

FASTEST MOTORBOATS ON RIVER WILL COMPETE IN GREAT RACE TO BE HELD ON WILLAMETTE RIVER

Effort Will Be Made to Force Portland to Front as Home of Speedy Craft—Club may Change Its Name—Race Course Is Laid Out.

The Willamette Motor-Boat Club is planning to make a name for itself this season among the motor-boat organizations of the United States. New high-speed boats are being constructed by the members of the club, and several of the members of the club, and a Coast championship race planned for the water carnival day of the Rose Festival, the club expects to make a big splash in motor-boatdom.

Conditions on the Willamette and Columbia Rivers combined are thought far superior to those of Puget Sound or San Francisco Bay for racing and exhibitions. If present plans carry, and several of the members of the club, and a Coast championship race planned for the water carnival day of the Rose Festival, the club expects to make a big splash in motor-boatdom.

In the coming water carnival day of the Rose Festival, the motor-boat club will take a leading part with races and exhibitions. If present plans carry, and several of the members of the club, and a Coast championship race planned for the water carnival day of the Rose Festival, the club expects to make a big splash in motor-boatdom.

Races on Lower River.
The races probably will be held on the lower Willamette River, in order to avoid the danger of accidents at the bridges and among the numerous boats of various descriptions in the stream near Portland. Several boats with a speed of over 20 miles an hour will be entered in the races, and it will be impossible to make the proper turn while going at this clip unless the full width of the river is available. An example of what might happen when three or four such boats are racing was shown last summer during the Labor Day races, when a canoe was cut through by a speed boat making a turn at about 13 miles an hour.

New Name for Club?
A reorganization is planned for the motor-boat club, and it is likely that the name of the organization will be changed to the Portland Motor-Boat Club. This name is favored by prominent business men of the club, who think that it should represent and advertise Portland and its harbor. A meeting probably will be held some time during the coming week to perfect the plans of reorganization, and to put matters on a sure footing for the coming season.

The last and biggest tract of land gathered in for orchard planting is known as the Hargadine tract of 200 acres lying only three miles north of Ashland, on the north side of Bear Creek.

PARIS, March 5.—(Special.)—The Viscountess de Vaugelot, who has just died at the age of 77, left the bulk of her fortune, estimated at $100,000, various minor legacies being deducted, to the town of Riom on certain curious conditions, which were nearly all complied with. She insisted on an entirely "white" funeral, with white flowers, and white horses. No white horses were discoverable in the country, but in other respects her wishes were obeyed.
