Beautiful New Evening Gowns
Dinner Dresses and Party Dresses

We are pleased to announce that our showing of these is now complete, all of them more or less elaborate, and although following fashion's dictates as to narrow-skirts are not the extreme or "hobble" style. So skillfully are they designed that in spite of their straight lines they are truly very graceful. Every delicate tint is shown—ivory, white, cerise, scarlet—the favored shade of Poiret this season, light blue, pale rose pink, violet, tinted snuff brown over pink and many other dainty shades. $75 to $375.

The Label of Merit

From a number of exceptionally pleasing afternoon dresses that combine the most charming features of prevailing modes we select a few for special mention:

A fine broadcloth model trimmed with Persian Princess braid, a modified effect from one of Poiret's velvet dresses. Small square of India cashmere, small buttons covered to match. At $37.50

A smart brown corduroy and an exact copy of a Poiret model, with fancy Marie Princess narrow braid around yoke at waist line and to hold in hem effect. White lace and net yoke and sleeves; $40.

Another model in hair line, two-toned effect of heavy messaline satin, banded with wide bands of black. The color of the hair line is green and of the ground, black; small lace collar and jabot of white and long sleeves. Priced at $27.50.

Of French serge is another model in brown, with the Poiret blouse with narrow skirt and Paquin's favorite wide bands to match shower sleeve. High collar and long sleeves. Also has plaited collar band of Persian pattern net and same effect on cuff. At $30.00.

Floor Coverings of Distinctive Merit

The Tull & Gibbs' Carpet and Rug Section has always been the mecca for discriminating buyers and no effort or expense has been spared to secure the best the leading mills of the country produce. This Autumn's showing of exclusive fabrics and patterns will appeal to those in search of the low-priced but artistic carpet or rug and to those who seek the more costly and luxurious floor coverings. The growing demand for the better things of carpetdom is easily supplied from our splendidly appointed stock.

The importance of the small rug is being more thoroughly appreciated now than ever before and to meet this demand our small-rug rack was installed, showing 160 different rugs, 27x54 inches and 36x63 inches in size. It facilitates selection and avoids the confusion of the old method of indiscriminate floor showing. Let us show you how convenient it is.

The Bundhar Wilton Carpet—the best-known high-grade floor covering in Portland, is the carpet "par excellence" for general use. Anywhere in the home or public building the Bundhar will give an excellent and thoroughly satisfactory account of itself. We can furnish many testimonials of its sterling qualities from satisfied customers who have used Bundhar for years. A wide range of patterns and plain colors, which are so popular at present.

Axmister Carpets to Meet All Needs—The popularity of this medium-priced carpet is justified by its excellent wearing qualities, which have been proved by years of use in many hotels, where hard service has to be considered. Our line of Axminster contains all the desirable things from the standard makers—Bigelow, Smith and Hartford—names that stand for all that is good in the carpet world. We shall be glad to show you this very interesting stock and furnish estimates. For public buildings and offices the advent of the skyscraper in Portland brings a new problem in floor coverings—the proper furnishing of cement floors. Where carpets are not practical and comfort has to be considered our stock of Battleship Linoleum, American and English Cork Carpets solves the problem easily and economically. We are equipped to give you the best service and stock in Portland in this line of floor coverings. Estimates and information will be gladly furnished. Carpet and Rug Section—Sixth Floor.

New Modes in Women's Long Top Coats

The long separate Coat is an important feature of Fall and Winter dress—a practical style and indeed one that will be appreciated by all women. Lily of France Corsets

Sold Exclusively in Portland by the Tull & Gibbs Store

No subject is more interesting to women than corsetry, and they are always eager to acquaint themselves with what is modish, and correct, in corsets.

The Lily of France are the acknowledged finest of American-made corsets—produced by a concern whose entire experience is devoted to the making of high-art corsets—and to further perfecting them.

In Lily of France Corsets women find their particular models—whether it be a high or low bust or a medium or short model that is desired.

One Lily of France model is especially adapted to the medium well-developed figure—a corset that affords perfect ease and comfort to the wearer when standing or seated. Made of beautiful material—priced at $8.50.

Another Lily of France model and one that is extremely popular—not an extreme style, but adapted for the medium full figure, with low bust, is priced at $7.50.

A special Lily of France model—made for misses and those of slender figure, is very lightly boned and made of French batiste. Priced at $5.

At $10 is another Lily of France model that is made on the very newest lines, with rather low bust and long over the hips. Of Pekin stripe and priced at $10.

Women who are seeking advice as to the correct model for their figure and its improvement are assured of satisfaction when advised by our expert corsetiers.
