

LONG SEARCH FOR WENDLING ENDED

Murder Suspect Found Hiding Under Sink After Great 11,000-Mile Chase.

THIRD DEGREE USELESS

Relentless Hunt for Alleged Slayer of Alma Kellner Leads From Louisville to San Francisco. Quarry Protests Innocence.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Dragged from beneath a sink in the washroom of a Third-street lodging-house in this city, where he had been crouching for 24 hours, Joseph A. Wendling, accused of the brutal murder of little Alma Kellner, of Louisville, Ky., and whose turnings have baffled the police for four months, was arrested today by Detectives Burke and Ryan of the local police department.

Former Fiance Gives Clue.

It seemed the irony of fate that the only respectable woman connected with Wendling during his wanderings should have been the unconscious means of betraying him. Mrs. Muena met Wendling at the home of her aunt in Houston, Tex., and before she returned to her home in Hume she was engaged to the dashing young Frenchman, who dazzled the aunt with tales of his foreign estates and the wealth in France which would come to him with the inheritance of his father. Before Mrs. Muena left Houston she grew to find Wendling and after her return to Hume she broke the engagement.

Trail Found and Lost in Texas.

When Carney received the clue that Wendling was working for a grocer in Houston, he began a long search which led him to every county seat in Texas. When he reached Houston he found that Wendling had fled to San Antonio, where he had secured a position on a ranch 22 miles from that town. A trip to the ranch proved abortive, as the hunted man had fled, leaving some of his effects behind. Here Carney lost the trail and returning to Houston he sent a decoy letter to Mrs. Muena asking for the address of Henry Jacquelin, the name assumed by Wendling when he left Louisville. The reply, intercepted by Carney, informed him that his prey was in Los Angeles. The detective's trip to Los Angeles proved fruitless, he returned to San Antonio, where he found that Henry Picard, a friend of Wendling, had received a postal note from the fugitive. This communication, written in French, was postmarked Rio Vista.

Scent Becomes Cold.

Abandoning his Texas hunting ground, Carney came immediately to this city, where he secured the assistance of the local detective bureau. Accompanied by Detective Conitt, he went to Rio Vista, but their man had flown, leaving behind him, however, his name on the payroll of a company which was building a dam along the Sacramento River. Then the trail again became so cold that Carney determined to visit Mrs. Muena at her home in Hume. He reached there just in time to prevent the destruction of a postal which gave the address of Wendling in Vallejo, Cal. Mrs. Muena had destroyed her other correspondence, but the white envelope and was on the point of burning the postal when the Louisville official arrived. When the address was flashed to San Francisco, Detective Burke was at once sent to Vallejo. In the possession of Alice Miller, with whom Wendling had been living, he found his photograph and a complete kit of burglar's tools. A further search of the place led to the discovery of many articles which had been taken from the residence of Thomas Saunders, which had been broken into and robbed three times. This was the house formerly occupied by Charles Wideman, for whom Wendling worked as gardener.

Strange Double Baffles.

Wendling was soon traced to this city, but the detectives were thrown off the track by a strange double, who left a suitcase in a deserted house in the North Beach foreign quarter. The death by his own hand of this suspect three days ago, left the detectives without the scent, but they caught it again when Captain of Detectives Wall received a tip Thursday night that the fugitive was in a Third-street lodging house. The number given proved to be a vacant lot, next door, however, was a lodging house frequented by laboring men. Mrs. Mary Moriarty, the owner of the house declared that a man answering Wendling's description had been there but had left a few days before. The detectives were still suspicious and after watching the house for 24 hours, determined this morning to make a search. Their efforts were rewarded by the discovery of Wendling crouching beneath the sink of a wash-room. Dragged forth he did not make the slightest resistance, and when the bullet wound in his hand and the tattooed ship on his arm were exposed by his captors, he readily admitted his identity.

Wendling Maintains Innocence.

