CUT OF COAT LEADS TO STABBING.—
Professional criticism of the cut of a saloon acquaintance's coat, brought Andrew Ferranten, a tailor, a severe stab wound in the abdomen, Friday night. He was drinking with P. Bruno whom he told that the coat he was wearing was a bad bargain. Bruno slapped Ferranten in the face. Others pulled the men apart, when a cry went up that Ferranten was stabbed. No one saw the wound inflicted, but upon examination it was found that standed. No one saw the wound inflicted, but upon examination it was found that the tailor had a severe wound in the upper groin. The incident occurred at First and Columbia streets. Deputy Sheriff Joe Morak, who is carrying on a sampaign against the carrying of concealed weapons by his countrymen, made the arrest. Hearing was set for July 27.

BAD CHEEK TO BY MADE GOOD BUSINESS.

BAD CHECK TO BE MADE GOOD—Rufus S. Patty, accused of passing a bad check for $40, was released upon his recognizance in Police Court resterday and his rake was continued until September 23, upon his promise to make good the amount obtained by fraud. Patty is now affecting in a suit for divorce brought defendant in a suit for divorce brought by the wife whom he married about three weeks ago, and from whom he is alleged to have secured all her savings. Mrs. Party says her husband represented himby the wife who self to be half owner in a company which was burned out in the Exposition building fire, when as a matter of fact he was only an employe.

JAIL FRIGHTENS GIRL.—Mabel Gilfallen, a young girl recently arrested for bad apduct, decided yesterday that she preconduct, decided yesterday that she preferred 90 days at the Home of the Good Shepherd to a like period in the City Jail. The sentence had been imposed by Judge Bennott the day before, but when Mabel went back to the women's quarters in the Jail, some of the women advised her against spending the Summer at the home, where they said the accomodations were unsatisfactory. Moved by their representations, the girl refused to go to the home until she learned that the City Jail was the alternative.

Dogs Bother Householder - "For Heaven's sake do something," wrote A. J. Martin, on a postal card which he sent to police headquarters yesterday. Martin, who lives at 25 Bast Fortieth street, complained that at No. 25, on that street, there was "a vile cur that scatters putrid meat and bones about the neighborhood." The first card was followed closely by a second, in which Martin reiterated his complaint and added one concerning a dog at Thirty-ninth and East Salmon streets which howled all night. Patrolman Field was sent to investigate. He reported that he found a playful pup, five months old, which was lugging a bone about at the time he saw it: Field made frequent visits to the locality but heard no dog howl. Chief of Police Cox directed that the case be followed until the disturber of the peace was located.

EAST SIXTH STREET FILLED. — East Sixth street has been filled across Stephens Slough with sawdust and gravel. The filling was done while the surrounding territory was being filled with the same material. Some time ago the project of filling East Sixth street with sand and gravel was successfully registed. sand and gravel was successfully resisted by the Inman-Poulsen Company, but the company went shead and filled Bast Sixth and all the street out to East Eighth with sawdust with a coating of gravel and sand on the surface. The fill will pro-vide a temporary roadway on Bast Sixth street.

Yourn Made to Drink Beer.—For inducing Chester Seeley, a messenger boy, is years old, to drink beer, Frank L. Baker and his wife were fined $25 each in Police Court yesterday, the specific charge being that they were drunk. Baker and wife came to the city from Nevada recently with a large amount of money, intending to set up a rooming-house. They became intoxicated, rang for a messenger boy to bring them beer, and when he came, gave him a glass of the beverage. Detective Hawley observed the incident and arrested them.

Class Exhibit in Taxation.

PORTLAND, July 23 - (To the Editor.) -Whether or not notes should be taxed, can be figured out on the fingers of one Suppose one's thumb owns $2000 worth of sheep, which of course would be taxed, and then suppose one's thumb sold to finger No. 1 on a $3000 note, and finger No. 1 sold on a $3000 note to finger No. 2, and finger No. 2 sold on a $3000 note to finger No. 3, and finger No. 3 sold on a $3000 note to finger No. 4, there would be a $10,000 feast for our tax commission, with only $2000 worth of tangable property represented.

Then, suppose a man comes from the State of Washington with $2000 in money, and buying the sheep, takes them out of the state. Suppose each finger in turn pays off its note, see the havor that man will have raised with $5000 worth of our tax commission's taxable property.
