VACATION days are almost over for many of the college and seminary boys and girls and already plans are being made to leave for the favored Eastern institutions. September will see the beginning of the exodus to the colleges and finishing schools, although some of the young people are going before the opening of the Fall term to make visits to friends, on their way to school. Miss Alice Carey, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Charles H. Carey, will enter Smith College. She will leave here in a few weeks, accompanied by her sister, Miss Evelyn, who goes to Miss Spence's school in New York City. Miss Claire Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore B. Wilcox, and Miss Louise Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Burns, will go back to the same school.

Miss Schoville's school will again have many Portland girls. Katherine Holbrook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Holbrook, and Miss Helen Goode, daughter of Mrs. H. W. Goode, will go there next month. Miss Lillian Buehner, with her mother, Mrs. Philip Buehner, and elder sister, Miss Margaretta Buehner, leave the middle of September for the Lasalle school, at Aburduale, near Boston. To Lasalle, also, may go some of the girls who graduated in Miss Buehner's class from the Portland Academy last June. Mrs. Joseph K. Clarke, of Los Angeles, who has been summering at Alexandra Court, will take Miss Orrice Josselyn East next Saturday. They are going to Mrs. Clarke's country place near Morris, N. Y., for a few weeks and then Miss Josselyn will enter the National Park Seminary in Washington, D. C. This is one of the most popular of schools with the girls of the younger set of this city and will probably attract others this term, among them being Miss Mildred Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Morgan.

Photographs are shown on the society page today of Mrs. Francis J. Bailey and her twin sister, Mrs. A. J. Richardson, of Joseph, Or. Mrs. Richardson has been with Mrs. Bailey at Alexandra Court for the last fortnight but returned to her home yesterday. On Monday Mrs. Bailey entertained at luncheon at the Court for her sister and for Mrs. Henry Russell Talbot (nee Montgomery). Rev. Mr. Talbot and Mrs. Talbot are now camping out at Newberg, returning to Portland for the week-ends.

The table at the luncheon was most attractive. Ragged pink asters graced the center and pink Cecil Brunner roses formed bouquets for each guest. The places were marked in a novel manner. Perched upon each individual water glass was a life-like painted bird. Each differed from the other and upon each was written a guest's name. Those invited were: Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Talbot, Mrs. John A. Keating, Mrs. C. B. Reed, lately of Philadelphia, Mrs. Jay J. Morrow, Mrs. William Taylor Patner, of Seattle, Mrs. Wallace McCamant, Mrs. I. L. Patterson, Mrs. Fred T. Malpas, Miss Etta Morris and Miss Ethel Thompson.

Mrs. Bailey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Wilson, of Astoria, Wash. (near Lewisville) left for their home on Monday.

Much sympathy was extended last week to the family of Dr. and Mrs. A. Morrison because of the death of little Jean Morrison Sharp, which occurred at the Morrison home August 12. She was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sharp (Margaret Morrison) of Prineville, and was not a year old. She was the namesake of her aunt, Miss Jean Morrison, youngest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Morrison. Mrs. Sharp will remain at the rectory for some time. Dr. Morrison is still away on his Alaskan trip, having started several days before the illness of baby Jean necessitated Mrs. Sharp's bringing her to Portland from their ranch home.

Miss Lucia Harriman asked a few of her friends in to her apartment on Twenty-second street North, Friday afternoon to meet Mrs. Robert Wilson Forbes. Both Mrs. Forbes and Miss Harriman are comparatively recent arrivals here. Miss Harriman coming last Spring from Milwaukee, Wis., and New York City. Among those calling between 4 and 6 o'clock were: Mrs. Frank M. Warren, Jr., Mrs. Otis B. Wright, Mrs. Harry L. Powers, Mrs. E. J. Labbe and her sister, Mrs. George Horace Tappen, of New York, Mrs. R. D. Cannon, Mrs. Paul E. Froelich, Mrs. Wallace McCamant, Mrs. John E. Carroll, Mrs. A. C. Newell, Mrs. J. K. Gamble, Mrs. Bertram Luten and others.

