FOWLS TO BE SHOWN

Juniors to Hold Their First Exhibit at Y. M. C. A.

EXCHANGE TO BE FORMED

New Feature Will Encourage Amateurs in Poultry Raising-Summer Work Will Include Visits to Model Plants.

The first chicken snow of the Portland Junior Poultry Association takes place next Friday evening and Saturday, April 29 and 30, at the Y. M. C. A. The juniors are manifesting con-siderable interest and the advance en-tries show that there will be a cred-Itable exhibit. The show is the closing event in the Winter's activities of the association, and doubtless will draw many visitors.

There will be several attractive features at the show, not the least of which will be an incubator hatching chickens. The eggs are now in the incubator and are timed to hatch the two days of the show.

Another attractive and amusing feature will be the crowing contest. The boys are especially interested in this and are entering their roosters for it. A test will be given Friday night and also on Saturday afternoon end night, and first place will be awarded to the rooster crowing the largest number of times in the three tests.

Heavy Eggs to Win Prizes.

The exhibit of eggs also will be interesting. Prizes are offered for the heaviest dozen of white eggs and also the heaviest dozen of brown eggs, and the boys and girls are now saving up all the big eggs their hens lay.

There will be prizes for the largest brood of young chickens hatched by a hen and exhibited by their mother, as well as prizes for the best and most uniform broads of young chickens. uniform broads of young chickens with their mother. This part of the "show" is bringing in many entries, and will be the most interesting part to many. There will be competition for points in the various classes, as

All the amateur poultry raisers of the city will be interested in the poultry exchange that is to be formed on Friday evening, as a part of the junior association's work. This will be an exchange for the purpose of en-couraging poultry raising, enabling members to secure information needed, providing reading matter that will be helpful and instructive and listing those who have eggs or poultry for sale for breeding purposes or ex-

Need of Exchange Shown.

In this way the executive committee believes it can do much for the good of the poultry industry of the city. Several cases have come up during the Winter that showed the need of such an exchange. The exchange will be organized primarily for the benefit of the juniors, but membership will be open, under certain restrictions, to all amateur positive research.

The Summer work of the Junior Poultry Association will be carried on by arranging outings for the members, where they can visit the yards of the successful poultrymen and make comparisons of methods and study their subject at first hand. These outings will take the form of picnics, etc., and will help to hold the members together until Fall, when the regular meetings will be resumed. It is expected the Y. M. C. A. will add a course in poultry husbandry to its many in-dustrial subjects next season.

HOSE FLUSHES STREETS

Donaldson Device Is Successful and Work Will Be Extended.

of a powerful stream.

"That is the way to flush streets," exclaimed. Mayor Simon, when the device was run alongside of the City Hall in view of the executive office yesterday morning. "I have never seen anything so successful for that kind of work."

Superintendent Donaldson said that the Superintendent Donaldson said that the entire outfit will not exceed in cost $300 for each flushing device. Several will be required, if the city determines to extend the system to all the hard-sur-faced streets. The hard-surface area is to be more than doubled this Summer, and it is planned to keep the streets clean. To this end a "white-winged" squad has been put on duty downtown. The city has been using power-brooms and sprinklers until now. Some patent flushers were tried, but they are not nearly so satisfactory as the Donaldson device.

public records. In Belfast I had the pleasure of meeting Henry B. Miller, American Consul, who is also a native Oregonian. Judging from the appearance of his office and the way business is transacted, it is evident Uncle Sam has the right man in the right place. it is evident Uncle Sam has the right man in the right place. Every couriesy was extended to me, even to furnishing me with issues of The Oregonian dally, and which to a native son and constant reader quite as old as The Oregonian itself was a feast. Mr. Miller is wide awake to Oregon's every interest in "the green emerald isle." He is now engaged in writing an elaborate article on the apple industry to our home horticultural society. He maintains that we should raise standard shipping varieties in much larger quantities, in fact, so that foreign buyers may obtain them in shipload lots, as the demand here is fast becoming almost unlimited. No tourist to the British Isles who comes with wide open eyes, can fall to see that our fragrant apple blossoms are fast attracting the fruit buyers of the Old World and that an undreamed-of stream of wealth will pour into our coffers indefinitely from abroad. Even now I am almost as proud of honors we have won as if I were "the man from Appomatox," not because of victories like his, but because I hall from Oregon "and the famous apple tree."

