COUPLE SEEKING WORK

Cold Facts Spoil Hopfield Romance. Bridegroom Says Former Spouse Agreed That He Should Be Free to Wed Again.

ROSEBURG, Or. Sept. 3 .- (Special.) -The vigilance displayed by Rev. Mr. Mears, of the Methodist Church South this afternoon, prevented a bigamous marriage and incidentally opened the way to prosecution of a couple on a serious charge.

The principals were W. W. Groat, 50 years old, and Mrs. Nettle Burnheim, a few years his junior. Both claimed Portland as their homes and contended that they were on the way to the Wil-lamette Valley in search of employment in the hopyards. The couple arrived here Thursday night and having no money were taken in custody by the officers. Groat informed District Attorney Brown yesterday that he and Mrs. Burnheim had Intended to be married as soon as he could earn sufficient money.

The District Attorney decided to temper justice with mercy and upon Groat's promise to marry the woman ordered the couple released from Jall. The officials about the Courthouse, including the District Attorney, contributed this afterneon to a fund of $3 with which a marriage license was obtained and Rev. Mr. Mears was sent for to perform the ceremony.

for to perform the ceremony.

Rev. Mr. Mears questioned Groat at length and finally the would-be bridegroom admitted that he had a wife living at Red Bluff, Cal., from whom he had never been divorced.

"We agreed to live apart," said Groat, "and I left her with the understanding that I could marry anyone else I chose. She is my second wife. My first wife died more than eight years ago."

Mr. Bowerman Outlines Platform and Meets Enthusiastic Reception From His Neighbors. Hawley Is Applauded.

EUGENE, Or., Sept. 3.—(Special.)— The Republicans of Lane County today placed in nomination a complete county ticket, adopted a set of strong resolu-tions and completed the day's work with a Republican rally at which Acting Gov-ernor Bowerman and Representative W. C. Hawley were the principal speakers. Delegates from every section of the county except Cottage Grove, gathered at the Courthouse this morning and ef-fected the same organization as at the former assembly held on July 2. The following county ticket was recom-State Senator, W. W. Calkins, of Eugene; State Representatives, L. B. Cush-man, of Acme, W. M. Sutton, of Spring-field, and Alian Exton, of Eugene; Coun-ty Judge, Helmus, W. Thompson, of Eu-gene; County Commissioner, W. L.

Nominations Made Unanimous.

All nominations were made unaniception of three contests, the candi-dates had no opposition.

For State Representative the vote was taken on the candidates from the different sections of the county. From the central part of the county there were three candidates. The vote was C. J. Dodd 22, M. Vernon Parsons 14 Allen H. Eaton 74.

For Commissioner Oren Bennett re-ceived 37 votes and W. L. Wheeler 78. For Treasurer, A. C. Jennings received 35 votes, S. W. Taylor 58, and C. W. Brown 20.

The resolutions drafted by S. M. Yo-ran set forth the right of all men to assemble for the consideration of the principles underlying government, pledged the ballots of the delegates to the candidates chosen and concluded with the words:

"We acknowledge the validity of the primary election law and the right of the people under that law; but we deny the right of construing the law so as to make unlawful the assembling of any portion of our people in conference relative to the best means to secure the best results under its provisions. The resolutions were enthusiastically adopted.

CUSTOMS MEN DETAIN FRANK TILLEY, OF PORTLAND.

Sister Died Abroad and Power of Authorities to Collect Duty on Effects Is Onestioned.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—(Special.)—The personal effects of the late Countess Stayra, including a costly collection of jewelry, are now in the hands of the customs authorities and there is prospect of an interesting as well as important legal fight to determine whether they are exempt as the belongings of an American citizen who died abroad. This became known today when it was learned at the Custom-house that S. W.

the Park-Avenue Hotel. already made shows that the goods are worth more than $10,000. When Mr. Tilley and his wife arrived several days ago on the Mauretania, I was known by the custom officials here that Mr. Tilley was bringing home the belongings of his sister, who had died in Paris on February 22. He made no attempt at evasion, and in a note upon his declaration said that the goods were in his possession. The goods con-sist of clothing, furs and many pieces of costly jewelry.

The Government contends that not only was the Countess the widow of an allen, but that she had not been in this country for six years. When the Countess died it was reorted to the authorities that her effects were worth $1,000,000 and from that day until the arrival of the Mauretania a watch was kept both here and abroad.
