

ANNUAL DOG SHOW

Madison-Street Garage Building to Be Used for Exhibit.

ENTRY OUTLOOK BRIGHT

Eleventh Bench Display of Portland Kennel Club to See Finest Canines in Country—Guggenheims to Enter Bulldogs.

The 11th annual bench show of the Portland Kennel Club will be held on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 27, 28, 29 and 30, following the Tacoma show, which will be held during the previous week. The board of directors has been fortunate in securing for a show place the entire second floor of the new garage at the northeast corner of Sixth and Madison streets. This building presents many features which will make it a most attractive show place. The building is absolutely fireproof, being constructed of reinforced concrete. No gasoline is kept in or about the building. The south and west exposures are enclosed in glass, affording good light and excellent ventilation, and an abundant supply of water is furnished at convenient locations.

The outlook for a large entry is much brighter than ever before in the history of the Kennel Club. Inquiries are arriving daily from British Columbia, Montana, Idaho, Washington and California, and one dog fancier from California has promised a string of 15 of California's best-bred canines. A large string from Montana will be shown for the first time on this circuit. Robert Guggenheim has had his kennel, consisting of nine imported English bulldogs, sent from New York to Seattle, and expects to enter them for competition in the coming Portland show.

Interest in Dogs Increases. Interest in dogs is on the increase not only on the Pacific Coast but throughout the entire country, as was demonstrated this year when the Westminster Kennel Club, of New York City, had an entry of over 2000 dogs, and society turned out in almost as great numbers as at the horse show. Some of the classes were judged by expert women fanciers.

The management of the club has, after much difficulty and considerable expense, succeeded in obtaining the services of Benjamin F. Lewis, of Lansdowne, Pa., to judge all breeds at the coming show. Mr. Lewis' name is familiar to all dog lovers, and his reputation has been well established not only in America but also abroad. In Mr. Lewis' Portland show he has a drawing card that will tax the bench accommodations, as dog owners from the entire Coast will be anxious to have his judge rate their favorites, and Portland is the only show on the circuit that will be judged by Mr. Lewis.

A number of enthusiastic fanciers have joined the Kennel Club this year and all will exhibit dogs whose faces will be new to the patrons of the show. Among the local dogs exhibited for the first time in this city will be an English setter owned by Dr. Alan Welch Smith. This animal was secured at the close of the Atlantic circuit last fall and was considered the best possible purchase in the entire East. City Engineer Morris will also bring a new dog into competition. J. C. Harralson will bring the newly imported English bulldog Moston Hacate, a constant winner at the largest shows in England. The Cocker spaniel fancy will receive a stimulation this year owing to the fact that E. J. Tyler, a recent arrival from the East, who will make his future home in Foghorn, brings with him a string of six Cockers, who have captured many first and special prizes at Eastern shows.

H. M. Papst to Enter Canines.

H. M. Papst is counted upon to enter the finest group of Irish terriers ever seen upon the Pacific Coast. It is expected that the puppy entry will be larger than ever before, and the competition keen in bull terriers. Dr. Hicks C. Fenton and Mrs. E. M. Hall will exhibit in bulldogs Charles A. McCarger and James A. Beckett will contribute.

Many of last year's entries will appear again this year. J. J. McCarthy will have the bulldog Mowitz, and some new ones. A. E. Jones of Holquiam, will show Thornbury Paradox; William Hayward and George Kelly, of Eugene, will enter bulls; Dr. A. C. Johnson has purchased Thornbury Ross from J. C. Harralson and will bench her. Among other exhibitors in the bulldog class will be A. H. Mullhollian, of Seattle; Mrs. Henry Prince, of Tacoma, Wash.; J. L. Tetzlaff, Mrs. Phelps Holman, Gay Lombard and J. H. Dunn, of Bellingham. Mrs. Sanford Whiting will show Lady Nan Patch, reserve winner and winner of several special prizes at last year's show.

