THOUSANDS COME TO WOOL MEETING

Oregon Association to Gather Tuesday; National Body for Rest of Week.

RECEPTION IS ARRANGED

Trains Bearing Delegates Will Be gin Arriving Tomorrow-Midwinter Sheep Show to Be Big Feature of Convention.

MANY THOUSAND SHEEPMEN TO ATTEND CONVENTION.

Secretary Walker, of National

SOUD viriturs. woolgrowers meets Tuesday at Arm-

Annual convention of National Association meets Wednesday at Arm-

Special train from Boise, Idaho, arrives Monday.

Midwinter sheep show opens Wednesday with 1000 entries. ESetimated attendance of Oregon flockmasters is 2000

Two thousand cheepmen will come ou of the plains and valleys of Oregon to attend the National woolgrowers convention, which will open in the Armory next Wednesday and continue until Suturday night. This was the estimate of Dan P. Smythe, of Pendleton, secretary of the Oregon State Woodgrowers' Asso-ciation, yasterday, when he opened head-quarters in the Imperial Hotel.

Secretary Walker, of the National As-ociation, estimated yesterday that there would be $600 visitors in all.

A special train will arrive Tuesday rom Idaho with the delegation from the Panhandle state, and the sheepmen from Washington will make their way as in-dividuals. Mr. Smythe has wagered a friend that 5000 sheepmen will be present during the convention. The Oregon woolgrowers will meet Thesday when they will discuss their problems and inci-dentally talk over good sales of short wool made in Eastern Oregon.

Walker Expects 8000.

Secretary Walker, of the National association, who has been in the city since Thursday, was busy all of yesterday ar-ranging the details of the programme. and making reservations at the hotels for the delegates who are on the way. "I do not expect many before Monday, said be, "although there are a few al-ready in the city. Some from Wyoming have arrived while districts like Harney County, Heppner and Umatilla have men on the ground looking forward to the opening of the meeting on Wednesday. We shall have 8000 visitors or I miss my

The work of preparing the Armory pro-The work of preparing the Armory pro-ceeded vigorously yesterday. The con-tractor having in charge the making of the pens put a force of carpeniers to work and it is thought that the Eê pens will be completed by Monday morning, so that the sheep may be in place Tucaday. Badges were issued yesterday to the various officials in charge of reception arrangements. C. C. Chapman, manager of the Promotion Bureau, issued special adges to all downtown policemen having sarge of crossings. All inspectors of the street railway will wear badges.

Reception to Be Held.

Aside from meeting the trains, nothing done officially until tomorrow night at 7:30, when an informal reception will be held at the Imperial Hotel in the headquarters of the Oregon State Assoclation. Fred Lockley is in charge of the committee. He will be assested by the following:

J. W. Benson, R. E. Bristow, A. S. Butterworth, G. L. Campbell, E. H. Cariton, H. F. Chapin, A. B. Cone, H. A. Cushing. H. Dietz, W. S. Dulmage, O. L. Perris, W. Pr. P. S. Grant, P. Grossmayer, N. B. Cregg, R. V. Holder, E. S. Jack-son, E. C. Johnson, V. Vincent Jones, J. A. Lee, R. R. Warriner, J. L. Hooper, A. W. Lambert, D. W. Kolle, J. H. Klosterman, R. E. Kingsbury, A. L. Mack-intosh, T. A. Lawson, C. S. Jackson, D. O. Lively, Raiph W. Hoyt, Dr. J. R. Wetherbee, William H. Daughtrey, F. A. Free-man, G. M. Rice, J. S. McLaughlin, Frank W. Robinson, J. T. Wallace and C. O. Lauritzen.

At this reception the officers of the state association and all visiting sheep-nen will be welcomed to the city. There will be informal talks upon Portland's

The Oregon woolgrowers will be escorted Tuesday to the Armory, where they will hold their convention all day. The National association will meet Wednesday. Eastern delegates are not expected to arrive before Tuesday, when Wilbur P. Wakeman, of New York, editor of the American Errorestat and account of the Errorestat and the Er American Economist and secretary of the American Protective Tariff League, and others will reach the cfty. Fred W. Goodings of Shoshone, Idaho, president of the association, will arrive on Thursday. The Idaho special will leave Boiss Sunday night. A. J. Knollin, Eastern vice-president, will arrive Tuesday morning. president, will arrive Tuesday morning from Chicago. J. A. Delfeeder, of Wolton, Wyo., will arrive Monday night. Lewis Penwell, of Helena. Mont., the treasurer, will reach Portland Tuesday. All of the officials will find rooms awaiting them at the Oregon Hotel. The Oregon flock-masters are making the Imperial their headquarters.

oe Midwinter Sheep Show will open The Midwinter Sheep Show will open at the Armory on Wednesday morning. There are low entries. The prediction is made that it will be the best display of high bred sheep ever seen in America. A car load of Rambouillete arrived yesday, making the third carload since Monday.

