Independence Grower Disposes of 1275 Bales at a Price Reported to Be 13 1-2 Cents-Active Demand for Olds.

The hop market, after a dull and dragging period of about two weeks, has suddenly sprung into activity. From a condition hor-lering on weakness, it has become firm. The fargest individual block of hope in the state, that of C.A. MuLaughlin, of In-dependence, containing 1278 hales, was sold restorday to Louis Lachmund, of Salery. The price was reported in the local trade to be 13 cents, but the announcement comes from Independence that It was 12 is cents. News of this transaction aroused the reatest interest among dealers in Portland and Salem. There was much curiosity to know whether the purchase was made for Paul R. G. Horst, whom Lachmund repre-sents, or for others. The impression prevalls here that the hops will be turned over to Klaher, Wolf & Netter. It is known that this firm had previously made as offer on the hope. T. Rosenwald & Co., Imac Pincou & Sons, and other dealers had also figured

Another interesting feature of the market is the demand that has developed for last year's hope. They have been selling as too wide a spread as compared with the current roup, and attracted the attention of buyers, stop, and attracted the attention of buyers. Six cents was the quotation on 1909s last week, as against 13 cents on 1910s, but this morgin has been reduced. Hal Bolam yesterday paid 5 is cents for the Dog Minte lot of 70 bules of 1909s at Salem. Mr. Holarn's total purchases of olds were 500 bales. The others were bought at 6 and 7 cents. T. A. Livesley & Co. secured 65 bales from Byron Mensenmeler, of Salem, at 7 cents. The Murphy lot of 90 bales of 1910s at St. Paul was sold resterday, but the name of the buyer or the price were not learned. Truding on an active scale has also been resumed in Washington, McNeff Bros. yestorday bought 375 bales of Yakimas, in addition to 241 bales secured in this state. Niaber, Wolf & Netter bought 145 bales from Charles Sturgis, of Payallup, at 12 cents. T. A. Livesley & Co. bought the Her-trand let of 147 hales at Olsqua, the Hard-coon lot of 75 hales at Yakima and 85 bales. from Dan McDonald, of the same place, all at 12 cents. Livesiev also secured 100 bales of 1900s from McDonald. About 200 bales f Washingtons were shipped on consignment

California advices received yesterday stated that the Uhlmanns have contracted 200 to 200 bales of Russian Rivers for three years

TUBKEY RECEIPTS ARE LARGER Local Buyers Holding Off Until First of Week, Turkey receipts yesterday, as was to be expected, were fairly large. The demand on the street was small, but the market was not weak and former asking prices were repeated. Fancy birds sold at 289 26% cents, seconds were offered at 23924 denis and cults were quoted at 20 cents.

Many of the local retailers, especially the large firms, have secured their supply of turkeys in the country and this has cut down the Front-street demand somewhat. It will also reduce the supply on the street. The smaller dealers are holding off their purchase until Monday or Turkeys. sirchases until Monday or Tuesday, in or der to see what turn the market takes. Re-ports from Valley points were that Seattle and San Francisco buyers were in the market as strong as usual. There was little outside inquiry on the local market yesterday, but heavy shipping orders have ready been placed, which will be largely filed from today's receipts.

The live poultry market was active and fairly steady. Practically everything re-ceived was disposed of, but it was neces-sary to shade prices on chickens somewhat in the late afternoon.

The egg market was firm, with an active demand for all kinds. No change was re-ported in the butter market.

LOCAL WHEAT PRICES HOLD STEADY Demand Is Not Keen and Trading Is

A little trading was under way in the wheat market yesterday, but the demand was not strong from any quarter. There was no pressure to sell and the majority of farmers wanted the prices that were of-fered in the middle of the week, but were no longer available. The quotations of the dealers were unchanged yesterday fro Friday, standing at 78 cents on club and 80@81 cents on bluestem.

NEW YORK BANKS' SURPLUS RAPIDLY INCREASING.

Stands at a Higher Figure Than Since the Middle of September. Loans Scaled Down.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The statement of clearing-house banks for the week shows that the banks hold $17.773.000 more than the requirements of the 25 per cent reserve rule. This is an increase of $10,252,000 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week. The following is the New York Clearing-House summary of the weekly statement of banks for the week ending November 13, 1910:

An unexpected cash gain of $3,003,600, or at least three times in excess of what the known figures earlier in the week indicated, brought about an increase in the surplus reserve in the New York banks of $7,142,000, according to the statement of actual condition issued Saturday. As a result, the surplus above the 25 per cent reserve minimum is now $19,701,675.

