot on that side of the line.

Legitimate real estate dealers of Oregon are becoming greatly interested in the suppression of agents and companies which may be engaged in illegitimate dealing in lands, and it is probable that a meeting will be held soon to devise some plan of operating against them. What plan will be adopted has not been determined upon, but the influence of "Davidor deals" is said to have been perniciously felt in closing transactions this week.

That some protective organization will be the outgrowth of this affair seems certain.

LIEUTENANT SEEKS OVERCOAT

Clothing Given by Uncle Sam Is Object of Inquiry.

United States Marshal Reed and District Attorney McCourt have declined to become parties to the detective work necessary to determine what has become of a number of military overcoats said to have been disposed of by soldiers from Vancouver Barracks. Lieutenant Berger, of the Oregon National Guard, quartermaster's department, is of the opinion that some soldier has taken up the matter to determine whether any of the coats now seen on the civilian backs of Portlanders were secured from the Guard or from the regulars. The Oregon officer called at the Federal building yesterday with the information that he had located some of the overcoats, and that they were being used by automobile chauffeurs in this city. He was referred to the War Department and to the officers of the Municipal Court.

Under the Federal law it is said that any commissioned officer of the Army may seize the overcoats if he finds them in the hands of a civilian, while any state officer may do likewise, the penalties for both selling and purchasing the goods being most severe. Oregon has a special statute dealing with the possession of Government equipment.

It is believed that most of the overcoats have been left by soldiers from the Vancouver Barracks who have become temporarily embarrassed for funds while visiting Portland, and it is understood that the matter will receive attention from the commandant.

EACH CLERK TO HAVE SAFE

Postmaster Has Scheme to Check Up on Employees.

In order that responsibility may be placed should any future defalcation occur in the Portland Postoffice, Postmaster Young has devised a scheme of providing each clerk with a small safe or money box with a separate key. The combination to each safe lock will be known only to the clerk who has charge of that money box, and a duplicate, sealed and unopened, will remain in the safe of the postmaster. Should anything go wrong, the sealed list of figures will be opened and delivered to the inspectors, who will open the doors.

Three of the new safes have arrived and are installed in the retail stamp division, one for each of the clerks employed.

In carrying out this plan another money safe will be supplied for the use of the cashier, where he will deposit all stamped paper and cash he receives. No other clerk in the office of the cashier will be allowed to have access to that strong box, the books and accounts being placed in the old safe, which has been all purposes for many years. It has been shipped from Washington. All the new safes are declared to be burglar-proof and impervious to fire.

A local regulation now in effect requires a cash balance sheet to be submitted to the postmaster at the close of business each evening.

MAN THOUGHT SLAIN, ALIVE

Charles Mickels Not Murdered.
Letter on Dead Stolen.

PENDLETON, Or., Nov. 27.—It developed today that the name of the man so brutally murdered near Unatilla Wednesday is not Charles Mickels. Though that is the name on the letter found in his overcoat pocket, it was ascertained this morning that the letter was written to Charles Mickels, a well-known young man of Phil Rock, who was married last Wednesday afternoon. The letter was either lost by Mickels or stolen from his coat pocket. It may have been stolen by the man murdered but the officers are working on the theory that it was taken by the murderer.

There is, therefore, no clue to the identity of the murdered man or his assailants but the officers believe the victim was a man with considerable money and that robbery was the motive for the crime. They are working on that theory.

EUTERPEANS WIN PRAISE

Grouping of Artistic Emotions Arouses Enthusiasm.

If anything were needed to increase the enthusiasm of the members of the Euterpean Society and assure the public of the great value of this organization, the programme given Tuesday evening at the White Temple Baptist Church would have supplied it. Classical masterpieces in painting, poetry and music were made intelligible, regardless of special knowledge of these arts. The attendance was estimated at 1000.

Rev. Luther R. Dyett, after an earnest appeal for the kind of culture for which the society stands, devoted his remarks to the founder, Wilber M. Derthick, of Chicago, and to the efforts and achievements of the National organizer, Francis Eaton, during his stay in Portland. Mr. Eaton delivered a brief address on "Euterpean Ideals," explaining the principles upon which the system is founded. The first number, "A Test in Listening," presenting the "Dance Macabre" of Saint Saens as a piano duo, fixed the mood of the occasion, and prepared the minds of the listeners for the series of pictures, poems and musical works that followed. The duo was well interpreted by Miss Frances Batchelor and Mrs. Carey J. McCracken, and made luminous by the poetic analysis of Edward Baxter Perry.