GOODING IS NOT CANDIDATE

President of National Woolgrowers Not After Office Again.

BOISE Idaho, Dec. 31.—(Special.)—Fred w. Gooding, of Idaho, president of the National Woodgrowers' Association for has never ceased her efforts to obtain a parden for him. three successive terms, will not be a can-didate for re-election to that office, and will decline to be considered as a candidate when the annual 1911 convention is beld in Portland January 4 to 7, inclu-

There are several prominent men men-tioned to succeed Mr. Gooding as presi-bole and disappears entirely into the in-dent. Among them is an Idaho woolman, sociation. "That, of course, I cannot answer," said he, "but I believe it will go to the Central West, where I believe it belongs. Omaha, I understand, is bidding for the convention and may secure the 1912 session."

ERIN'S HATRED IS FEARED

British Tories See Visions of Irish Navy.

DUBLIN, Dec. 31.-(Special.)-The Freeman's Journal does not fear the recent battlecry of Ulstermen. Nationalists ridicule it. Referring to two Unionist manifestoes, the paper says:
In one of the views of the "Forward" party in England are set forth; in the other the Ulster Unionist Council cah their followers to arms.

Compared with the belligerent stalwarts of the Orange divisions of Ulster, the wide-awakes of the "Revemovement in England are lambs to lions. The Eng-Unionists discourse of the effect of "foreign" intervention on the government of their country, of the direful tyranny of irish dictators supported by American millionaires; of the abject condition of a country that would be ruled by the "paid agitators

If the Ulster Unionist Council had not taken the stage at the same time, this performance might have attracted attention, but the Ulater display overshadows it. Its authors do not argue: they have no time for political disquisition.

Home rule is threatened, therefore it behooves loyal Ulstermen to be up and doing "in defense of their liberties and what is the prespect? That if home rule should be granted the Unionists of Ireland should trample upon a statute, should defy the decree of King, Lords and Commons, even at the cost of civil Ulster will fight, and Ulster will be right." The loyalists will pay no taxes to a Parliament in Dublin, will not acknowledge its decrees. Surely it is significant of the great advance of the home rule movement that these men are delivering inflam-matory, rebel addresses like those which made our flesh creep 25 years

English colleagues amuse themselves with high politics. Electors note the willingness of Lansdowne and Rose-bery to reconstitute the House of Lords on a "democratic" basis, to give aristo-cratic legislators a firmer footing. But in Ireland, the loyal minority must be entertained with hot stuff and are advised to seize their rifles.

In North Armagh they were counseled to arm, to offer a real and not passive esistance to an Irish Parliament. Movements in defense of this "loyal and orderly" position are, we are in-formed, in course of promotion, and if events should develop on these lines, the Unionist hat may be sent round for an armament fund.

The Unionist manifesto is worthy of its source. It may impress some old ladies; that it could influence statesmen is inconceivable. Ulster publicans passed a resolution strenuously opposing all candidates heatile to the interests of the liquor trade. The resolution is aimed at members of Parliament who allowed the budget, with its oppressive clauses against "the trade." to pass without protest. Not only in Belfast, but in several counties, the association has strong influence. In several provin-cial districts also, notably Monaghan, the publicans wield greater power.

Cardinal Logue forbade priests to take any scrive part in the North Louth election. He wrote a letter stating he would vote for Healy, and priests were about equally divided in support of him and the United Irish League candidate.

