The Christmas Spirit Pervades the Atmosphere of This Store

—there's Christmas activity everywhere—and the seven floors furnish many answers to the season's question, "what to give." And we're ready—splendidly ready for the last eleven days of Christmas shopping. We're prepared for the greatest holiday business the store has ever known—the merchandise—the values—the service—they all unite to help you in your selection—to make your Christmas buying easy. It's easier to plan your gift-giving here than at home or elsewhere—looking around suggests so many things that you had not thought of. Now should be the time to buy—at least to investigate. There's a whole lot of satisfaction in knowing that you have completed your Christmas selections early—you'll enjoy it much better than if you postponed it until the last few days.

The Brightest, Busiest Place in the Store is "Toyland"—the Realm of Happy Children the greatness and gloriousness of it all—this array of things big and little for making the children happy. Seems that every toymaker in the great wide world has contributed his specialty to make the assortment complete. The real spirit of Christmas is everywhere evident in this wonderful "Toyland"—it's Santa Claus' Headquarters. His workshop, his sleigh and his reindeer can be seen in our large corner window from now until Christmas. The children should see them—it will swell their devotion to old Santa. You'll enjoy it too—it will take you back to childhood days. And here are some of the things gathered in "Toyland." They comprise but a small part of the great assortment—they convey but a few of the hundreds of suggestions.

Furniture—Most Worthy of Christmas Gifts

Its appropriateness, its fulfillment of a useful purpose in the home—these are just two reasons why furniture, above all, is the ideal Christmas gift. The convenience and easiness of selection are possible through our attractively arranged, complete furniture displays. In the way of suggestion:

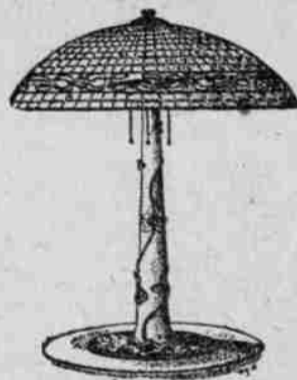

The comfortable Arm Chairs and Rockers, in golden oak, in mahogany, in fumed oak. The illustration shows a type of chair that is most popular. Resembles the Morris chair type—has those large, loose cushions, but does not adjust to the reclining position.

The Arm Rockers, in oak and mahogany, with leather-covered seats—some with leather backs and head rests. There's comfort in every part of them; and there is such wide range of designs and prices that one must surely find selection here.

The Bedroom Chairs and Rockers, in the golden oak, the mahogany and the birdseye maple, in both the dull and polished finishes. Those in the Colonial design, with the cane and rush seats, are worthy of particular mention. Bedroom Rockers in golden oak, with cane seats, as low as $2.75.

The "Colonial" and "Windsor" Chairs—reproductions from those used in Washington's time. They are splendid as odd pieces for living-room, library, bedroom. Of solid mahogany.

Fine Lighting Pieces AT LESS THAN HALF REGULAR VALUES

They represent the highest artistic talent in design, the best material and the most skillful craftsmanship. Their exquisite color harmony is the result of being assembled by hand. All glass sections are firmly held by copper binding, which insures durability and produces a better finish. The bases or stands show the skill of the metal craftsman. Here is how they will be marked tomorrow and Tuesday:

HODGES "HOPI" and "KABA" RUGS—The NEW ONES ARE NOW READY FOR INSPECTION

The "Kaba," or wool and fiber rug, is particularly worthy of your consideration this season, as it is the best low-priced rug for general use and undeniably the most artistic in design and coloring. The new arrivals in plain colors, with key and band borders, are equal in effect to rugs costing three times as much, and the wide range of sizes, from the small mat to the 12 ft. by 15 ft. rug, makes selection a pleasure, rather than a problem. The wearing qualities of the Kaba are superior to any other rug of its kind on the market. In the "Hopi," or all-fiber rugs, are to be seen many new and exclusive designs and color combinations that have made these rugs so famous. See them displayed to advantage on our rug racks.

What the Dining Room Furniture Contributes to that Long List of Gift Pieces

The dining-room, where good cheer reigns supreme at Christmas time—at all times. The pieces that go toward its completeness—the Dining Table, the Buffet, the China Cabinet, the Serving Table and Chairs—they all make fitting remembrances at Christmas. If it's to be a complete dining-room suite, you will find them here in the golden oak, the fumed oak, the early English and a splendid showing in the mahogany. Or perhaps it's a single piece or a set of chairs that you have in mind. In the China Cabinets, Buffets and Sideboards—you'll wonder at the variety of designs—just such a showing that enables you to choose the right piece.

And last, but by no means least, of all—the Dining Table, to which more care is given to selection than any other piece in the dining-room. In the golden oak alone, to say nothing of those in the other woods and finishes, there are no less than 50 designs to select from—a splendid Christmas showing.

There's a Wealth of Gift Suggestions Here IN THE Way of Odd Pieces

From the plainest little tabourette at $1.75 to a large Colonial mahogany chime clock at $750.00, it is almost impossible to conceive of the many furniture pieces that one would be pleased to be the giver or recipient. By way of suggestion: Umbrella Stands, in golden oak, fumed oak and weathered oak, $1.85 up. Bedroom Tables and Stands, in golden oak, in mahogany and birdseye maple. Center Tables, Music Cabinets and Ladies' Writing Desks, the latter as low as $8.75, in golden oak. Burrows' folding Card Tables, golden oak and mahogany finish, felt or leather-covered tops. Sewing or Work Tables, just as dainty and useful a gift as any woman could wish for. Tea Tables, in mahogany, Chests in golden oak, cedar lined. Dressing Tables, in golden oak, mahogany and birdseye maple—a gift piece sure to be appreciated.