This is the largest surplus recorded since the middle of deptember, when the banks were preparing to meet crop requirements, and is more than twice as large as the surplus for the corresponding date a year ago.

Loams showed a small reduction in the actual statement of $802,700. This probably reflects operations noted in the previous actual statement.

At any rafe, the surplus, figured on averages, Stands at $11,773,325, or about $2,000, 600 below the real surplus reported by the banks on Saturday. It is rather interesting to note that the shrinkage in Isans was not confined to the clearing-house banks, but extended to the trust companies and estatement, reported a decrease of $18,755,500 in loans and a decrease of a little larger amount in deposits, together with a shrinkage of $1,500,000 in cash.

The statement, taken as a whole, foreshadows an extremely comfortable position in the money market.

TRADING IS PROFESSIONAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The stock market retained its professional limitations today, but prices continued to advance. Union Pacific and United States Steel practically rose to the highest prices on the present movement and Reading was not far below. The indications of easing money conditions made a sustaining influence. The current mensy movement toward New York was regarded as ending the crop moving requirements of the interior, and foreshadowing a recuperation of reserve holdings of the New York banks.

The private discount rate receded in London. The pointical programme in Great British, by providing for budget action before the dissolution of Farilament, takes from the situation the factor which proved disturbing in last year's crists.

The return of the bank statement was the heavy transfer of deposite and loans from trust companies to clearing-bouse banks, eccusioned by the decline in interest rates during the weak! Averages of other banks and trust companies of fig.65,000 in deposits, $18,785,500 in loans and $1,600,500 in cash. This transfer seems to have been neutralized in the actual showing of the clearing-house banks by loan contracts in other quarters, so that the loan increase only reached the monimal sum of $25,2700. Evidently the shifting from the rest companies did help to benefit the cash showing of the banks, the actual cash increase of over $1,000,000 comparing with preliminary estimates of only $2,000,000.

Bonds were east. Total cales, per value, $1,250,000. United States bonds are unchanged on call from last week.

SEATTLE TURKEYS FIRM

DEALERS ACCUSE OREGON SHIP-PERS OF BULLING MARKET.

Packers Trying to Place Orders for Eastern Fresh Dressed Stock. Potatoes Are Weak.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 12.-The turkey

SEATTLE. Wash. Nov. 12.—The turkey market was very strong today. There was every indication that Oregon shippers are trying to buil the market. Reports from Southern Oregon, where Seattle dealers are endeavering to buy turkeys, stated that shippers can dispose of their turkeys locally to better advantage than, by shipping to Seattle. Seattle dealers, however, refused to lift their huying prices: Fackers were busy trying to book orders for Eastern frosh dressed turkeys. There will be a pronounced scarcity of ducks and geese.

Egg prices will remain unchanged next week. The market was rather weak, however. Butter dragged. Cheese was duli.

Wheat was neglected in the local market, but active in the interior. The market was nominally unchanged here. Exporters were not offering more than 80 cents but millers paid 2 cents more. The demand at present comes largely from milliers. Oats were quoted at 125 on the exchange, but could not be obtained on track at less than $25.

Trade in the fruit and vegetable market was active, in spite of the rain. The heavy trade centered in holiday specialities.

The potato situation is giving Western avenue commission men considerable concern. Speculators have purchased a good many potatoes this Fall and are trying to lift the market by holding back. Shrewd potato traders maintain that conditions do not warrant the high prices that prevailed the concerns are also when the market want to $44.

DISTRIBUTION IS

Boxed Apples Placed in Markets Where They Were Never Known Before-Advantages of Upto-Date Organization.

The daily market bulletin of the North estern Fruit Exchange, Spaiding building, restern Fruit Exchange, Spaiding cuiding, follows:

This year the Northwest produced the largest crop of apples in its history, and the husiness has at last developed into large proportions. In the years to come the production will increase enormously. The Northwestern Fruit Exchange, occupying as it does a public position and standing always for the betterment of the industry has stuck strictly to the facts in these daily reports to shippers. The course of the market is clearly portrayed from the beginning of the season to the present, and thoughtful growers everywhere are invited to think deeply on the whole question of the organization of the industry. Had much of the fruit which has subsequently been placed in the hands of the Exchange been definitely committed to it six weeks ago it would have been possible to take advantage of a large speculative demand for cold storage, which was lost owing to the unorganized condition of the shippers. This Exchange has large plans for the future. It will always grand for strengthening of the local organizations, and will hold itself ready to lend every assistance to all districts in the effort to place themselves on sound business basis.