Boston terriers will be well represented, among the exhibitors being Hays Easterbrook, Dr. J. C. Zan, with "Betsey," and Russell Smith, with "Dragonet Darby." Many interesting pointer entries are promised. Mrs. Helen Lytle Ellis will show "Walla Walla Rush," last year's winner. Otto Schumann will be on hand with his faithful cup-getter "Sport." Among bull terriers will be Mrs. George B. Stora's veteran "Willamette Defender," a son of the famous Edgemoor Peer. This will be Defender's fourth year on the bench, with 13 wins to his credit. Julius Kalliet and Felix Simon will enter in this class, and Frank E. Watkins will show several classy ones.

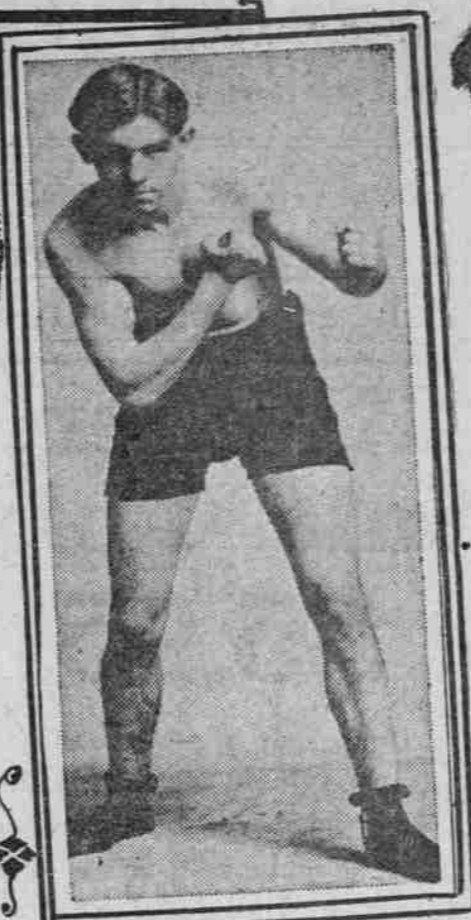

Trochies will be Represented by Miss Myrtle Lewis, Dr. Henry V. Adia E. C. Dick and others.

Many New Dogs to Be Seen. A number of new dogs will be developed at the show and dog lovers are requested to enter their dogs before the date of entry closing, April 29. There is an impression among many dog owners that a pedigree is necessary before a dog is eligible for competition—this is not correct. No pedigree is required to show a dog, as they are judged alone on their points. The trophies offered this year will be of the same high class for which Portland is noted. The trophies have no strings upon them and become the permanent property of the winner. The office of the secretary has been established in room 925 Board of Trade building, where all matters pertaining to the show will be attended to. The services of Gerald Fleming have been secured as superintendent.

ALBERT ESPOSITO, 128 POUNDS

The Oregon Athletic Club has arranged the most attractive boxing card of the season for the smoker to be held in the Exposition Park April 5. The feature card of the evening will be the 116-pound match between Jockey Bennett, of Oakland, and Jimmy Carroll, of San Francisco, for 10 rounds. These are two of the cleverest bantams on the Coast and their ability is well known in Portland. Bennett and Carroll hooked up here three months ago in a 10-round match and the result was somewhat in favor of the former. Bennett has as much action as any bantam that has ever appeared in this city and puts up just the kind of an exhibition that most of the fans like to see. He always takes the mill to his opponent, while Carroll, on the other hand, depends upon his cleverness and his ability to land hard. There probably will also be plenty of action in the 10-round bout between Jack Lessard, the fighting French iron worker, and Roscoe Taylor, the pride of Seattle, in the lightweight class. Taylor can be remembered as the Seattle Athletic Club's star performer as an amateur in the inter-club meets. This will be the first appearance in Portland for Lessard, and also the first for Taylor as a professional. Both are expected to furnish a lively go. Jimmy Fitton, the Oakland boy, and Danny O'Brien, of Portland, will hook up in another 10-round match at 135 pounds. Fitton is considered a dangerous man, as in the past he has won the majority of his matches by knock-outs. Fitton has never appeared before in Portland, but has a good reputation around the Bay city. He will find a shifty opponent in Danny O'Brien, who has been working hard lately and con-

FRANKLIN MAKES FIRST TRIP OF SEASON TO MOUNT HOOD.