Mrs. Rose Bloch-Bauer and Mrs. Rose Courten-Red sang with artistic finish and fidelity, the great "Ave Maria" of Bach, Gounod and Schubert, accompanied by Mr. Boune and Mr. Lind with pipe-organ and violin, illustrating the motive of the famous Madonna pictures shown through the stereopticon.

In this way, too, was shown the deft union of poetry with painting, when, as the famous peasant creations of Millet, "The Man With the Hoe" and the "Angelus" were flashed on the screen, Frank Branch Riley read the poems on these subjects, by Edward Markham and Lord Houghton.

Waldemar Lind followed with a rendition for violin of MacDowell's beautiful "Wiegandell". Mr. Zan sang the song of the "Evening Star" from Wagner's Tannhauser. The following officers were unanimously elected: President, Dr. Luther R. Dyett; vice-president, Mrs. A. E. Rockey; secretary, Mary D. Donohoe; treasurer, Robert C. French; master of ceremonies, Frederick W. Goodrich; master of picture exhibits, Mrs. George M. Webster; executive committee, Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, Mrs. Warren E. Thomas and Hopkins Jenkins; membership committee, Miss Mary B. Day, Miss Emma Griebel, Rev. Henry Marcotte and John Claire Montleth.

The first regular meeting will be held Tuesday evening, December 21, the place to be announced by the executive committee.

TWO MEN GO TO PRISON

BERT LA BARGE GIVEN 14 YEARS; FRED COFF 15.

Believe Prisoners to Have Clean Record and Return Light Verdict, While Each Is on Parole.

Bert La Barge was sentenced to 14 years in the Penitentiary, and Fred Cobb to 15 years, by Judge Gatens yesterday morning for their having held up without weapons and robbed A. M. Lees, on Taylor, between Park and Third streets, September 27. Fifteen years is the limit for the crime provided by law.

In sentencing the men, Judge Gatens said that from the juryman he learned a mistake had been made in rendering the verdict. The two men had been indicted for having used a deadly weapon in committing the crime, and a conviction of that charge would have meant from 20 years to life imprisonment for each.

To the juryman it had been represented that the two men had previously led honest lives, and therefore a verdict of holding a man up without the use of a deadly weapon was rendered, that their sentence might not be so severe.

After the jury had rendered its verdict, it was learned that both men were professional criminals, each having been convicted on previous occasions. Both were on parole for larceny, and three indictments from the grand jury were pending against each.

Judge Gatens announced, when sentencing the men, that he had learned of the mistake under which the jury had labored, and therefore concluded to give them severe penalties.

When the two men robbed Lees, the only things of value received by them were a gold watch and $10 in gold.

BOY'S FATHER DEFIES COURT

Stone-Thrower Spirited Away and Parent Faces Contempt Charge.

After announcing frankly that he had spirited his son Chester out of the state to keep him from being arrested for committing assaults on various persons by throwing stones, Henry Ridgway, proprietor of a restaurant at Fourth and Taylor streets, refused to tell the court yesterday where his son is. The Judge gave him until Tuesday to find the boy and lawyer him to the juvenile court, or he was punished for contempt.

When H. C. Krum, probation officer of the juvenile court, appeared at the Ridgway home Friday afternoon in search of the boy, he was met with abuse by both Ridgway and his wife.

Chester Ridgway had made much previous trouble for the officers.

DIVORCE DECREE APPEALED

Ole Jensen Takes Unusual Procedure—Desertion Is Separated.

Ole Jensen, a ship carpenter, to whose wife, Christine H. Jensen, had been granted a divorce on the city to one-third of considerable real estate in Portland owned by both, filed a notice in the Circuit Court yesterday that he will appeal to the Supreme Court.

Jensen's attorneys allege error. Appeal of divorce cases is an unusual procedure.

Constantine Wilkowski was granted yesterday a divorce from Eva Lena Wilkowski, on the ground of desertion.

FROM THE OREGON CITY STATESMAN.

One of His Specimens of Special Pleading.

PORTLAND, Nov. 27.—(To the Editor.)—Mr. Post's attack at the State Bar Association on the judges of Oregon was being nominated under the direct primary system and elected by the people is as interesting as it is unjustifiable. Mr. Post draws his argument from the decision in the case of the State Bar Association, which is no such case, never been in the direct primary, who is less honest and competent than his predecessors elected by the machine and convention methods of the two states.

The courts of Oregon are universally respected. The decisions of the Oregon Supreme Court are often quoted with approval by the Supreme Court of the United States. No judge in Oregon who was nominated in the direct primary has ever been accused of selling his decision in any case. It is no such case, never been in the direct primary, who is less honest and competent than his predecessors elected by the machine and convention methods of the two states.