The London Morning Post outlines some of the "terrible effects" of Irish

"A Home Rule Ireland would build its own navy. It could fix the bases for that navy in the Irish Sea and on occasions such a fleet, however small, so disposed as to threaten the Welsh might have great effect on imperial The naval correspondent of the same ing a navy of her own, but it is not difficult to see her filting out priva-teers against British commerce and egalizing them according to the usage of the present age. In bygone ages, when Ireland was annoying England in every possible way, the encouragement of piracy was in favor. The many natural harbors of the west and south coasts of Ireland afforded convenient shelter, from which issued maranders who made a precarious living by inter-cepting English ships, and this sort of hing went on almost without inter mission until the middle of the 17th

"The danger, however, from Ireland herself could do against Brit-ain at sea pales into insignificance when compared with the mischief she could do by lending her ports to an enemy.

CARTER'S PALS ARE LUCKY

Greene and Gaynor to Regain Lib. erty It Is Reported.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 21.—(Special.)—The 65 prisoners in the Federal Prison here are to be released on parole, John B. Greene and W. J. Gaynor, who were convicted of complicity with Captain Oberlin Carfer in Savannah Harbor frauds, are aroung the lucky once are among the lucky ones.

The frauds of Greene, Gaynor and Carter in Savannah Harber were robbing the Government of several millions. Gaynor has been in the hospital most of the time, suffering from locomotor ataxia. Greene was formerly an Army engineer, and has been employed in construction work at Bamboo Poles in Japan.

Consular Report.
Inquiries from the United States have "I will not be a candidate for re-election as president of the National Woolgrowers" Association," said Mr. Gooding. "I have been president for three successive terms and I believe that I should step aside, for there are many prominent woolmen of the country ably qualified to full the office. I have so informed members of the association."

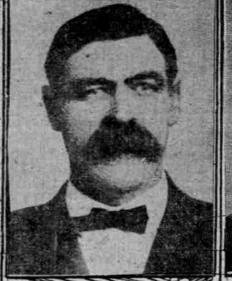

The announcement of Senator Gooding is no surprise to his friends.

There are acveral prominent men men.

Top row (Left to Eight)—Fred W. Gooding, Bolse, Idaho, President National Woolgrowers' Association; J. A. Delfelder, Wolton, Wyo., Western Vice-President; George S. Walker, of Cheyenne, Secretary. Second Row—Lewis Penwell, Helena, Mont., Treasurer National Association; George W. McKnight, Pendleton, Or., President Oregon Woolgrowers' Association; C. D. Minion, Portland, Secretary of the Midwinter Sheep Show. Third Row—Dan P. Smythe, Pendleton, Or., Secretary Oregon State Association; F. A. Freeman, Portland, Treasurer Midwinter Sheep Show; C. C. Colt, Portland, Chairman of Transportation Committee. Fourth Row—D. O. Lively, Portland, Chairman of General Committee of Arrangements; B. S. Josselyn, Portland, Chairman of Entertainment Committee; C. C. Chapman, Portland, Secretary of Oregon Development League and Manager of Promotion Committee of Commercial Club.

POLL IN NEW SOUTH WALES IS ELOQUENT AGAINST "DRYS."

New Zealand Also Finds Prohibition Increases Drinking and Sale of Poisonous Beverage.

BY D. J. QUINN.
MELBOURNE, Dec. ZL-(Special.)—Adrocates of the "dry area" in New South Wales have experienced a severe setback in the local option poll which just been taken throughout the state, By the plebiscite of 1907, out of a total of 90 electorates 64 decided in favor of a reduction of the then existing licenses, but this number has now been brought down to 14, out of which number 12 were only repetitions of the decision of 1967. These, too, were passed by a mere maforly, and as a preponderance of three-fifths of the total vote is required to carry any alteration, the teetotal party has failed to score in any one instance. The victory, therefore, of the liquor interest is decisive. It was won by means of two agencies, the more evident of which, though not really the more weighty, was a very vigorous campaign of advertisement carried on chiefly in the newspapers, in which the trade in-serted two, three and even four-page nanifestoes at an expenditure of thousands of pounds sterling.

New Zealand Sets Example.

I have never seen evidence of such energy in political advertising during my long residence in the Dominion. The most weighty argument, however, against the dry area ticket was drawn from the experience of New Zenland-that land of democratic experiment and innovation in legislation.

There they were strong for prohibition. but are now discovering that it has had the only result which could be looked for from coercive measures of this sort.

Thirsty folk are not to be denied their cocktails, and if they can't walk into a saloon by the front door and get them they go down the street and round the corner where the drink is to be had on one pretext or another.

Tell a men he must not do a certain thing and he wants to do it all the nore. Legislative attempts therefore to squelch the traffic in drink have only made matters worse, for it carnot be suppressed by these means, and where it is carried on in recret and therefore without the beneficial supervision of authority, not only is drinking increased, but the liquor provided in this hole-and-corner fashion, instead of being bonest, wholesome stuff, is in many cases little better than rank poison.

This view of state-aided "temperance" and who is so truly intemperate as you teetotaller?-may or may not be aclous, but at all events, New South connection is not good enough.

START OF ELECTRIC LIGHT

Its Use on an Important Scale Dates Back to 1876.

Marc M. Reynolds in Moody's Magazine The first experimental philosopher to discover that electric light could be produced by a dry battery was Sir Humphrey Davy, who in 1810 exhibited a light three inches long, between car-bon points, before the Royal Society of London. But no commercial value was attached to the use of electricity as an illuminant until more than half a cen-tury later. The Centennial Exhibition, held in Philadelphia in 1876, really marks the era of our present form of electric light, though electric lights had been in use abroad prior to that time. The exhibition of models and practical demonstrations of electric practical demonstrations of electric lights at Philadelphia in 1876 attracted the attention of scientists and capital-ists in this country, and the first in-candescent lamps and the first arc system were put to practical use in a small way in 1878. The Brush are light gained favor in the beginning as the most adaptable for street lighting, and Cleveland, Ohio, the home of Charles Francis Brush, the inventor, was the initial American city to adopt the arc

GRETNA GREEN HAS COUNTLESS

BLISSFUL MEMORIES.

Sweethearts of High and Low Degree Were Wont to Flee There and Wed When Parents Objected.

LONDON, Dec. 3L - (Special.)-Ro mantle memories of runaway matches are recalled by the action of Justice

Bargreave Deane in declaring valid a marriage that was performed in 1851 novel is the record of the famous Dum-fries village to which sweethearts of high degree used to flee by post chaise, when parents and guardians frowned upon their union. Artists and authors alike have immortalized many a breathless adventure of fugitive lovers and pursuing relatives until it is somewhat of a shock to discover that chapter and verse can be cited for such re-might be anyone-blacksmith, ferry-man or toll-keeper, and the fee varied from $2 to $500 according to the so-cial status of the lovers. One of the earliest Scottish runaway matches was Lovell Edgworth's in 1763, and among his successors were Lord Brougham families as Villiers, Fane, Coventry and and numerous sprigs of such

The man who united the fugitives

More thrilling than the pages of any at Gretna Green.

manic escapades.

Paget.

PLEA IS ANSWERED

Ballinger Promises to Help West Umatilla Project.

T. B. WILCOX STILL BUSY

President Taft Will Be Urged to Recognize Oregon's Demand for Just Apportionment of Reclamation Fund.

Secretary Ballinger, of the Interior Department, was the first to answer by telegraph the appeal sent out by Oregon to the "powers that be" at Washington with regard to reapportionment of the $20,000,000 reclamation Miss Alexandra Vivian, or the appear-bond fund. Of this division, made by ance on the musical platform of the President Taft, Oregon received $925, Marchieness of Dufferin and Ava, born President Taft, Oregon received $925,-000. It is contended the state is enti-tled to $5,000,000. Following is the Secretary's message to the Commercial Club:

"Personally I believe the West Uma-tilla project should be undertaken by the Government as soon as funds can be commanded for its construction, upon satisfactory assurances from the service that funds are or will be available to commence and complete this project. I shall use my utmost en-deavor to secure its undertaking. The necessary investigations will be made without delay. R. A. BALLINGER."

Message Evokes Enthusiasm.

The message evoked enthusiasm. It was conceded that Ballinger at least knows the "lay of the land" on the Coast and is aware how unjustly Ore-Const and is aware how unjustly Ore-gon has been treated in the matter of the Umatilla project.

Word was not received from either Senator Chamberlain or Senato Sentiment in favor of a demand for a reapportionment is growing rapidly. It is deemed advisable to have T. B. Wilcox stay for a few days at Washington to make more effective the desires of the people of Oregon. He will be asked to consult Secretary Ballinger regarding proper procedure to obtain results, and he will also be instructed make a personal appeal to Presi-

The President was guided in his decision, it is understood, by the recom-mendations of Army engineers. If this is true, efforts will be made to con-vince Army officers in charge of the reclamation work and the President may be given good excuse for making a readjustment.

Many Rely on Senator Smith.

The direct appeal made to William Alden Smith, Senator from Michigan, may have some effect, it is thought, as he is financially interested in Oregon and has the interests of the state at heart. Oregon has many citizens from Michigan, all of whom depend upon the Michigan Senator, whose influence with President Taft is said to be great.

The executive committee of the Oregon Development League will meet Tuesday, according to present plans, to promote activity throughout the state. Requests were sent to the Umatilla. Heppner and Pendleton industrial or-ganizations to begin a campaign of education with friends at Washington.

State-Wide Campaign Urged.

Each of the 118 commercial bodies of the state will be asked to send peti-tions, letters and telegrams of protest the Temps, that the Turks are trying to gain a footing in Azerbaijan, which gin a campaign to enlist the support of the two Senators from the State of the Temps, that the Turks are trying to gain a footing in Azerbaijan, which formerly belonged to them. The opinion here is that they are urged on by Germany. Washington, who obtained $2,000,000 for their state.

The ways and means of this campaign have not been decided upon, but it is believed the State of Washington can assist Oregon without detriment to its own interests, and it is the consensus of opinion that the people of the sister will be willing and easer to help their neighbors get what is justly their

ROBBER OUTWITS TROOPS

Picturesque Bad Man of Spain Plays Tricks on Soldiers.

Dec. 31.-(Special.)-The MADRID. Civil Guard of the district around Man-zanares, a village not far from Madrid, is taking part in an exciting man hunt, the subject of which seems likely to repeat the deeds of a real Sierra Morena robber of the Don Q. type, with all the better elements missing. Ramon Clemente, the "hero" of the epic, is a young man who, since a short imprisonment he suffered last year (as he considers unjustly), has conceived a violent hatred for every form of po-

Recently he came within the grasp of the law again and the Magistrate sentenced him to a short term of im-prisonment. When the alguarii (policeman) came to conduct him to jail he seized a gun, and shouting defiance, aimed at the officer, who retired to report to his superior.

A corporal and a private of the semimilitary Civil Guard were then sent to capture the rebel. His parents assured the soldiers that Clemente had fled, so they in turn retired, whereupon the young fellow, who was at home all the time, waylaid them and fired, killing one man and wounding the other.

A large force of troops was then turned out in pursuit. The fuglifive obtained further supplies of ammunition from a gamekeeper, whom he shot, and opened fire on the troops, when they surrounded him the next day. Making up a dummy, into which the soldiers noured their bullets. Clements effected poured their bullets, Clemente effected a strategic retreat, in the course of which he encountered a young shepherd with his mother. Forcing the youth to give up his clothes—for the dummy was wearing most of Clemente's—he got clear away, and the soldiers pres-ently found the shepherd clad in his moder's petticoat. Clemente has been heard of since, as he has raided several cottages for food, but at the time of writing he is still at large.

COURT RULES ARE BOTHER King George Favors Book to Describe Etiquette.

LONDON, Dec. 31,-(Special.)-King At the Gretna Green toll-house, which George, who dislikes etiquette and court formality, needs all his philosophy donn Murray is the best known of these uniters of fleeing lovers, and in this tender work he earned far more money than he did at his trade.

For some time he because the court formality, needs all his philosophy to put up with the contradiction between his private tastes and his public duties.

For some time he had a stone manner to be the court formality, needs all his philosophy to put up with the contradiction between his private tastes and his public duties.

these uniters of neeling lovers, and in this tender work he earned far more money than he did at his trade of stone mason. His most famous match was that of the Marquis of Hastings teries of royal eliquette, should be isand Lady Florence Paget, who were, sued for the use of privileged persons according to the regular routine, remarried in 1864 at St. George's Church, as to costume regulations; that is per-Henover Square.

Altogether more than 7000 runsway ends" and other court functions. missible at "dina and sleeps," matches were made at Gretna Green, such a guide to social knowledge is out of its salt monopoly, published, titled chaperons of wealthy Americans and others will lose good "costom," for the inexperienced would then be able to initiate themselves into the mysteries of court procedure.

the mysteries of court procedure.