I arrived here two weeks before the general election and found political general election, and found political affairs at fever heat. My private opin-ion is there are more parties and factions here than issues to quarrel over. The tariff was thrashed over along with "home rule for Ireland." Just at 6 o'clock in the morning, St. Patrick's day, I was aroused from peaceful slumber by the sound of fife and drum. It was the Enniskillen Grattan band. The programme was a real, old-fashioned home rule demonstration, the first cele-bration of the kind to be held here in 30 years. I was told. Four special trains brought in enthusiastic crowds. Bands: Bands: Bands: There were 37 bands: Among them were some doubt-less known to a few who may read less known to a few who may read this communication, as for instance the Ennisicilien Foresters' Band and the Enniskillen Gratan Band, which, as in former years, was selected to lead the parade. The Enniskillen Irish National For-

The Enniskillen Irish National Foresters' Brass and Reed Band was led by Drum Major (mounted) Ed Brady as Robert Emmet. Mr. Brady wore a green hat with white plume, green coat, white trousers and black boots. "The wearing of the green" was everywhere in evidence. Then there were the Scotch-Irish Bagpipe Band, Newtownbutler Wolfe Tone Flute Band, the Irvinestown Total Abstinence Brass and Reed Band and a score of others. Many rich and historic banners floated above Reed Band and a score of others. Many rich and historic banners floated above the crowd, some bearing inscriptions, and some the portraits of eminent personages, such as St. Patrick, C. S. Parnell and John Mitchell. "Away With the Lords!" "Let Ireland Be Free!" "Home Rule or Nothing!" were among the noteworthy inscriptions on banners. Many eloquent speeches were made, and surely justice was done on this occasion both to home rule for Ireland and the cherished memory of her grand patron saint. Thus spother memorable day was added to the annals of historic Enniskillen. J. C. PROEBSTEL.

OREGON'S BOOM OPENS

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BE-GINS CAMPAIGN MOVEMENT.

Over 250,000 Pieces of Literature Included in Contract With O. R. & N. Homeseckers' Bureau.

The Portland Chamber of Commerce signed a contract yesterday with the O. R. & N. Homescekers' Bureau to naugurate the most extensive advertising campaign that has ever been undertaken by any single organiza-tion. The contract was signed in pursuance of an agreement made at the last meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber.

Over 250,000 pieces of literature will over 200,000 pieces of literature will be included in this mammoth con-tract, the piece de resistance being an elaborate book with a gold and em-bossed work cover in four colors. This will surpass the last publication issued by the Chamber which were by the Chamber, which was afterward duplicated by the Portland Commer cial Club some time ago and which had a universal demand from the whole country.

The work will be almost wholly picterial. Even the inside illustrations will be marvels of the color artist's work, not a single illustration embrac-ing less than three colors. The pages ing less than three colors. The pages will be 105,x75, inches. Above each picture will be a brief caption and below it a brief descriptive story, apbelow it a brief descriptive story. proximating 200 words in length. The original issue of this work will be 50,-

Packed to the brim with aducational material regarding Oregon is to be the Oregon Primer, a 32-page book, each page being 4x8 inches in size. In the style of the old-fashioned school primer, this little book will be a series of questions and answers, the questions invariably asked by the prospec-live settler. Instead of long personal letters having to be addressed to each inquirer, one of these books will be sent, particular attention being adfressed to the queries asked by the ecipient. These questions have been drawn from thousands of letters reelved by commercial organizations all over the state. The first edition of the Primer will be 20,000 copies.

An eight-page postal folder will be issued to the extent of 20,000 copies.

Ten thousand copies each of a series of bulletins will be issued, dealing with different subjects that might be raised by inquirers. These will vary in size from eight to 16 pages, according to the nature of the stuff. The following are the subjects treated with: "Apples," "Truck Farming and 10-Aere Farms," "Poultry Farming," "Dairying and Fat Stock," "Lumber, Mining and Engineering," "Gutdoor Life in Oregon," "Investments," "Pears, Peaches, Plums and Other Fruits," "Government and State Lands," "Edu-cational Facilities."

Starting the flow of letters will be the Chamber's advertising system in magazines and foreign papers. Stereopticon lecturers will be sent out in the thickly-populated districts. Besides this any plans that may lead to immi-gration into the city and state will be encouraged.

Behind all the advertising will be the beautiful permanent exhibit arranged for in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. It is believed this exhibit will be the finest maintained on the Pacific Slope.

Bible Class to Be Formed.

A Bible class will be started tomorrow ight in the Catholic Women League come, 311 Stearns building, under the irectorship of Rev. Father Gregory. The league extends an invitation for new members. No membership fee is re-quired. Supper served at 6:30 o'clock. The class hour begins at 7:30 o'clock.

Why not visit the property today? It's worth your while. Take the Sellwood car and get off at Tolman avenue.

IS DECLARED SANITARY. Plumbing Inspector Hey Finds

GLAZED CEMENT SEWER PIPE

Other City Officials Arrayed Against Him in Pipe Trouble.

City Engineer Morris yesterday de-lared that Plumbing Inspector Hey has a wild hair in his head, if he says hat glazed cement sewer pipe is un-senitary."

Mayor Simon added to his statement of the previous day that he "intends to ecure a reduction of cost to the property owners for sewer pipe, no matter what may develop in opposition." Inspector Hey is ignoring the Mayor and insists he will not permit cement pipe to be used until the ordinance is amended, and that this class of material is unsanitary

"When I prepared specifications for cement sewer pipe, I came mighty near to knowing what I was doing." said Mr. Morris, who investigated the local situation at Mayor Simon's re-

"I don't care what Inspector Hey says "I don't care what Inspector Hey says about it," continued Mr. Morris, I can show himcement pipe that has been used right here in fortland for 18 years, if he will come to my office. Whenever I recommend anything to the Mayor, you can depend upon it, I know what I am doing. If cement sewer pipe were unsanitary, I would never have prepared the specifications authorizing its use in Riverside sewer district."

