

INDIANA DEFEATS CHICAGO "U" 6-0

Biggest Surprise in Middle West Football Sprung on Stagg's Men.

FORWARD PASS IS SHUNNED

Rockefeller School Boys Unable to Solve Mysteries of Hoosiers for First Time Since Universities Opposed Each Other.

MARSHALL FIELD, Chicago, Oct. 8.—For the first time since the University of Chicago and Indiana began opposing each other at football Indiana today defeated Coach Stagg's athletes, 6 to 0.

The first half was replete with penalties, which robbed the contest of much of its spectacular interest. In the second period the men played closer to the rules. The Chicago backs were able to go through the opposing lines for good action, but never with sufficient constancy to gain a touchdown. Wilson and Gill pointed beautifully from the 46-yard line, feasts which they were called upon to perform throughout the contest. A line charge and two forward passes sent Gill across the line for the only touchdown of the game.

Indiana in the second half, used the forward pass effectively, but the Chicagoans fought shy of it. Score: Indiana 6, Chicago 0. The lineup: Chicago. Position. Indiana. Kneass, E. ... Hatfield, Paine ...

GOPHERS DEFEAT HAWKEYES

Minnesota Runs Up 49 Points Against Ames, Ia., "Aggies."

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 8.—Minnesota triumphed over the Ames Agriculturalists from Iowa, today, by the score of 49 to 6. Minnesota showed great form and found the Ames line for gains on almost every play. This was Minnesota's third game of the season, but they did not try half the number of their plays against Ames.

Captain Johnston, who has been on the side lines for the last two games with a sore shoulder, got into the first half of today's battle and played a brilliant game. At the start of the game, Minnesota started a walk-away of the game and at the end of the opening period, held a topheavy lead of 37 to 0. As substitutes were sent in as the game advanced, the score was not made with the regularity they were in the early part of the game. The lineup:

Minnesota. Position. Ames. Kneass, E. ... Hatfield, Paine ...

HARVARD WALLOPS WILLIAMS

Crimson Scores 21 Points to Opponents' 0 in Past Game.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 8.—Harvard was too strong for Williams today and won, 21 to 0. The Crimson made three touchdowns from which points were kicked, and added three points by a pretty field goal. Penalties were few and injuries slight. Williams was never nearer Harvard's goal than the 40-yard line. The lineup:

Harvard. Position. Williams. Palmer, L. E. ... Peterson, ...

PRINCETON BEATS NEW YORK

By Score of 10 to 0, Orange and Black Takes Game.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 8.—Princeton defeated New York University today by the score of 10 to 0. The New Yorkers found the forward pass as their chief weapon of offense.

The 12 points scored in the first half by Princeton saved it the game. New York in the third period advanced the ball to within four feet of Princeton's goal and missed making first down three by a matter of inches. Dunlap scored for Princeton in the second period after a 45-yard run through a broken field. Penultion scored Princeton's other touchdown in the first period, after he had received a punt on New York's 45-yard line.

CALIFORNIA WINS AT RUGBY

Olympic Club Taken Into Berkeley Camp by 16 to 0 Score.

BERKELEY, Cal., Oct. 8.—The University of California Rugby Varsity defeated the Olympic Club today 16 to 0 in one of the hardest fought games of the season.

California scored once in the first half, converting the try, score 5 to 0. In the second half a spectacular run carried the ball over for the second try, which was converted, score 8 to 0. A few minutes later, Evans dropped-kicked a field goal from a penalty, free kick, and just as time was out, the collegians carried the ball across the line for a final try, which was converted, score 16 to 0.

YALE HURRIES TO WIN GAME

Holy Cross Holds Old Ell Down to Dozen Points.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 8.—Yale had to extend itself to beat Holy Cross 12 to 0 today.

It was the best game under the new rules seen here. Both teams used the forward pass frequently and successfully. Yale's touchdowns were made by a fake play by Corey through Corey and by Deming against the line.

REVENGE SOUGHT FOR 1909

Chicago Nationals Are Tried Men. Manager Has Brought Three Pennants to His Team—Ability as Leader Shown.

