The meeting was called to order promptly by J. P. Kennedy, chairman of the county central committee, who addressed the delegates briefly and announced as the first order of business the selection of a temporary chairman. A. L. Mills arose at once and suggested S. B. Huston. W. C. Bristol immediately afterward nominated George W. Stapleton. A roll-call vote by precincts gave Mr. Stapleton 22 votes and Mr. Huston 198. A committee was named to escort the temporary chairman to the platform, He received an ovation and responded in a rousing speech which brought out tremendous cheering.

In response to loud calls, Mr. Huston addressed the assembly and he brought.

COUNT PROLONGS SESSION

Legislative Ticket to Be Completed

A. L. Mills, chairman of the committee on order of business, worked his way to the platform and submitted the re-port of the committee. It provided that all candidates before the assembly that all candidates before the assembly should receive a majority of the votes cast by delegates present in the hall. It was this feature of the rules which later caused the assembly to adjourn without endorsing a complete legislative ticket. With 30 candidates for the favor of the body placed before the delegates and the rules requiring that each of the 12 to be selected should receive a majority, the delegates were compelled to cast written ballots. Three hours were consumed in counting and tabulating the first ballot. The assembly will reconvene at 8 o'clock Monday night to complete that work.

State Delegates Apportlened.

The report of the committee on order of business, as adopted by the assembly, provided that 244 delegates to the state assembly on July 21 should be elected by precincts and 110 delegates-at-large to be selected by a committee of 13, made up of one from each of the 10 wards of the City of Portland and three from outside, or country pre-cincts. The apportionment in the City of Portland was as follows:

Thomas Histor wanted to amend the report by giving the delegates present power to name all the delegates to the power to name all the delegates to the state assembly and was supported in a strong speech by State Superintendent of Fublic Instruction Ackerman, who was of the opinion that the different wards should select the delegates atlarge, and suggested that the delegates knew best the qualifications of their dwn people. J. T. Whalley was of the opinion that the delegates should not dispense with the right to select one-third of the delegation to the big assembly, but William W. Banks and William M. Davis carried the day for the committee with speeches, pointing out that the selection of a committee to do that part of the work was not only fair, but would expedite the business of the assembly.

Both Delegations Rejected.

Both Delegations Rejected.

Chester V. Dolph, chairman of the committee on credentials, secured the floor and advised the assembly that the credentials of every delegation applying for admission and every precinct in the county was represented, with the exception of number 72. The credentials report settled the aspirations of the delegation headed by Ferdinand E. Reed, which knocked at the door bearing instructions from the handful which attended their precinct caucus, expressing disapproval of the assembly. Under the circumstances, the assembly thought proper to deny ad-caucus, expressing disapproval of the assembly. Under the circumstances, the assembly thought proper to deny admission to the Reed delegates. The delegation elected in opposition to the Reed crowd were also thrown out because the meeting at which they were elected had been unauthorized by the County Central Committee.

Judge M. C. George was received with an outburst of applause as he mounted the platform to present the report of the committee on platform. He outlined the policies of Roosevelt and Hughes, and as the delegates grasped the emphatic indorsement of President Taft and the purpose of the resolutions to open the way for rejuvenating the Republican party in Oregon, the delegates arose to their feet and cheered. As one wave of enthusiasm died away, some irrepressible member in another part of the hall would revive it, and again and again the assembly was swept with enthusiasm.

With the adoption of the George motion for the approval of the resolutions. William C. Bristol's sharp voice hailed the chairman from under the west balcony, and the ex-United States Attorney immediately launched into the presentation of the name of Louis G. Clarke, of Portland, for joint Senator to represent the counties of Multnomah. Clackamas and Columbia, for consideration of the state assembly, which has the final determination of the issue. The motion to instruct the state delegation for Mr. Clarke was seconded by E. B. Piper and was adopted, no other name being presented.

Similar disposition was made of the name of J. R. Latourette, who was suggested as a suitable person to be presented as the standard-bearer of the party in the primary election for Representative from Clackamas and Multnemah counties.

