Former Law Partner Tells Reason for Judge's Withdrawal of Name When Nominated for Chief Justice by Grant.

Memorial exercises for the late Judge George H. Williams were held yesterday morning in the Mutnomah County Circuit Court, all the judges sitting en banc.

sitting en banc.
In addition to adopting resolutions extelling the late jurist, the meeting, which was attended by attorneys and judges of courts of all degress, listened to several carefully prepared addresses by leading members of the bar.
Addresses were made or papers were prepared by the following: Frederick V. Holman, Thomas A. McBride, W. B. Gilbert, Charles J. Schnabel, Cyrus A. Doiph, W. D. Fenton, John M. Gearin, Walter P. La Roche, C. E. S. Wood and Robert G. Morrow.

A feature of the occasion was the

A feature of the occasion was the explanation given by C. E. S. Wood, Judge Williams' former law partner, of the manner in which Mr. Williams had been induced to refuse to continue in a campaign for the appointment of Chief Justice of the United States Superior Court President Grant had preme Court. President Grant had named Mr. Williams for the position, but the United States Senate split in its support of the nomination, and re-sponding to the urgent request of his wife, who felt sensitive concerning the issue, Judge Williams withdrew his name before it was put to a final vote.

Mitchell's Inaction Blamed.

Mr. Wood said that Judge Kelly, who was at that time a Democratic Senator from Oregon and could not, for political reasons, support Judge Williams, blamed the outcome upon ex-Senator Mitchell, who failed to ask, at the proper time, for unanimous concurrence in the nomination made by the Presi-

After the meeting yesterday, it was determined by the Multnomah Bar Association to print in pamphlet form the speeches delivered yesterday. Following are paragraphs taken from addresses delivered yesterday:

Frederick V. Holman—That Judge

Williams lived more than four-score and seven years and preserved, in a good measure, his bodily health and good measure, his bodily health and his mental powers and vigor to the last, was a source of great pleasure and satisfaction to his friends and to the public. It is not a matter of moment so much that he lived so long as that he lived so well. He lived into what I call a heautiful old age. what I call a beautiful old age.

Thomas A. McBride, justice of the Oregon Supreme Court—He was a profound judicial philosopher. He did not look upon the law as a mere maze of judicial precedents or as a game to be played according to fixed technical tules, but as a means of attaining jus-tice; as the ultimate philosophy of righteousness; as a means of protec-tion for the upright and of punish-ment for the vicious, or, as he some-what tersely expressed it in one important case. "Offenders cannot be allowed to take refuge from our liberal laws in the cobwebs of an antiquated

BOND BILL TO BE RIDER Senators Doubtful Which Way Will Best Insure Success.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, April 16.—Senators who are working to secure final passage of the $20,000,000 irrigation bill are doubtful whether to attach their bill as a rider to the river and harbor bill or to the sundry civil bill,

The first-named bill, being heavily loaded by the Senate committee, seems to be in some danger, but the sundry civil bill must pass, and it is probable that the $20,000,000 bill will be attached to that measure in the Senate, unless the House in the meantime reports and passes it. It is understood that Chairman Payne has meaning to report the bill but means the senate has promised to report the bill, but so far he has taken no step in that direc-

TOURISTS HASTENING WEST Thousand Expected to Pass Through

Huntington in Two Days.

Full 1000 is the estimate made by the Harriman lines of the number of colonists who will pass through Hunt-ington within the next two days. All of these homeseekers left Eastern terminals on April 15, the closing day of the colonist rate period.

Advices from the East to the general offices of the O. R. & N. yesterday told of nine special tourist wars added to of nine special tourist cars added to regular equipment Friday. Four of these cars were added at Chicago, three at Omaha, one at Kansas City and one at Denver. The nine sleepers will carry about 350 persons, it is estimated, but only a portion of the colonist contingent on a train travels by sleeper at all. Hundreds come all the way through in the chair cars, and then there is the regular equipment of tourist cars to be considered also. Past experience with this class of travel causes the estimate to be placed at 1000 as the number of colonists that left for the Northwest via the Harriman roads Friday.

These homeseekers will scatter all through Oregon, some stopping at

These homeseekers will scatter all through Oregon, some stopping at points on the main line in Eastern Washington, some going into the interior, some leaving the train in the apple country at Mosier and Hood River and some coming on to go down on the Southern Pacific into the Willamette and Rogne River valleys.

At none of the other railroad offices in Portland were reports received that would enable an estimate to be made as to the travel on the Northern lines, but it is believed that quite as many are en route to the West over both the Northern Pacific and Great North-ern as left the East Friday on the Har-riman lines and that he shall not attempt to go down to the office for a time. It may be several weeks before he can resume his duties."

Postmaster Young, never a robust man, was stricken with the disease some six weeks ago, and has not appeared at the Postoffice for five weeks past. Mr. Young is keeping in close touch with the affairs of his office through daily consultations with Assistant Postmaster Williamson. The latter stated yesterday that he believed his chief was growing stronger each day.
