

MONTROSE NEARS END OF JOURNEY

Storm Brings Crippen Slight Respite.

ARREST EXPECTED TONIGHT

Plans Made to Hurry Dentist Back to London.

SUICIDE RUMOR ALARMS

At Noon Today Detective Dew Will Board Ship to Identify American Dentist and Stenographer. Suspects Still Unconscious.

FATHER POINT, Que., July 30.—Barring unforeseen delay, it will be known by noon tomorrow whether Dr. Hawley H. Crippen and his stenographer, Ethel Claire Levee, are aboard the steamship Montrose.

Tonight the vessel is forcing her way through a storm up the St. Lawrence River, nearing this point, where Inspector Dew, of Scotland Yard, with Canadian officers, waits impatiently to clamber aboard and arrest the man whom he believes to be the American dentist, a fugitive from justice, charged with the murder in London of an unknown woman, thought to have been his mistress, Belle Elmore.

Early this afternoon Captain Kendall went without sleep, he expected to be here by 6 o'clock Sunday morning, but later a storm came down the river and it seemed unlikely that the steamer would make as good time as her commander expected. If the police carry out their programme, they will land the pair at Quebec before 9 o'clock Sunday night.

Thursday Set for Day of Return.

If there is no hitch in arrangements and identification, the prisoners will be kept in jail at Quebec until Monday morning, when they will be arraigned before Judge Pate Angers, a Quebec police magistrate. Unless Crippen shows unusual resourcefulness, the Canadian police expect to place him in the hands of Inspector Dew on the same day, to be taken back to England on the next steamship sailing from Quebec on Thursday.

Frederick M. Ryder, the American Consul at Rimouski, near here, today came to Father Point to see Inspector Dew. He has no intention of interfering with the action of the Canadian authorities, but considers it his duty to have his rights as an American citizen being infringed and to advise him concerning his privileges.

Fog Prevents Messages.

Fog and thunderstorms tonight interrupted wireless communication between the Montrose and the local company and the local station.

Inspector Dew, in a private chat today, described the discovery of the body believed to have been Belle Elmore's in Crippen's London home.

"I saw nothing amiss when I first went through the house," he said, "and although I searched each room carefully, twice, with the same result, it was unsatisfied. I thought that it would be well to go back and test the walls with an iron bar. So I went back the fourth time, and at first I again found nothing amiss.

Ghostly Find Described.

"The collar walls all seemed sound, but, striking about with the iron bar, I struck a loose brick and out it fell. Immediately a terrible stench met my nostrils. Instantly I began to tear away the loose bricks, and underneath I found a mass of human flesh, eaten away with lime. Not a bone was found, and I believe the murderer, with his medical skill, separated them from the flesh and threw them into a canal not far from the house.

A rumor reached here tonight from Montreal that Crippen committed suicide on board the Montrose. This caused considerable uneasiness, although it was later found to be unfounded. (Continued on Page 2.)

FRILLS FOR MALES GO OUT OF STYLE

PLAIN CLOTHESMAN TO BE FASHION'S LATEST MODEL.

Cunning Little Pocket That Wifle Can't Find Is Innovation for Trousers of Coming Year.

CHICAGO, July 30.—(Special)—Fancy frills and furrowed, rows of gaudy buttons set in semi-barbaric fashion, and tawdry plaits and flourishes that used to be "all the go" in men's clothing and that forced inventive tailors to rack their brains almost to desperation in their endeavor to outdo the gaily-dressed courtiers of Elizabethan days, striving to satisfy the public mania for "nobby" clothes, are doomed.

Disreputable experts who viewed the displays of the latest "wrinkles" in masculine wearing apparel exhibited at the opening of the fashion show at the Coliseum today, to be up-to-date in clothes now, you must be plain. Wear conservatively-cut clothes and lay aside the fancy work.

Conservative colors, the plain blues, grays and browns, without the color-clashing stripes, checks and plaids, once so popular, as well as plain patterns, seem to have taken precedence over the elaborately-hued and multi-colored combinations that once were in style. This is the mandate of the fashion dictators who determine what the man should wear and whose orders are complied with by most men who want to appear like the rest of the world.

FILMS QUICKLY END WAR

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Left sitting on the "lid" at the State Department by Assistant Secretary Knox, Assistant Secretary of State Huntington Wilson has had the fortune to see the end of the war in Nicaragua, a problem, the accomplishment of which has been worrying the department for months. He saw the happy solution of his troubles in a moving picture show.

With the diplomatic corps off to the seashore and officials in the Government generally remembered here only by their vacant seats, Mr. Wilson has had to hunt around right lively to find some amusement. He has become a 5-cent theater devotee.

One night this week at a show he was amazed to behold scenes of battles had read about in dispatches from consular representatives in Nicaragua. He saw the dispatches telling of war and desolation laid before the Secretary of the Navy. He beheld a gunboat of the United States rushing through the waters. The next moment he witnessed without a single gun being fired, the war was over.

PREHISTORIC FIND MADE

California Cave Reveals Human Skeletons and Big Lake.

ADURBURN, Cal., July 30.—(Special)—The bones of two prehistoric humans with low brows and heavy jaws have been found in an ancient cave on the limestone property that is being opened up near Cool, Eldorado County. The company owning the ground gave to Dr. Sawyer, of Auburn, permission to open and explore the cave and recover any curios it might possess.

In one chamber were found portions of two human skeletons. They are believed to be those of members of a race that inhabited this country long before the Indians lived here. A large lake has been found in another chamber of the cave. Further explorations will be made and the lake itself will be searched.

ROME, July 30.—Notwithstanding the extremely strained relations between the Vatican and the Spanish government, the recall of Marquis de Ojeda, the Spanish ambassador to the Vatican, has produced a great sensation in Rome. The Vatican, in a semi-official communication, says that the recall of the Ambassador proves that the programme of Premier Canalejas was not arranged with a hope of accord, but with a desire for a fight and, the communication adds, we will have it.

PROTESTANT INFLUENCE SEEN.

In Spain, it is pointed out, there is in addition to the French Free Masonic influence, the English Protestant influence exercised over the King through the Battenbergs, who have established themselves at the Spanish court, consequent upon the King's marriage.

Hope of the Vatican is that Don Jaime, the Carlist pretender, who has threatened a revolution, will raise the Carlist flag and vindicate Roman Catholicism.
