BY W. J. PETRAIN. 'Slivers' Henley seems to have the goat of the Portland players, for yeserday he came near repeating his opening-day feat of chutting his oppon-ents out, for one lone run was all Port-land could lay claim to. That was due to a three-bagger by Bill Eapps, while the San Francisco contingent rapped Jesse Garrett often enough to amass a potal of three runs. total of three runs.

In some respects the game was in-in some respects the game was in-interesting, though at times the lagging tactics, especially Portland's, tried the pattence of the fans. However, it was not on the cards for the Beavers to win. for the attenuated Henley chap was all to the good in the pitching line. The aforementioned Bill Rapps was the only Portlander who took kindly to the shoots of the big Seal twirler, for "Roaring Bill" spanked out three of the four clouts

The Scals flirted with the register in the very first chapter, though it was after two men were pickled that the run counted. Jesse Garrett succeeded in disposing of Royal Shaw and Kid Mohler, but Harry Melchier connected for a double-base crack, and Tommy Tennan, the demon-hitting first sacker of the Seal squadron, kicked in with a single to center which scored "Mel." Tom was alped trying for second on the toss from Budrick Ryan to the platter. Not satisfied with the one ace collected in the first, the visitors again got busy in the first, the visitors again got busy with the Garrett curves and three bingles in succession scooted another across. Vitt opened by beating a bunt, and healthy singles by Bodie and Berry rang the bell. In Portland's haif of the second Kid Mohler did the juggle act on Ryan's grounder and Buddy landed safely at the first station. Manager McCredle came through with a sacrifice, which advanced Buddy, but Gus Fisher's foul was captured by Shaw, and two were out. This tured by Shaw, and two were out. This put it up to "Roaring Bill" and the stlent first sacker laced a lovely triple to right field which sent Ryan across.

Georgie Ort failed to negotiate and Bill was left on the "almost" corner, for Henley whiffed the second sacker.
Jesse Garrett made a presentation of the third run to the Scale. It happened the fifth. Shaw singled to left, and in the fifth. Shaw singled to left, and Mohler walked. Melchlor followed with another clout to the patch occupied by Speas, and the outer gardener tossed in ahead of Shaw, but Garrett, in accepting the chance for a relay to Fisher, threw budly, and Shaw tallied. That was all for "our boys," and when the last man was tlown the crowd wandered dismally to the cars. mally to the cars.

mally to the cars.

Eugene Krapp will heave for Portland today, and his opponent will be Ralph Willis. Portland must win today or lose the series to the Seals, and McCredio will expect some extended efforts on the part his men this afternoon.

GREATEST MAN ON TRACK? FLIP COIN

Keene Fitzgerald Hesitates Between Kraenzlein and Garrels of Michigan.

HORNER CONSIDERED, TOO

Martin Sheridan, Holding Present All-Around Championship, Great Trainer Thinks Would Be Distanced by Michigan Boy.

From these figures it will be seen that only in the 56-pound weight, of the events in which Horner has competed, is his showing inferior to that of Sheridan, and in that event he that of Sheridan, and in that event he practiced only two days. Consequently, as just remark, if there were no other considerations, it would seem that Horrier could whe easily from Sheridan if the two were to meet. But there are other circumstances to be considered, and they are of so serious a nature that in the absence of an actual meeting of the two men, the title must be lebt where it is found—and Sheridan must be considered the greatest of them all. est of them all.

Sheridan Earns Honor.

First of all, Horner's records in the various events were made at different times, and for the most part, we may assume, his best performance in each event was made at a time when he had not been fatigued by competition in other events. Not so with the figures are those recorded in the 1909 world's championship contest and his work in are those recorded in the 1909 world's championship contest, and his work in at least part of the events must have suffered as the result of his strenuous efforts in the preceding events. To be more specific, the half-mile walk—which is the most trying of all events, and which leaves an athlete more unfit for further competition than does any other event—comes fourth on the programme. Subsequent to it are all of the events except the 10-yard dash, the shotput, and the high jump. It is a reasonable and a correct inference, then, that Horner's best records would not be equaled by him if he were competing under the conditions which govern the contest for the all round championship.

This brings us to the work of Sheridan himself. He became the individual champion in 1995, and was returned the winner again in 1907 and 1909, last year winner again in 1907 and 1909, last year being easily the most remarkable. In winning the championship for the first time Sheridan scored 5820½ points, nearly 500 points more than had been scored previously by any contestant, and yet last year in winning for the third time he raised his own record by another 500 points, scoring 7385, a mark which is more likely to succumb to his own efforts in similar contests than to those of any subsequent ashan to those of any subsequent aspirant for championship honors.

Athletes of Past Outranked.

We hear much of Ford and Jordan and Clark, individual champions of times past, and undoubtedly they were great athletes. But when their work great athletes. But when their work is compared with Sheridan's, it serves to emphasize the remarkable progress that has marked the history of track athletics and to stamp more clearly than any other agency could do possibly, the title of champion on Martin J. Sheridan. In 1886 M. W. Ford won the individual honors, but it is noteworthy that in only one area. worthy that in only one event, the 100-yard dash, which he ran in :10 2-5, did he excel the mark made by Sheridan last year, while in most of the others Sheridan's performance was so superior to Ford's that we are forced to wonder why we hear so frequently the claim that the old-time athletes were the greatest.

COLUMBIA WINS

MULTNOMAH BOYS GO DOWN TO DEFEAT, 6 TO 2.

Slow Playing, Aided by Poor Decisions by Umpire, Makes Contest Uninteresting.

Outbatting their opponents during the entire game, the Columbia University team won yesterday's game from the Multnomah Club on the latter's field, by the score of 6 to 2.

Columbia found no trouble in connecting with Jones. Kirk, aided by the work of Umpire Ed Bankin, held the Multnomah batters to seven hits.

Columbia started its run-getting in the second inning. Cliff Perkins led off with a single to center field and stole second. He was advanced to third by a sacrifice and scored by an error. Three tallies were gathered by the University boys in the fifth inning by touching up Jones for three hits and a wild throw to first by McPherson, who filled in at third for the Clubmen in the absence of Parke Meyers.

in the absence of Parke Meyers.

V. Perkins and Heywood got hits as the first two men up and Davis scored them with a three-bagger over Morris' head in right field; Davis scored on the error a moment later. Four hits netted one run in the seventh inning for Co-lumbia and a single and an error brought them their last run in the eighth.

Until the sixth inning Multnomah had only connected with the delivery of the auborn-haired Columbia twirler for two hits. In the sixth, however, Casa Campbell's men landed a run on an error by the pitcher, Ed Morris' single over second base and an infield hit by "Slug" Shearer. McPherson, first man up in the ninth, popped a fly over third base and was safe; a wild throw of Barton's grounder to Davis let him go to third and he registered from there on O'Brien's liner to third baseman Finnegan. O'Brien was called out at first by Umpire Bankin and the scoring ceased. The teams lined up as follows:
