

TETRAZZINI, "HEAVENLY HERALD," TO SING HERE

Portland People to Hear Soprano Whose Glorious Tones Have Caused World's Critics to Rave—Notes "Liquified Golden and Silver."

MADAME TETRAZZINI, WHO WILL SING IN PORTLAND.

It is the best news of the season that Portland is actually to hear the new soprano, whose triumphs—so say the critics—eclipse all ancient and preceding objects of adoration. Tetrazzini, the new exponent of the Italian "bel canto" is a great singer. Her wonderful voice has not been worn by countless years of study and toil under the exacting... Her native genius was enabled her to master the subtleties of song and "voice placement."

Garden Theater in New York, for instance, or Henry Irving's reappearance at the Lyceum in London, after death had cast dice for him and lost; but, of the present generation not of these events. For us, Tetrazzini's homecoming, to the scene where her world-success had its birth, will stand as a standard for public emotion at high tide. The night had its glorious artistic side, its intimate and tender aspect, even the most delicate of the subtleties of song and "voice placement."

portion of her life in Portland, is a graduate of Oestling-on-Tucson, where she attended school for two years. Mr. King, who is well known and is popular with the young society folk here, was one of the nuptials at the wedding. The Fall of Mrs. King and Mrs. Berwick Wood (Miss Alice Howe). Mr. King has also been absent from the city recently with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander of Kansas City; John Wheeler and Mr. McGowan. The table decorations were of Killarney roses, and following the dinner, which was at 7 o'clock, informal dancing and music were enjoyed.

Miss Masters is a member of the sophomore class and is also a prominent activity maiden, belonging to the Gamma Phi Beta chapters at both Stanford and the University of Oregon, where Miss Masters began her college course last year. Miss Masters will remain in the city until the close of the Christmas recess. Lieutenant and Mrs. B. Ruttenutter, of Vancouver Barracks, were hosts at the Hellig Theater last Wednesday, when they entertained the following guests at a box party: Captain and Mrs. Robert Orley, Miss Louise Williams and Lieutenant Spencer.

Mr. and Mrs. James Elliott and the Misses Elliott left the city recently for Seattle, where they will be the holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Kerry. Miss Margaret Templeton, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Templeton, of this city, who has been passing the Winter in San Francisco with her mother and brother, graduated last week of the Deannan's School for Young Women. Particularly interesting is the fact that Miss Templeton was the youngest of her class, and not only received honorary mention, but was awarded a medal for the highest scholarship grade.

Members of the Oregon University chapter of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority who are passing the holidays in Portland gave an informal luncheon at the Portland Hotel last Wednesday afternoon. The table decoration was of flaming poinsettias. The guests who assembled were Miss Edith Woodcock, Miss Mildred Whiteley, Miss Ada Kendall, Miss Lenore Hanson, Miss Florence Cleveland, Miss Edith Sheehy, Miss Marie Zimmerman, Miss Pearl Wilbur, Miss Ruth Beach, Miss Helen Calk, Miss Elizabeth Feltz, Miss Mary Kendall, Miss Frances Fuller, Miss Jessie Hurley, Miss Helen Beach, Miss Evelyn Harding and Mrs. Fuller. Miss Lenore Hanson will entertain the same young women at her home this week with tea, following a matinee performance at the Orpheum.

Dr. and Mrs. Otto B. Wright passed the week-end at Hotel Gearhart-by-the-Sea. Cards have been received in Portland announcing the marriage of Miss Lillian Schmidt, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Jacob John Schmidt, of Kansas City, Mo., to Nathan Bishop Blackburn, of this city, which will take place in that city at the home of the bride's parents, 2215 East Twenty-fifth street, Thursday evening, December 22, at 8:30 o'clock. Miss Schmidt will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wright in Portland, where he attended school and was well known among the younger set. Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn will be at home after February 15 at 215 East Twenty-sixth street, Kansas City.

The officers and ladies of Vancouver Barracks will entertain with a formal fancy dance cotillion New Year's eve, and they have invited a large number of Portland folk to be their guests. Mrs. Edward Alden Deas left Portland recently to visit her brother and his wife in Spokane, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Middaugh. Mrs. Deas will be away a fortnight. Mrs. Lloyd Wickham will entertain at her Irvington home next Friday afternoon with five tables of bridge. The guests, who will be entertained at dinner today by Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Runyon are: Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Cannon, Miss Eleanor Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Denison, Mrs. M. Denison, Mrs. W. H. Groh, Miss Madeline Groh and Miss Marjorie Cannon. The guests who enjoyed Miss Genevieve Thompson's hospitality at the Orpheum Wednesday afternoon and tea at the Portland Hotel later were, Mrs. David C. Lewis, Mrs. S. P. Morrey, Miss Louise Cary, Miss Cornelia Cook, Miss Hazel Crocker, Miss Barbara Crocker, Mrs. W. A. Spanton, Mrs. Byron B. Nicholas and Mrs. Preston Smith. The honor guests were: Mrs. Percival Allen and Mrs. Harold Charters, who will return this week to her home in Eureka, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. J. P. O'Brien will have as their dinner guests today Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Stanley, Miss Cornelia Stanley, Miss Sarah Harris and Robert Smith. Among the faithful workers in the cause of the Red Cross seals last week were: Mrs. Robert W. Lewis, Mrs. William S. Riddle, Mrs. Everett Ames, Miss Marguerite Boschke, Miss Gretchen Klosterman, Miss Ruth Small, Miss Elsie Gill, Miss Ethel Chamberlain, Mrs. Ella Hahn, Miss Ethel Chamberlain, Mrs. C. B. Woodruff, Mrs. J. Andre Foulhoux, Mrs. Ralph Walker, Mrs. Felix Friedlander, Mrs. E. A. J. Mackenzie, Mrs. Isabella Gault, Miss Jean Morrison, Miss Jeanette Noble, Miss Lucille Dunne, Miss Elizabeth Goldsmith, Mrs. La Mond, Miss Margaret Dunlap, Mrs. E. H. Harlow, Miss Mildred Grindstaff, Miss Lisa Wood, Miss Maida Hart, Miss Bertha Tongue, Miss Angela Kinney, Mrs. Harry Latt, Mrs. John Cronan, Mrs. Marion and Mrs. Joseph Bradley, Mrs. Henry Felling, Mrs. Donald Munroe, Mrs. Morris Whitehouse, Mrs. Robert Forbes, Mrs. Frank Glichrist Owen and Mrs. John H. Kellogg.

General and Mrs. Thomas M. Anderson will entertain four of their children and three of their grandchildren, Mrs. E. M. Cairns, of Mantia, and Captain and Mrs. Patten from Seattle today at dinner. Miss Grace Langdon, of Albany, was the guest of her cousin, Miss Constance Piper, for the week ending Friday. Miss Langdon expects to come to Portland to live early in the Spring, on her return from California, where she will visit during January. Miss Langdon is well-known among the younger set of Portland, having attended school with several Portland girls at both Miss Somers' school in Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Bennett's, near New York City. Mrs. E. M. Anderson entertained recently at the Hellig Theater, when the guests in their box included Miss Langdon, Mrs. D. C. Bogart and Miss Constance Piper.

The Auction Bridge Club met Monday at the home of Mrs. B. F. Weaver. The 10 o'clock luncheon preceding the table was attractive with cut glass, Cluny luncheon cloths and the antique candelabra. The house decorations were of red berries and greens, symbolic of the Christmas season, and gathered about the card tables were the following members, of whom the high score winners were: Mrs. H. H. Hubert, Mrs. C. C. Hickok, Mrs. B. M. Denison, Mrs. J. B. Moffatt, Mrs. G. W. McMillan, Mrs. Julia Binner, Mrs. E. F. Harlow, Mrs. C. C. Hickok. The next meeting of the club will take place at the home of Mrs. C. C. Hickok on the afternoon of January 2. Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Lipman left Portland Tuesday for the East, whence they will sail in a few weeks for Europe for the year of '11.

Gossip about interesting folk in other cities is always welcome, and thus with the interest today mentioned Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., the attention of the reader is at once attracted. These much-discussed young couple were hosts at an informal luncheon at the Hotel St. Francis, in compliment to Mrs. Roosevelt's mother, Mrs. Charles Alexander, of New York, who is passing the winter with her at her attractive home on Pacific avenue. It is gratifying to Portland society to know that a recent arrival in its midst writes enthusiastically about her new associates to her home, and that what word from San Francisco tells us that Mrs. Roosevelt is here.

Mrs. J. F. Dickson left last night for California, where she will pass Christmas in the sunny southland. Christmas and Christmas gifts is the subject of universal interest today, and it may interest and act as the year's inspiration to Portland's young belles to know what Miss Helen Taft, the debutante daughter of the President, is giving to her friends this day. Miss Taft is an adept in the art of "fudge" making, and she has made a large quantity, put it into dainty boxes and has honored her friends. In many cases the tops of the boxes are the setting of photographs of the fair donor.

Following the performance at the Hellig Monday night under the auspices of the Portland Press Club, the members of the club entertained about a hundred guests at supper at the Portland from half past 11 till 1 o'clock. The affair was decidedly a delightful success. The first of a series of talks before the Portland Art Association was given Monday by Miss Henrietta Felling at the Art Museum. The second of this series will be given Monday at 4 o'clock and will carry the subject of Greek art forward from the age of Carthage with which was the closing point of Miss Felling's lectures. The entire course of Miss Felling's lectures will embrace Greek art up to the Renaissance period. Stereopticon slides illustrated the talk last week and aided in the general interest.

Cards have been sent out announcing the marriage of Miss Sara Glance to Martin Levi Bowman. Both young persons are prominent in musical circles of this city, and are the foremost concert and chorus singers among the younger set of talented folk here. Miss Glance is the daughter of Mrs. Reba Glance and has been identified with the Miss Genevieve Thompson and Miss Elizabeth Sears will leave the city Tuesday for New York, expecting to return in about six weeks.

The officers and ladies of Vancouver Barracks will entertain with a formal fancy dance cotillion New Year's eve, and they have invited a large number of Portland folk to be their guests. Mrs. Edward Alden Deas left Portland recently to visit her brother and his wife in Spokane, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Middaugh. Mrs. Deas will be away a fortnight. large church choir as well as musicles of a more formal type. Mr. and Mrs. Matthew and Stephen Matthew, and Miss Hannah Schlotz. An unusually interesting meeting of the Portland Shakespeare Club was held at the home of Mrs. H. L. Chapin Monday, when the members and guests were entertained by a programme provided by the dramatic committee. Under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Garr Reed selections from Richard III were given. During the social hour, when luncheon was served, Miss Genevieve Chapin and Stanley Chapin entertained the guests with music. Christmas decorations prevailed, with brilliant poinsettias, Oregon grape and holly in production.

Mrs. Luther R. Dwyer entertained the Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Congregational Church at her home on Wednesday afternoon. A large number were in attendance. The programme included a reading by Mrs. Frank Towle and two baritone solos by Fred Smith, of Toledo, O. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Woodward were dinner hosts Wednesday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. G. McCarthy, of Des Moines, Iowa, where Mr. McCarthy is the State Auditor.

The teachers and pupils of the Oakley Green School gave a most successful series of entertainments on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week. The pupils participated in the activities, members of the primary class being particularly clever. The affairs netted in all over $200, which sum will be used for the purchase of books for the class rooms. The kindergarten conducted by Miss Marie Clausen, at 341 Thirteenth street, held its Christmas tree on Friday forenoon. The tree was decorated by the children with many ornaments which they had made, and which were presented to their respective mothers by the proud little makers. Wednesday, December 21, the "Auwax" girls and their friends were delightfully entertained at the home of Miss Carrie Fitzpatrick in honor of Miss Gladys Crockett, who left the city Thursday to pass the holidays with friends in Seattle. The house was artistically decorated with mistletoe and chrysanthemums. The club members include Miss Gladys Crockett, Miss Fitzpatrick, and Miss Carrie Fitzpatrick. (Continued on page 5.)

EVENTS OF THE WEEK. Mrs. M. Doble entertained last Friday at luncheon in honor of the 15th anniversary of the Ladies' Auxiliary to Company H of the Second Oregon Volunteers. Mrs. A. D. Klinton, the president of the organization, spoke of the purpose and history of the auxiliary and also presented Mrs. Doble with a cut glass dish from the women, as the occasion was also Mrs. Doble's 38th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Roy Doble and Miss Grace Richardson assisted Mrs. Doble in entertaining.

A birthday surprise party was given in honor of Mrs. J. A. English of Hood River, the evening of December 17, at the residence of Captain J. W. Shaver, 169 Cherry street. A handsome chief shower was given Mrs. English. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. John A. English, Captain and Mrs. Delmer Shaver, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. J. DePenning, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Jones.