Relative to the Brooke-Pomeroy betrothal, one of the San Francisco papers published the following:

By means of notes sent to her friends today Miss Christine Morris Pomeroy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carter P. Pomeroy, is announcing her engagement to Thomas Scott Brooke, of Portland, Or. The wedding will take place this autumn in the Pomeroy home on Clay street and will be one of the important social events of the early season as the bride-elect is one of the best-liked girls in San Francisco and her family one of the oldest and most prominent.

Miss Pomeroy spent the early summer in Portland as the guest of friends and relatives, and during her Northern visit became engaged, although none of her friends knew of the fact until today. Mr. Brooke is here visiting at the Pomeroy home.

Miss Pomeroy graduated from Mills College and later attended a finishing school in New York. After a year in New York she went abroad with her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Thompson, and traveled about six months.

She made her debut October 30, 1903, her coming out party being one of the fashionable teas of that year at the old Pomeroy home at Clay and Hyde streets.

On both sides of her family Miss Pomeroy is descended from a distinguished ancestry. Her grandfather, the late John Norton Pomeroy, was for many years a professor in Hastings Law College, upon the retirement from the profession of which he was a distinguished exponent. On her mother's side, Miss Pomeroy is descended from the Morris family, famous in early colonial history of New York and New Jersey, Morris County being named for one of the members. Her aunt, Hattie Pomeroy, later Mrs. Thompson, of New York, was a famous beauty and belle of a decade ago in this city.

The bride-elect is a girl of much charm, and is possessed of a fine mentality. She is extremely handsome, with fine gray eyes and black hair. Since her debut she has always attended the Greenway, the Alexander and other exclusive assemblies, and is a member of several clubs.

Brooke is a really man of the northern city and, like his names, comes of an old and socially prominent family.

Mrs. J. Andre Foulhoux asked a few women in to her apartment again this week on Thursday to have tea and to meet her sisters, the Misses Daisy and Laura Clarks, of Baltimore.

Portland people will remember with pleasure Mr. and Mrs. Edmund P. Simpson, who, with their two sons, have been passing the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Emmons at their home in Riverdale. Dr. Simpson was rector of All Saints' Mission here some five or six years ago. Since then he and his family have been living in Honolulu. Dr. Simpson officiating as canon of the cathedral. Dr. and Mrs. Simpson and family will leave early this week for San Francisco. They will not return to the islands, and will probably make their future home somewhere on this coast.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Emmons are making active preparations for their coming departure on a tour of the world. They will be accompanied by their son and two daughters, the Misses Katherine and Louise Emmons. The Misses Emmons are now at Ocean Park spending the week with a house party. They are guests of Mrs. E. J. Smith, as is their visitor from Michigan, Miss Helen Lee, Miss Shanna Cumming, Miss Mildred and Harold Smith and Mr. Lutz. With the Emmons will sail Thomas Honeyman and his two daughters, the Misses Mildred and Grace Honeyman, who returned after a month at the beach, Tuesday. They will leave the middle of September and sail from Seattle. Arrangements are being made to meet Mr. and Mrs. Amadee Smith at Cairo, the middle of February and to take the Nile Valley trip with them. Later the party will tour the continent of Europe in motor cars.

Mrs. Russell Sewall gave an informal tea Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock honoring her house guests, Miss Mercy and Miss Marguerite Mercy, of San Francisco, who have been visiting the Sewalls for a fortnight. About 20 women came in and some smart frocks were in evidence. Mrs. Lansing Stout and Mrs. Carleton Williams, of The Dalles, served iced tea.

Mrs. E. De Witt Connell left yesterday for New York. She was accompanied by Miss Grace Weston, who is returning to her home there after a visit to the coast and a fortnight's stay with Dr. and Mrs. Connell at the Montgomery home