As the date of the annual baseball series between the champion clubs of the American and National Leagues approaches, the fans are naturally interested in the personnel of the rival clubs. The Chicago club of the National League and the Philadelphia club of the American League, will contest for the baseball honors of the world for 1910, and both teams are comprised of the finest baseball talent extant.

The Cubs will rely on the great baseball machine, which has been so successful in the past. Frank L. Chance, manager of the Chicago National League baseball club, who is to the present season has brought three pennants and two world's championships to Chicago, is 32 years old, and was born in Ocean Springs, Cal. He first played baseball on the sand lots of his native town. Then he went to college, where he was picked for the baseball squad.

Bill Leary, who was playing center field with Anson's Colts 13 years ago, and who is himself a Californian, was the first to take note of Chance's ability as a baseball player. Chance was brought East and signed by the Chicago Nationals. He was first put on as a catcher. He had a good throw, but he was not rated as a star backstop. However, his seriousness, his thoroughness and his fighting qualities, which were noticeable in him at that early date, kept him at the front right from the beginning of his career as a major leaguer, all of which, by the way, has been spent with Chicago.

When against his protest, Chance subsequently was placed on first base, and then he rapidly developed into a star of the first magnitude.

Chance's ability to pick players early asserted itself, though he never was made manager under the Seely regime, his advice was frequently followed. Charles Webb Murphy purchased control of the team he made Chance manager and gave him 10 per cent of the stock in the organization. He also gave him the authority regarding the players. Chance could see the whole club aggregation if he so chose.

John J. Evers.

John J. Evers is the lightweight of the squad, tipping the beam at 151 pounds. He is 5 feet, 10 inches in height, and is 34 years old. Johnny is a native of St. Louis, Mo., his native town, and began his baseball career there nine years ago. He has been with the Cubs for eight seasons, and is regarded as one of the cleverest second basemen in the business.

Joseph B. Tinker.

Joseph B. Tinker, the Cubs' aggressive shortstop, has gained some local fame as an actor. He first saw the light of day in Denver, Colo., 30 years ago. Joe is 5 feet, 8 inches in height, and when in first-class playing condition tips the beam at 170 pounds. Joe has been in professional baseball 11 years, and joined the Cubs 10 years ago. He bats and throws right-handed.

James Sheppard.

James T. Sheppard, right fielder, has been playing the game for a salary for 14 years, and has been with the Chicago Cubs for seven years. He was born in Columbia, Penn., and began his professional career in Tacoma, Wash., seven years ago. He is 32 years old, and weighs 175 pounds. Jimmy also is married.

Arthur Hofman.

Arthur Hofman, with Johnny Evers, is one of the lightweight on the team. He weighs 133 pounds, and is nearly six feet tall. Hofman, who is a native of Akron, Ohio, first began playing in Des Moines, Iowa. This was eight years ago. He did not get a chance to remain with the minors long, as Manager Chance grabbed him off before his season was finished. Hofman has been a Cub for eight years. Hofman is 25 years old and is married. He works in a bank during the winter.

Harry Steinfield.

Harry Steinfield is a native Kentuckian, having been born in Newport, just across the river from Cincinnati, 24 years ago. He began his professional baseball career with the Ft. Worth, (Texas) team 14 years ago, and has Prospects Bright for Portland to Secure Continuous Ball—McCredie Has Enough Men on His Payroll to Form Teams.

BY W. J. PETRAIN. Commencing Tuesday afternoon the Portland and Los Angeles baseball teams will play the final series of the season of 1910, or after next Sunday's double-header between the Beavers and the Angels, both clubs will leave for the south and no more baseball will be seen in Portland this year.

It has been a most successful year, and Walter McCredie has given the fans of Portland a team of which they may well feel proud. While the Beavers are leading the race, at present the club has only one more week at home, and must close the season with three weeks of play on foreign soil. In the past, however, the Portland team has displayed great versatility on the road, and has managed to hold its own with the other clubs in alien backyards. Because of these past performances the Beavers are looked upon as possible winners, though the closeness of the race makes the pennant a gamble between at least two clubs—Portland and Oakland.

Number of Surprises Sprung.

