LUMBERRATETOBE RAISED, IS REPORT

Interstate Commission Has Private Information of Contemplated Increase.

Purpose of Hill and Harriman Lines Not Officially Declared-Eastern Markets Already Lost, Says Local Shipper.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash ington. Sept. 3 .- According to private advices received by the Interstate Com ree Commission, the Hill and Harriman Railroads contemplate again advancing the rate on lumber shipped East from Pacific Coast points when the existing rates fixed by the commiaion expire automatically on October 15. It is reported that the railroads contemplate advancing the rates even beyond the point which they sought to attain two years ago, at the time when the commission made material reduc-tions in their schedules as filed.

in the event that this attempt is ade and is resisted by the lumber interests, the commission will be com-pelled to go over the same ground it covered incident to its decision two years ago and the ratireads, to justify their proposed adv. ice, will be obliged to show increased cost of service since the commission established the present rates, October 15, 1908.

"If the milroads increase the rate or lumber it will absolutely be prohibi-tive," said F. H. Ransom, manager and treasurer of the Western Lumber Company, last night. "The rate is so high new that lumbermen of the West do not feel like making an effort to go after business in the East. The jockeying of rates in the East has had the effect of discouraging lumbermen in attempting to seek Eastern trade. Southern lumber has constituted by the constitution of the constitution tempting to seek Eastern trade. Southern lumber has practically shut us out of Nebruska and even Colorado. A few years ago we shipped dozens of carloads of lumber every month to Eastern Colorado. This year we have shipped only one car. Southern lumber is sold in Eastern Colorado for $5 to $4 less a thousand than we can afford to sell 't. "I believe the railroads realize our predicament and that any increase will be prohibitive. Instead of increasing the raises I think 'e railroads might be more disposed to reduce them and get the business. Two weeks ago I be more disposed to reduce them and get the business. Two weeks ago I talked with high officials of both the Harriman and Hill roads regarding lumber rates, and they were of the opinion that it would not be advisable to increase rates. In view of present conditions and the high rate that has made it not worth while to go after busiesses in the East, it is hard for me to believe that any increase is contembated by either of these roads.

"But what about the Milwaukee?" uddenly asked Mr. Ransom. "We want to know what the Milwaukee is doing. We understand they are in the West.

We understand they are in the West or business, and we would like to now if they contemplate an incerase."

Army Engineers Fear Nature of Soil Will Make Umatilla Project Inadvisable.

BOARD WILL INVESTIGATE

Proposed Extension May Not Be Built-Normal Flow of River Already Appropriated, Is Latest Report.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washngton, Aug. 30.—The Board of Army Engineers, now in the West inspecting Government irrigation projects for the President, probably will spend sev-eral days on the Umatilia project, look-ing into engineering and physical con-ditions affecting the feasibility of the west-side extension.

From a purely engineering stand-point, it is declared by officials of the Reclamation Service that this contem-plated extension is entirely feasible. The land is of good quality, and lies The land is of good quality, and lies well. There is a suitable reservoir site and with storage sufficient water could be impounded to irrigate all the lands embraced in the preposed extension. Moreover, these thifigs alone considered, this new part of the project could be built at a figure which land owners and settlers could afford to pay.

But it is learned that there are other features to be considered before this features to be considered before this west-ride extension can be adopted, and it will be for the board to determine shether or not these considerations justify the Government in building the project, or whether they make it advisable for the Government to abandon this field to private enter-

It the first place, it is learned that the normal flow of the Umatilia River is appropriated. Water for the west-side extension must be obtained by storage. This means the building of a storage. This means the building of a dam across the Umatilla River, and the backing up of the waters behind this dam to the very edge of the new town of Stanfield. The town will not be flooded by the waters of the reservoir, but will find itself on the bank of a long, narrow artificial lake.

The town, which has grown tremend-ously in the past year, according to in-formation on file in Washington, is comparatively flat, and the golf throughout the country porous. The erection of this big storage lake or res-ervoir, bringing the water close to the town, would, it is feared, have a marked tendency to saturate the land on which the town is built, rendering the main-tenance of cellars Impossible, and otherwise damaging the value of prop-Should this presumption prove cor-

should this presumption prove cor-rect, it would be necessary for the Gov-ernment, before building the Umatilla extension, either to buy out or move the town of Stanfield, or else pay heavy damages resulting from the saturation of the soil and the consequent damage to town real estate. This, in itself, is ne of the obstacles to be reckoned or and one of the elements tending to in-crease the cost of the proposed project. Another thing to be considered by the board is the unsatisfactory condition of water rights and filings along the Umatilia River. It is believed by officials of the Reclamation Service that the waters of the Umatilla are over-appropriated, and that if all the water be taken out and applied to irrigation, there would not be enough water left for the proposed Government project. As a matter of fact, with storage, it is believed there would be ample water for the Government project if private appropriators did not undertake to increase their diversions, or if none of the water applied to irrigation was al-lowed to go to waste. However, the sitincumbent upon the Army Board to | geans determine definitely whether or not there can be procured, by storage, suf-ficient water to reclaim the 60,000 acres included in the proposed extension. There will be no determination as to what shall be done about the Umatilla extension until some time next Winter, for the board will reserve its report until after its return to Washington, and the present indications are that the board's views will not be laid before the President before the first of Jan-uary, 1911. Until that report is re-ceived and digested, none of the $20,-000,000 fund will be allotted and no extensions authorized.

If the west-side Umatilla extension is turned down, Oregon will probably more somber her nervousness not share in the benefits accruing from the $20,000,000 band issue, for it is reported that the only possible extension that might be made of the Klamath project would be one for the reclama-tion of about 15,000 acres of fruit land, lying entirely in California. So far as Oregon is concerned, it must be the west-side Umatilia extension, or nothing.