"Inspector Hey has pever been in my

"Inspector Hey has never been in my office to confer on this subject." said Mayor Simon. "It seems strange that he has not done so, for it is one of the most important things now concerning the city. If he thinks cement sewer pipe unsanitary, it seems strange that he did not inform me of the facts before. I intend to secure a reduction of cost to property owners for sewer pipe, no matter who opposes it. The administration will not cease its fight on the local trust until this object is accomplished."

Bridge Traffic Delayed.

As the result of a break in the electric feed wire on the Morrison-street bridge was suspended for nearly an hour and an alarm of fire sounded from the bridge at 2:19 P. M. The ends of the severed wires awung downward and struck the iron work of the bridge. Fiames shot 10 feet in the air. The damages to the bridge were triffing. Much time was consumed in repairing the wires. plished.

It was Inspector Hey's communication to the Mayor and Council, filed with the sewer committee of the Council, which created the stir in regard to cement sewer pipe. Mr. Hey apprised the members of the fact that he had ordered out some of this pipe that had been laid to connect houses with a main trunk, and that he would not permit it to be laid, unless the ordinance is amended. He added that cement pipe is porous and therefore unsanitary, and has signified his intention of using his official position to tight the introduction of this material for use in Portland. in Portland.

in Portland.

Mayor Simon asked for specifications that would permit of the use of cement pipe because, as he explains, the city has, for years, paid tribute to the "trust," the name of which is the Oregon & Washington Sewer Pipe Company, and which has had the field to itself until now. Last Council session. Councilman Ellis introduced a resolution, "opening" the city to the use of cement pipe, which is manufactured in Kenton by the Portland Glazed Coment Pipe Company. The competing firm quotes a rate of one-half that charged by the "trust."

alamath H'alls

Is just forging ahead. All the trains and all the stages from the various Oregon settlements are packed. Everybody from everywhere seems to be heading for Klamath Falls.

This may seem to you as an exaggeration, but it is not. If you will go to Klamath you will see the people coming each and every day. The opportunities are there for the business man, investor and farmer. Klamath Falls is destined to become a city of great promiuence. Railroads are working their way to Klamath Falls as fast as the skill of man can move them along. These railroads, with the development of the great resources of the adjacent country, will make each and every man that is shrewd enough to invest at Klamath Falls at this time many dollars for the one invested. The farmer that goes there and purchases a ten-acre tract, or larger, and puts in an ordinary amount of work on this purchase can depend on a profitable return. He will also see his land treble in value in the next few years.

We are offering for sale at this time small and large tracts of very rich tule land that lie close to Klamath, and which are the making of a very profitable farm home. We also have Summer home-sites facing on Klamath Lake that are far too beautiful to describe. More detailed information will be found under the respective headings in this ad.

Small Tracts $55 Per Acre Up Terms to Suit

This Price Only Holds 30 Days

These tracts run in size from 40 to 160 acres. They are situated from four to eight miles from Klamath Falls. Land is the tule ground that has become so famous owing to its productive-

At the above price we agree to construct the proper dykes and drainage ditches, which means that land will be turned over to you ready for the plow. At the price this land is a good investment. Compare this price with price of land the same distance from the center of Spokane as this is from the center of Klamath Falls. The difference between the price will give you an idea as to probable increase in value in the next few years. All the conservative business men who have visited Klamath Falls, and who are familiar with the adjacent country, predict Khamath Falls will some day eatch up with Spokene tion. If this proves so, investments here will show a good increase each and every year.

Resort Property

Our resort proposition offers an exceptional opportunity for big gain on an investment. We are setting aside some 4000 acres of marsh and up-land as a game reserve.

Facing on this marsh, and also on Klamath Lake, we are laying out tracts of from two acres up. Each purchaser of tract secures with this tract an undivided interest in the total area of ground set aside as reserve. This ground is the choice spot on all Klamath Lake for hunting and fishing. All kinds of ducks and other small game can be secured in any quantity that you may desire. Trout fishing is the finest in the world.

The soil on these tracts in most cases is good, which enables one to establish a comfortable cottage and have all the necessary facilities to make an out-door life of this sort a pleasure. The fact that this land is reserved solely for those purchasing these small tracts makes this a very inviting proposition, as use of the marsh for hunting purposes is limited to a few.

Price of tracts ranges from $250 per acre up. This not only purchases ground for resident purposes, but also secures an un-divided interest in the tract as a whole. Terms can be arranged to suit. A comparison of price asked for location here with values * around Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, which is Spokane's (Wash.) famous outing spot, will give you an idea as to the possibilities of this offer as an investment. You must also bear in mind that it will only be a short time before one can get from Portland to Klamath in ten hours' time, and it will be through service. These tracts are bound to be in great demand by both Portland and San Francisco people.

Klamath Falls Lots

If you are looking for a safe investment in the way of a city lot that is bound to show a big increase in value in the next few years, come in and talk with us regarding Klamath Falls. Lots range in price from $100 up. Terms to suit.