The past few weeks in baseball in this section of the country have been fraught with a number of surprises and disputes. The surprise has been caused principally by the showing made by the Sacramento Club, which has created havoc with several of the would-be contenders for the honors, and a dispute has cropped out between Portland and Oakland over the eligibility of one of McCredie's players.

The intention of this article is not to discuss the merits of the Helling case, for that will be told elsewhere. At present the fans are more interested in the prospects for next season, which, if air signs develop into facts, means that Portland will once more have two teams in the field. In addition to the regular Pacific Coast League Club, Portland will once more have a berth in the Northwestern League, which organization will schedule games here when the "Coasters" are en route, just as was the case in 1909.

1909 Experiment Unsuccessful.

Portland's experiment with continuous baseball in 1909 cannot be said to have been a success, but this was more because the Portland team that year was of the joke variety more than anything else, and its poor showing was responsible, in a great measure, for the falling off in the attendance. The fans plainly showed a preference for the Pacific Coast League brand, as McCredie's team in the Class A League played as runners-up to the champion Seals.

In the event that Portland does get two clubs next year, W. W. McCredie, president of the Portland Club, intends to see that a first-class team is placed in the field, and it is more than probable that a high-class baseball manager will be imported from the East to handle this club. W. W. McCredie, despite the objections of his nephew, Walter McCredie, says that Portland will have a first-class club to give battle to the Northwestern during the coming season. Right now the team has the nucleus of a rattling club in the surplus players drawing salaries from the Portland Club. Walter McCredie has 21 men in uniform and drawing pay regularly. At least six of these will be transferred to the Northwestern League, if Portland is once more taken into the fold by a circuit. Walter McCredie has at least 20 more players in view, and several of them are already candidates for the Coast club.

For years the Portland magnates have been fighting for expansion of the Pacific Coast League on a basis of four clubs north and a similar number south, but each year brings the same result. The California magnates

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY STRIVES HARD TO DEVELOP STRONG FOOTBALL TEAM.

WASHINGTON SQUAD IN ACTION.

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON, Seattle, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—The accompanying illustrations are the likenesses of the football squad of the university from which Coach Gilmour Dobie must pick a team to win championship honors of the Northwest. The first shows the entire first squad, numbering 25 in all, while the men out for the team at this institution number more than 50. The second shows the team that may be picked from the University of Washington. They are: Left end, W. O. Grimm; left tackle, H. E. Grimm; left guard, John Sberckle; center, B. Presley; right guard, B. Fuller; right tackle, M. Eakin; right end, F. H. Gibbs; quarterback, Will Coyne; left half, William Cook; right fullback, F. Sparger; right half, H. Pike.

Coach Dobie expresses considerable anxiety regarding the University of Oregon Agricultural College game, and his men are working hard nightly in long practices to develop material that will be able to defeat the husky Oregonians.

WILLIAMETTE MEN TO GET "W"

Fifteen Salem Athletes Entitled to Society Membership.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—An organization to be composed of only those entitled to wear the "W" is being perfected at Willamette University among the athletes. At present only one of the athletes, ball man, will be eligible to the society, but later in the year track and baseball men will be admitted to membership.

In the near future a banquet will be held at which President Homan and Dean W. H. Byrd of the Medical College will be the principal speakers. Following are those who are now eligible for membership: Blackwell, Booth, Reader, McMahan, Cummins, McKnight, Westley, Ballinger, Lowe, Homan, Zimmerman, McIntire, Schramm, Minton and Beilinger.

CASE GIVES YOST SURPRISE

Michigan Able to Score but Three Points in Tie Game.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 8.—Case sprang a surprise on Michigan today at Perry Field, holding Yost's men to only five goals and scoring one on themselves. Lawton for Michigan booted the first in 8 minutes of play from the 25-yard line. Final score 3-3. There came evened it up when Heller put the leather between the posts at the start of the second quarter after Twichell had made a fair catch on the 25-yard line. Michigan did not attempt the open style of play until the last period and could not gain consistently.

MEETING BARREL STURS ALL COAST

Oakland Fans Will Demand 3 Games if Decision Is Favorable.

SEAL TEAM GOING DOWN

Long Strengthens for Next Year. Vernon May Overhaul San Francisco in Closing Weeks of Race. Alleged Compact Scouted.

