

Vean Gregg, McCredie's new southpaw twirler, made a classy entrance into the Pacific Const League yester-day, and pitched such a steady, highclass game that Harry Wolverton and his speedy Oakland bunch were unable to score on him, and Portland won 7

On the other hand the Oaks introduced three pitchers, including the new phenom, Lively, but all looked alike to the home guard. "Silm" Nelson, who had a good day last Wednesday, com-menced the argument for the Oaks, but soon showed signs indicating that he was much to the ochre, and Wolverton jerked him out in favor of Harkins, who went through the first inning and part of the second before the Oakland manager decided he was a la Nelson, and substituted the new man.

Gregg Fans First Man.

Gregg, for Portland, fanned the first man up, and followed this by walking Wares, but Wolverton and Cameron were "kegged" and the danger was over. Then the home team took a turn at the willow. Netzel's hot liner was neatly fielded by Cameron, and the batter was out at first. Ivan Olson had Nelson's goat and walked. Bill Rapps soaked one for two cushions, but Ollie was held at third. Slim Nelson then contributed a wild pitch on which Olcontributed a wild pitch on which Ol-son registered, and Gus Hetling's preity single to center scored Bill Rapps. The attenuated one then fanned George Ort, making two down, but Buddy Ryan singled and Speas walked, filling the bases. This was enough for the slim one, who was jerked in favor of Harkins. Gus Fisher took kindly to the latter's

Gus Fisher took kindly to the latter's delivery and his bingle to left regis-tered Hetling, and still the bases were loaded. Harkins then lost Gregg, and the walk forced Ryan across with the fourth run for the inning. Netzel came up for the second time in the inning, but Swander saved a cleanup of the bases by cleverly capturing the long fly. In the second inning Harkins walked the first two men, and was chased in favor of Lively, who was pulled out of difficulty by a fast double play. In the fourth, singles by Olson, who was forced between third and second by Hetling, and by Ort gave Portland another run.

Buddy Ryan earned a box of cigars by rapping the ball out of the lot as first man up in the fifth, and this is also the first homer of the season on the Portland grounds. Buddy was given a rousing hand by the big Sat-urday crowd, for the homer was about the most exciting thing the fans had Netzel distinguished himself in the next inning by getting around the cir-cuit practically by his own efforts. He opened up with a single, and took sec-ond on Oison's sacrifice. Lively then butted in with a palpable balk, and Miles went to third. With Bill Rapps at bat, Netzel stole home cleverly.

Gregg All to Good.

Gregg was the big shining luminary throughout the game, for he pitched himself out of every hole his wildness got him into. Twice during the game he had men on the paths and then wound up the inning by fanning the last two batsmen. One time he fanned last two batsmen. One time he fanned Wolverton and Cameron, both danger-ous hitters, with a runner perched on, third. From his work yesterday it is easy to predict that the Idaho boy is going to make good with a vengeance. This afternoon the game will be called at 2:30, and a tremendous crowd is expected for which reserve all should is expected, for which reason all should get to the grounds as early as possible if they expect to get seats. Jesse Garret will pitch for Fortland, and either Billy Christian or "Slim" Nelson for the Oaklanders. Nelson may be re-turned to the hilltop today, for he worked only a part of an intervention the Oaklanders. Nelson may be re-turned to the hilltop today, for he worked only a part of an inning yes-terday, and his wrong-sided. flinger may be in better shape this afternoon.