On the arrival of the detectives with Wendling at the city prison, Chief of Police Martin and District Attorney Fleckert were summoned. With the detectives these two officials remained cloistered for an hour with the prisoner. He protested his innocence of the Kellner murder, declaring that he knew nothing of it until he read the finding of the body. Wendling maintains that he had adopted the name of his mother to avoid his brother-in-law Louis Arnold, who had pursued him from France to make him marry Madeline Arnold. That the bitterness between the two men had grown since the marriage, until he feared for his life, was the story clung to by Wendling in explaining his flight.

Third Degree of No Avail.

Although the two men had never met before, Wendling declared that Carney by name when the Louisville police chief entered his cell this afternoon.

MADRIZ FILES PROTEST

SAYS YACHT HORNET CONVERTED INTO WAR VESSEL.

Violation of Neutrality Laws in Interest of Estrada Alleged by Nicaraguan Ruler.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Counselors for the Madriz government in Nicaragua, acting under cable instructions from Managua, today filed formal protests with this government against the sailing of the yacht Hornet, commonly reported to have been bought for the Estrada revolution at Norfolk last week, and demanded an examination of the vessel, which is now en route to New Orleans. The Department of Justice, it is understood, has instructed United States Attorney Battle at New Orleans to take whatever steps may be necessary for the protection of the neutrality laws before clearance papers are issued to the Hornet. The Department of Commerce and Labor in the same protest has been asked not to clear the ship and the State Department has been reminded of the case of the Alabama, of Civil War fame.

TOOTHPICKS CAUSE OF WAR

Chicago "U" Students Accused of Using Them Improperly.

CHICAGO, July 30.—A battle of toothpicks is on at the University of Chicago. The "regulars" have declared war on the Summer students because the latter use the toothpicks in public with little delicacy. This habit, say the "regulars," is unattractive to the point of annoyance. The anti-toothpick crusaders tackled a notice on the official bulletin board yesterday informing the warm weather visitors of their attitude. The notice was as follows: "Warning is hereby given that the public exhibition of toothpicks in action, wooden, quill, or otherwise, is no longer regarded as good form at the University of Chicago. Persons who insist on using the same will kindly perform their dental excavation in private. The use of toothpicks on the sidewalks, on the lawn, in the classrooms or at social functions at the University is hereby declared an abomination in the eyes of the student body and is forbidden. Violence will be used, if necessary."

Suffragettes to Show Babies.

NEW YORK, July 30.—There are to be some unique features in a monster suffrage parade which is to take place in New York City in October as the opening gun of the suffragists' Fall campaign. According to the announcements just issued, one float is to be filled with "suffrage babies" to show that suffragists do not neglect rearing families. The float is to contain "the most beautiful American babies" seated in a Sedan chair. Another will carry "three pioneer suffrage workers" who were women who took an active part in the first suffrage meeting in this country, held at Geneva, N. Y., in 1848. The three women are Miss Roda Palmer, of Seneca Falls; Mrs. James Chace, and Mrs. W. P. Willoughby, of Rochester. One section of the parade will be devoted to demonstrating that women are usurping man's place in many trades and professions. There will be a division of women athletes and a squadron of women on horseback, driving four-in-hands and automobiles.

No Free Beer for Policemen.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Mayor Gaynor has announced his determination to put a stop to the distribution of free beer to policemen and firemen by several big New York breweries. The practice was called to his attention in a letter from Fire Commissioner Wald, which has been made public by the order of the Mayor. According to officers of the brewing industry, the practice of the Mayor is trying to stamp out is not new. They declared that it had been going on ever since the brewery started, and that so far as they knew it was true in nearly every other brewery in town.

Widow Slays Husband's Partner.

STURGIS, S. D., July 30.—Attorney D. P. Thomas was shot and killed by Mrs. McMahon, widow of his late partner in the McMahon & Thomas law office, this morning. Mr. McMahon died a few months ago, and it is said Mrs. McMahon wanted Thomas to vacate the law office. Thomas refused, and this led to a wrangle.