C. M. MENZIES GOING THROUGH THE WOODS NEAR RHODODENDRON TAVERN ON WAY TO MOUNT HOOD.

The distinction of making the first trip from Portland out the Mount Hood road this season belongs to C. M. Menzies and D. L. Du Bois, Franklin agents here. In a 39-horsepower five-passenger Franklin they returned from the trip last Sunday. Owing to rain on Friday, preceding, the roads were found to be in bad condition in several places, mud at times coming over the running boards. The trip was made on Saturday without a mishap the entire way. Lee Holden, a former Portland fire officer, now conducting a tavern on the road, was in the machine. "I believe the roads are good now," said Mr. Menzies yesterday. "Since we made the trip the weather has been generally fair, and it only requires a few days for the roads to dry."

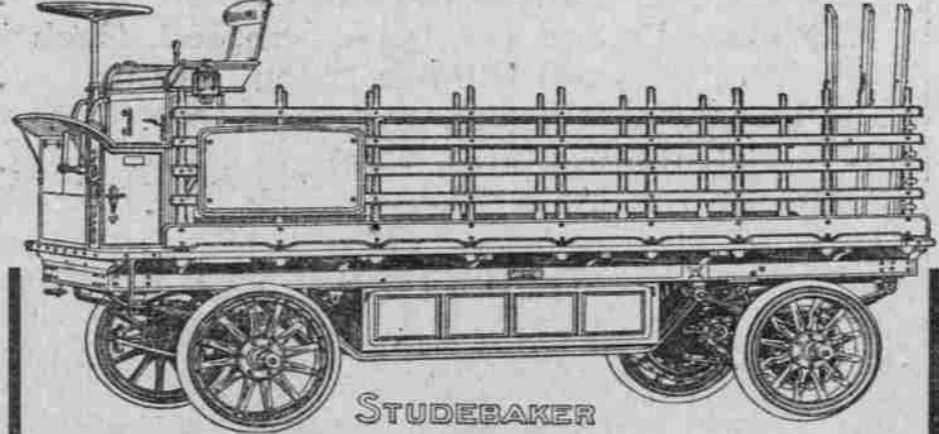

sequently is showing great improvement in his form. Ben Gillen and Albert Esposito, the Italian, who are on for a six-round preliminary bout at 135 pounds have considerable reputation locally, and are about evenly matched.

THE QUALITY CAR IN A CLASS BY ITSELF.

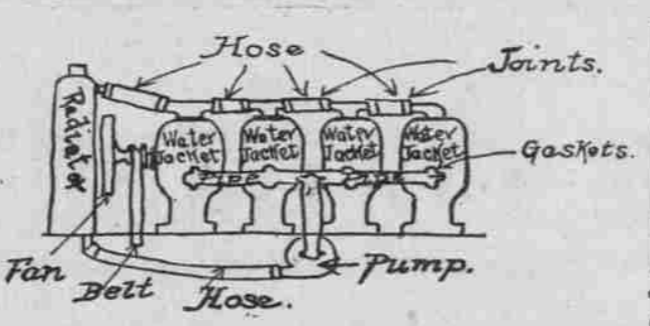

Chrome-Nickel Steel, instead of ordinary mild steel, is the material of which the Frame, Axles, Steering Knuckles, Steering Connections, Gears, Bearings, Crank Shaft and other parts are made.

One of the best-known manufacturers of surgical instruments in this country, while being shown through the White factory, picked up an annular bearing, which had been broken for purposes of examination, and after a careful examination of the bearing, declared he was unable to secure steel with so fine a grain for the manufacture of surgical instruments. This testimony from a man so well fitted to be a judge is significant as to the quality of the material that goes into the White Cars.
