

BASKETBALL IS DUE

Interscholastic Teams Prepare for Strenuous Season.

INTEREST GROWS INTENSE

Prospects for Great Contests Look Bright With Good Aggregations in Making—Outlook Shows Fast Boys Training.

The various interscholastic basketball teams have been practicing strenuously during the vacation days in preparation for the year's real games.

Considerably more interest is being taken in basketball by players and fans than was the case last year, and the prospects for strong contests in all the schools are closely contested and exciting games.

Washington School Slow

Washington High School is slow in organizing its team for the coming season. The interscholastic league has been organized several days, and practice games have been played so that the coaches have a fair idea of what their men can do.

Albany's Game Tuesday Night

The Albany team will play a game Tuesday night with the Hawthorne Park Church team and on Friday night a return game will be played with the Third Presbyterian Church team.

The Columbia University team continues to practice faithfully, and although Coach Walker and his charges are keeping busy, it is expected that the team will be in the best of condition when the league games begin.

When seen last night, Captain William McLean expressed himself as follows:

"I think we have the best team in the league, and I think we ought to win the championship with Runyan in the P. A. team. The academy team probably will be the hardest team we will have to beat."

The Portland Academy team, under the guiding hand of Coach William M. Klear, are working hard to round into a winning aggregation and judging from the showings with which they are competing their team work every night in the P. A. gym. It appears they will make their opponents bleed.

Portland Academy will play a return game with the Newberg High School on January 14.

In a previous game the academy were defeated by the Newberg boys, but this time Portland Academy expects to turn the tables. The Multnomah club team will be played Tuesday night and a game is also being arranged with Pacific University.

Coach Law is developing 12 equally strong players for the Lincoln High team so that they can all be used on the first team if necessary. Probably the two strongest players on the squad are: Vernard, left forward; Welch, captain and left guard; Peterson, right guard; Vesper, manager and right forward; Benz, center. The other members of the squad are: Rice, left forward; Boyle, center; Daly, center; Harlander, forward; Toomey, guard; Alcott, guard; Caswell, forward.

Manager Vesper is arranging games with the Albina Athletic Club, Eugene High School, the First Presbyterian Church team, the Catholic Young Men's Club and the Jewish Young Men's Club.

STEEPLECHASE IS PLANNED

Hunt Club Will Celebrate Opening of New Country Club.

Some time next March the Portland Hunt Club will celebrate the opening of its new grounds and Country Club, at Garden Home with a four-mile steeplechase, the first event of its kind to be held in this vicinity.

This steeplechase will be for gentlemen riders and will be run over a course having several jumps including a water jump. The veranda of the new clubhouse will afford a view of practically the entire course, and the members can easily catch the race from this vantage point.

Permission to hold the race over the properties through which the route will take the riders has been secured. A handsome trophy cup will be offered for the winner by a number of the club, and it is thought likely other awards will be provided for the second and third in the race.

INTERCLUB BOUTS NEXT

M. A. A. C. BOXERS TO MEET SEATTLE PUGILISTS.

Tournament Carded for January 14.

C. C. Ralph and McCarl Picked as Entrants.

C. C. Ralph and Merritt McCarl will defend the honors of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club in the coming interclub tournament with the Seattle Athletic Club contestants January 14 in Portland.

A third boxing bout between Miller and Beckman, members of the club, will serve as a preliminary, and a handsome medal is offered for the winner.

Wrestling instructor O'Connell is preparing two grapplers to meet the Seattle entries, but the names of the wrestlers are not yet announced. There will also be a preliminary wrestling match between two of the best grapplers in the club at weights not listed in the interclub program.

On February 10 and 11 the Multnomah Club will hold another city championship boxing and wrestling tournament, at which entries from all athletic organizations, as well as unattached boxers and wrestlers, will be received.

At this tournament Danny O'Brien and Bud Anderson will be ineligible, the former because of his having turned professional and the latter because he participated in an unsanctioned meet last August.

Other preliminary events were refereed by the Catholic Young Men's Club and he may be matched with Richie Hewitt.

RILEY-SCALER MILL IS DRAW

Sacramento Fans Enjoy Well-Matched Go of 20 Rounds.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 1.—After 20 rounds of terrific milling Referee Frank Crowley declared the Riley-Scaler fight a draw this afternoon. Riley had the better of the fight for the first eight rounds, using his snappy left to good advantage.

From his tenth round on Scaler led the fighting, but Riley delivered the cleaner blow, which earned him the draw. The decision was well received.

