will be about $15,000.

Museum of Art.—The exhibition of work of the classes of the Art School is attracting many visitors. The large number of excellent designs, drawings and paintings shown are very satisfactory evidences of the first year's accomplishment in the school. This exhibit ends on Monday, May 22. The galleries of the Museum will then be closed for the preparation of the Architectural Club exhibition, which opens June 3. That frame docks and sawmills and all such institutions must sooner or lacer give place to fireproof, modern structures, is recognized by Mayor Simon and the members of the Executive Board, several of whom have large property holdings on the river.

Harbor Greatest Asset. Portland's waterfront, they declare, is the greatest asset of the city, and improved and made modern In every respect. Therefore, they say, it is necessary that an ordinance should pass, setting a time when all frame structures along the river must be replaced by fireproof buildings.

Mr. Belding's ordinance, however, is milder than this. It provides merely for the extension of the fire limits to the harbor line, and makes it the law of the city that the old frame structures wited to witness conference in dentistry and pharmacy.

MRS. GUILLIAUME has instructed Baker & Son, auctioneers, to sell off the costly and extensive furnishings of her private hotel, commencing on Tuesday next. Full particulars under New Today, Section Two.

STUDY CLASS TO MEET.—The would not permit of its being replaced, except by fireproof materials. This would in the course of time, work out a system of modern docks and buildings along the river, but it would related to the course of time work out a system of modern docks and buildings along the river, but it would related to the course of time work out a system of modern docks and buildings along the river, but it would related to the course of time work out a system of modern docks and buildings along the river, but it would related to the course of time work out a system of modern docks and buildings along the river. quire many years. Some are in favor of a more radical ordinance—one that will fix a reasonable time in which all frame buildings must be removed. This, however, would be a most difficult measure to pass, as it would probably

Mayor Simon, from the outset of his administration, has taken a very active interest in the waterfront, and it was he who gave the order to Harbormaster he who gave the order to Harbormaster Speier to drive out the scow-dwellers. When the Mayor came into office last July, the river was lined on both sides with small floating houses, constituting a grave menace to the industries located there.

Realizing that the waterfront must be improved, and made modern, the Mayor now stands ready to give his support to a reasonable ordinance having for its object the cleaning up of the ing for its object the cleaning up of the harbor along the lines laid down in harbor along the lines laid down in the Belding measure.

John F. O'Shea, chairman of the fire committee of the Executive Board, also strongly supports the Belding ordinance, but he favors making a time limit for frame buildings there. He thinks that a term of years should be fixed, and that all frame structures should be removed in that period. He believes that sawmills and such establishments should be removed from along the upper harbor so as to give opportunity for the opening of streets to the river and to make fire risks less haradous.

The Belding ordinance will be up for action at next Wednesday's session of