As the convention settled back for the next order of business the chairman recognized Wallace McCamant to place a candidate before the assembly for Senator from Multinemah County. Mr. McCamant announced that he was there in the interest of a native son and a former member of the Legislature who refused to vote for a Democrat for United States Senator. His candidate was Clifton N. McArthur, ex-Speaker of the House, secretary of the State Central Committee during the Taft campaign, and the private secretary of Governor Benson. Rev. C. E. Cline was the first to second the nomination, and in a few moments it was apparent that the popularity of McArthur had headed off any opposition and he was named by acclamation.

Thirty candidates for assembly indersements for members of the Multinomah delegation to the lower house of the Legislature were placed in nomination, W. H. Barry being the first to get the name of his friend, H. D. Angell, before the house. With but 12 candidates to indorse in the primaries, and a rule in effect that each should receive a majority of the votes of the assembly, each delegate voting for a full ticket, the elimination proces was necessarily slow.

The platform adopted by the assembly in which the attitude towards the direct primary law is made clear and in which the principles for which the Republican party in Multnoman County stands are fully set forth the resultable and party in Multnoman County stands are fully set

"As an assembly representing the Republican voters of Multnomah

County, we find our warrant in the express provisions of the preamble of the direct primary law, which reads as follows:

Political parties are useful and necessary. The method of naming candidates for elective public offices by political parties and voluntary political organizations is the best plan yet found for placing before the people the names of qualified and worthy citizens from whom the electors may choose the officers of our Government.

Every political party and every voluntary political organization has the same right to be protected from the interference of persons who are not identified with it as its known and publicly avowed members, that the government of the state has to protect itself from the interference of persons who are not known and registered as electors.

"We commend as the sentiment of this assembly the words of Governor Charles E. Hughes:

Voters should be guaranteed the right to determine within the ranks of their respective organizations who the candidates of the parties shall be.

"We reaffirm our faith in the principles of representative government and the maintenance of political parties, believing that no party or association of men can maintain its identity or exert its influence for the principles it expresses without organization; we believe in the wisdom of counsel and as free citizens of a free government we enjoy the constitutional right as members of the Republican party to assemble for the purpose of adopting a platform, considering the fitness of candidates, making recommendations to the people and performing such other duties as may be deemed wise and expedient; and that any intringement upon such right is a denial of the wisdom of the founders of our Government, both state and National, and against the rights guaranteed by our constitution and a violation of the real spirit of the direct primary law, with the fundamental principles of which we are in hearty accord.

"We mutually pledge our support at the Republican primary to the candidates for office named by this assembly.

"We demand an awakening of the public conscience in the matter of the registration of voters; frauds are perpetrated in every campaign on the majority party by the registration as Republicans of voters who are not and never have been in sympathy with the principles or policies of the Republican party.

Administration Is Indorsed.

"We unqualifiedly indorse the Administration of President Taft and point with pride to the fulfillment by the National Republican party of the pledges contained in its last platform. We point with pride to the history of the Republican party and to the capacity of the party, so often demonstrated, to solve public questions and to legislate and administer the Government in the interest of the whole people. We affirm our continued loyalty to the principles and policies of the party, and we mutually pledge ourselves to the effort necessary to strengthen the party organization and to put into office men who are loyal to its principles.

Insurgents and regulars tested their strength in the Pierce County Republican Convention, this afternoon, on a motion, by the insurgents, to eliminate the convention named $1 delegates to the state convention, with General Ashton as delegate-at-large.

The platform adopted by the convention decries "watered" stock, and demands that all corporations doing business in this state be honestly capitalized. It also demands adequate laws for the regulation of public-service corporations and the right to regulate fares without discrimination, condemns the Tacoma Railway & Power Company, and sets forth the present Fernhill fare fight as a glaring example of defective corporation legislation.

President Taft and Roosevelt are commended, as is also Representative McCredie: Ashton's Senatorial candidacy is indorsed, as is also the state administration.

Following General Ashton's address, Polindexter's friends in the hall set up a call for him. The Representative was on hand and after being introduced by Chairman Shackleford, said he was pressed for time and would not speak long, as he had to catch a train. Mr. Poindexter's address lasted over an hour, covered all the issues of the day and included a condemnation of Secretary Baillinger, until finally one country delegate broke in with "what time does your train leave, Mr. Poindexter" and brought down the house.