Norman Stone, of Los Angeles, and Young Sullivan, of Sacramento, went three rounds to a draw, and Hoo Erickson obtained a six-round decision over Tom Curry. Three preliminary events were refereed by Sol Levinson. Today's fights, which were under the auspices of the Buffalo Athletic Club, drew an immense audience of fight fans.

SUTTON MATCHED WITH HOPPE

Champion of 18.1 Balkline Billiards Will Meet Rival.

CHICAGO, Jan. 1.—George Sutton, holder of the world's 18.1 balkline billiard championship, was matched today to play Willie Hoppe for the title in Chicago next March.

The men will play 1500 points under the revised rules for the diamond emblem. The match will be played in three blocks of 500 points each on three successive nights.

To successfully collect nowadays requires expert knowledge and technical training, since it may be generally stated that nothing has been so widely known as to have found 100 per cent of the antique shops of Great Britain and the Continent.

DEATH CANCELS I. O. U.'S

DAN STUART HELPED FRIENDS WITH FREE HAND.

Widow Will Not Press Claims, Though Memoranda Represent $100,000.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Jan. 1.—What is regarded here as the longest "tab" ever let by a member of America's sporting colony has just been disclosed by current events in connection with the settlement of the estate of the late Dan A. Stuart, native of Vermont, but resident at various times of New York City, Dallas, Tex., and Hot Springs.

Stuart's "I. O. U." found among his effects are estimated at more than $100,000. These amounts vary in proportion from what the sporting fraternity usually refer to as a "century note" ($100) to amounts in the thousands.

Stuart's estate is reckoned in the hundreds of thousands and his widow, who was appointed administratrix, it is understood, will campaign the pictures of the memorable Corbett-Fitzsimmons contest at Carson City.

The pictures laid the foundation of the wrecked fortune of Stuart, which, it is related, was depleted by the effort of the Texan first to hold the fight between Fitz and "Gentleman" Jim at Dallas, then in Florida and then here in Hot Springs and finally in Nevada.

Stuart always asserted that the action of the then Texan Governor, Governor Culberson, who, Stuart claimed, asked for a ring-side seat for the Fitz-Corbett fight if held in Texas, but who later called an extra session of the Texas Legislature to enact anti-ringside laws, was responsible for the rise in political prominence of Culberson from Governor to United States Senator. Stuart also admitted that the act of the then Governor of Arkansas, Governor Clark, who caused the big fighters to be chased out of Arkansas, was directly responsible for Clark's rise to the Senate.

RANKS THINNED BY DEATH

HEAVY TOLL TAKEN IN PAST YEAR AMONG BASEBALL MEN.

National League's Clubowners and Three Leading Clubowners Among Those Called.

Death has thinned the ranks of distinguished figures in the world of sport to an unusual extent in the year just closed. In nearly all the branches of professional and amateur sports it has invaded high places, but the baseball world particularly has suffered heavy losses.

The National League suffered the loss of its president, Harry C. Pulliam, one of the owners of three of the eight clubs comprising the circuit. The club owners who died during the year were Frank De Haas Robison, of St. Louis; George Dwyer, of Boston; and Israel Durham, who was credited with being the chief owner of the Philadelphia club.

Among others whose names were prominently associated with baseball were John Clarkson, who was one of the greatest pitchers in the history of the game; Frank G. Selee, for 12 years manager of the Boston Nationals and later manager of the Chicago Nationals; Charles H. Cushman, one of the organizers of the Western League and for several years manager of the Milwaukee club; Herman Long, whose career as a player covered many years in the major league; John V. B. Hatfield, of New York, one of the stars of a generation ago; Edward F. Leahy, once a well-known catcher with the Philadelphia club; Charles E. ("King") Pittenger, a former player of the Philadelphia American League team; Harry Lockhead, who had played in big and little league; John W. B. Hatfield, of New York, one of the stars of a generation ago; Edward F. Leahy, once a well-known catcher with the Philadelphia club; Charles E. ("King") Pittenger, a former player of the Philadelphia American League team; Harry Lockhead, who had played in big and little league; John V. B. Hatfield, of New York, one of the stars of a generation ago; Edward F. Leahy, once a well-known catcher with the Philadelphia club; Charles E. ("King") Pittenger, a former player of the Philadelphia American League team; Harry Lockhead, who had played in big and little league; John V. B. Hatfield, of New York, one of the stars of a generation ago; Edward F. Leahy, once a well-known catcher with the Philadelphia club; Charles E.