The market continues dull and featureless. There is practically no speculative demand and cold storage requirements have generally been covered. Such a demand as there is centers in the low-priced varieties, and the trade are not willing to pay the prices we are asking for the better grades. Nevertheless, we have made some very good sales in the last few days. The following report indicates the range of the market and represents outside values:

Wo particularly call the attention of fruitgrowers to the extremely wide distribution which we are effecting, and our success in avoiding the large centers which are pounded to death by operators who have no facilities for reaching the smaller markets. We are affecting this distribution at

STATE EVIDENCE ATTACKED

Attorney Hayes, for Defense, Appeals to Reasoning of Jury by Attempt to Pick to Pieces Testimony Offered.

OREGON CITY, Nov. 18 - (Speciala-The fate of Curtis Helvey, of Carus, who is on trial for claying George Smith last June, is in the hands of the jurymen The final arguments of the opposing

The final arguments of the opposing counsel took up the greater part of the day, and after receiving the instructions of Judge Campbell, the 12 talesmen, at 150 this afternoon, retired to the jury-room for the purpose of determining the guilt or innocence of Helvey.

Gordon E. Hayes, for the defense, was the first to present his argument to the jury this morning, and in an address in behalf of his client he touched upon the failure to find a club at the scene of the killing, such as Helvey says Smith attacked him with, and intimated that as Smith's father and brother were that as Smith's father and brother were the first to arrive at the body, they per-haps knew of the whereabouts of the

In attacking the state's theory of the shooting, Hayes declared that no evi-dence had been introduced to show the height of Smith, or that the model used In the state's experiments was a man of the same height and build. The fact that Smith was shot in the back, according to Hayes, depends entirely on the manner in which Smith awang the club in his endeavor to hit Helvey. The attorney contended the fact that wit-nesses for the state had testified to Hel-vey's accurateness in revolver-shooting. and asked why it would be necessary for a marksman, lying in ambush, with a rest on a log, to have shot three times order to hit a large man at a short distance.

Attorney Brownell in opening his argument attacked conviction on circumstantial evidence, and said that in his opinion, the meanest man on earth is the one who will try to send another man to the gallows on suspicion alone. He declared that, the state had failed to prove any malice on the part of Helvey toward the dead man. He said that Smith's father spoiled the case for the state by failing to tell Helvey that young Smith was also in the woods looking for the colts, and hinted that the old man wanted the two to meet.

men was compared, and the speaker said that Helvey was justified in carrying the revolver. Attacking the assassination theory, Brownell asked why Helvey talked to Smith's father just before the shooting instead of remaining in hiding. The fact that no club was found was, in the eyes of the speaker, a strong point in favor of the defendant, for had the shooting been premeditated, he could easily have brought a club and placed it near the body to strengthen his defense.

In concluding, he said his man was either guilty or not guilty of premeditated murder, and urged the jury either to bring in a first degree verdict or one of acquittal, as there was no grounds for the returning of either second degree or manshaughter verdicts.

The Seal argument was made for the defense.

or manslaughter verdicts.

The final argument was made for the state by District Attorney Tongue, who has conducted the prosecution. He assalled many of Helvey's witnesses, charging them with giving conflicting evidence. Helvey himself, said the official, plainly lied in telling the details of the shooting, and on close questioning, was picked assunder. He attacked the testimony of Helvey's father, and declared him to be an unnatural parant the testimony of Helvey's father, and declared him to be an unnatural parent to run away as he said be did, when he heard the shots fired, knowing that Smith was looking for his son.

The defendant was branded as a cowardly liar, and the jury was asked to choose between his unsubstantiated testimony or that of many witnesses called by the state. Tongue justified Smith's action in striking Helvey on a former occasion, and declared that had he not done so, he would have been undeserving of the name of son.

In his instructions to the jury, Judge Campbell asked them to bring in one of four verdicts, first degree, second degree, manslaughter or acquittal, and defined manslaughter or acquittal, and defined