BY HARRY R. SMITH. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 8.—The Helling case, more than any other subject, has been interesting the California fans, as well as those of Portland. What the outcome will be, no one knows, but I do know that Judge Graham, in giving any decision that he may reach, will not be swayed by partiality or any implied threats that may come from Portland.

Judging the question wholly on the newspaper evidence, which of course, is not official, it looks as if McCredie in grave danger of forfeiting the games he played with Oakland. McCredie's argument seems to be that if Helling is not official, it looks as if McCredie is without any authority or knowledge of the Portland Club. McCredie probably understands that ignorance is not a good defense and if Helling signed such a contract when he was tied up to Portland, he is a contract jumper.

Very likely McCredie did not understand condition but his attitude in going ahead with the Portland game without the advice of President Graham does not look good. Speaking calmly, it looks very much as if McCredie wants to have a good excuse in case he loses the pennant.

Naturally, the Oakland fans want to see their club win and while they would prefer not to play any more, they are going to insist upon going by the rule and taking the games if the decision is rendered in their favor. They are just as "dippy" over baseball in Oakland as they ever were in Portland. Some of you Portland fans, for instance, think that the California end of the circuit is giving you all the worst of it. The Oakland fans think they are getting the worst of it. They point to the fact that Charlie Graham took the Senators to Portland minus the services of Charlie Baum and Jimmy Whelan as a suspicious point.

Naturally, the Helling case is going to cause a lot of feeling whichever way it is decided. The Oakland fans will feel injured if the games are forfeited and on the other hand, the supporters of the Oaks will let out an awful howl if their protest is turned down. It doesn't look as if they have any chance in giving a decision. McCredie has been called upon for his evidence and Judge Graham remarked the other day that he would have a fight on his hands in deciding just what to do.

Outlaw Threat Laughed At.

So far as the implied threat from Portland that the Beavers will tear outlaws in case things don't go their own way, the Californian end of the circuit does not seem to be worried. Of course it would mean a fight on their hands but they figure that McCredie knows on which side his bread is buttered. He has always made money in the National League and with a new park on his hands for next year, he will not be wanting to make any change.

The San Francisco club continues to slip, slip, slip. Everybody has a different reason for the way the champions are slumping, but that isn't helping the National League and with a new park on his hands for next year, he will not be wanting to make any change.

As things stand now, it looks as if San Francisco is going to go some to keep out of the way of the Vernon club. It certainly will be hard luck if a team that has been a contender would be the back to the second division in the next few weeks.

Long announces the signing of two new players for next season, men who have been purchased outright. One of them is Weaver, a shortstop from York, Pa., in the Tri-State League. Weaver batted .286 for the season and .340 for the last two months. The other new man is a club named McDonald, an outfielder who hails from Terre Haute Central League. McDonald is said to be a .370 batter.

Bill Heltmuller, the ex-Oakland outfielder, who went to the Philadelphia Athletics and finished up the season with the Baltimore Orioles, has returned to San Francisco and with a new park on his hands for next year, he will not be wanting to make any change. Heltmuller hit well for Baltimore and was quite a favorite, he has expressed a desire to go to some other club. It is probably a good guess that Bill would not object if some Coast League organization could take him off the hands of Baltimore, and as Heltmuller is well liked here a trade may be decided upon some time in the summer.

Graham-McCredie Compact Scouted. With all due respect to the agreement that Charlie Graham is reported to have entered into by which the McCredie can finance a Northwestern League club next season if they so desire, I don't think the necessary permission will be granted by the California magnates. I had a talk with Cal Ewing the other day and while he refused to commit himself he did remark that the league refused to grant such permission last year. The inference that he left is that such permission would be granted again.

Ewing also has something to say on this subject of the Portland people turning outlaws. "I know that Judge McCredie does not intend to do anything of the kind," remarked Ewing, "and he knows that I know it. That Portland franchise is worth $50,000 I guess and it would take about 20 minutes to finance a new club, and I would be willing to hazard an opinion that Fielder Jones backed up by Comiskey would be willing to take over such a club. But there is no danger of anything of the sort happening."