The King, however, is more exercised in his mind about the shortage of the famous royal cream ponies than with the difficulties of social aspirants.

He has been in consultation with the master of the horse. Lord Granard, and as a result an official has been sent to Beigium to purchase his new stock.

These ponies, which always figure in royal processions, were first brought to England by George I and were purs Flemish stock. When not required for England by George I and were pure Flemish stock. When not required for state functions the ponies are stabled at Windsor and spend most of their time in the paddocks in the home park. Meanwhile Queen Mary's influence is steadily increasing in rather unexpected directions. Society has been surprised to hear of the first lady in the land as an innovator in furnishing. Queen Mary has, in fact, started a craze. She has had a black carpet laid in her pri-though that color is unsuitable to the metropolitan climate. The novel note Queen Mary has introduced into boundoir furnishing was much discussed at the last dinner par-ties given by the Duchess of Maribor-ough and Mrs. McCormick Goodhart. Indeed, this topic proved as fruitful of gossip as the recently announced en-gagements of Lord Linlithgow to Miss Doreen Milner, and Lord Worsley to Miss Flora Davis, and at one time one of the most beautiful girls in New vate boudoir at Buckingham Palace, al-

Another craze, with which Queen Mary has nothing to do, is for silk pet-ticoats ornamented by brilliant-hued birds around the flounce, snake hats and snake stockings, the latter ornamented with a large red snake of se-

COSSACKS HOLD TAURIS

FORTUNATE IS DECLARED SIT-UATION IN PERSIA.

Pillaging Would Long Ago Have Resulted Had Russians Not Been There, Is Said.

PARIS. Dec. 31 .- (Special.) - The Temps publishes a letter from a correspondent at Tauris, in which the situation in the Persian province of Azer-baijan is described. The Russians, says the letter, still occupy Tauris, and it is fortunate for the inhabitants that they do, for were it not for the presence of the Cossacks they would assuredly have been piliaged by the Shahseven tribe, which has advanced to within 12 miles of the city, after plundering a number of towns. The Governor-General dispatched a small body of Persian troops against the tribesmen, who quickly put them to flight and continued their incursions. The road from Tauris to Teheran has been cut and the couriers plundered.

So much, says the Temps correspondent for the eastern portion of the great province of Azerbaijan, the most important in Persia, for which, since the proclamation of the constitution, nothing has been done, and where disorder and anarchy are rampant. In the west of the province the Turks are steadily encroaching, and there is continual fighting between the Persians and the Kurds. The Kurds, egged on by the Turks, have attacked over and over again the new Governor of Urmia. The loss has been considerable on both sides, but it is difficult to say what the situation exactly is. As for the Ostoman troops, they are contin-ually occupying fresh villages and con-tinually receiving reinforcements. The Turkish Consulates at Urmia, Saudj-Bulak and Khoi have a military guard. It is clear, says the correspondent of the Temps, that the Turks are trying to gain a footing in Azerbaljan, which

Germany. The Provincial Club at Tauris, continues the writer, telegraphed through-out Persin a manifesto calling on the Persians to resist the foreign invasion, and concluding with the words, "Our last remedy is union."

A Chamber of Commerce and Indus-try, the first in Persia, was recently created at Tauris with the co-operation of a few European merchants. "But how." asks the writer, "are European merchants to enter into relations with it? The Tauris tradespeople owe enormous sums to European manufacenormous sums to huropean manufac-turers and to commission agents at Constantinople. How are they to be compelled to pay when there are neith-er laws nor courts? Turkey is appar-ently about to send a Consular Judge here. This gives an idea of the exist-ing disorder."

MAN AT 107 DESIRES JOB

ing disorder."

Centenarian Refuses Charity When Turned Out of His Home,

KANSAS CITY, Ma., Dec. 31.-James KANSAS CITY, Ma. Dec. 31.—James Forbes-Foster, 107 years oid, who saw Napoleon and knew Henry Clay and Daniel Webster, is going to lose his only home this week. At present Foster is living in a condemned building, and has been given notice to leave within a week. The Humans Society has taken in Foster's Humane Society has taken up Foster's case, and will find a home for him.

"I don't want charity," he said, when a representative of that society called upon him. "I can still work—give me a job."

Foster was born in Buffalo, N. Y., and has wandered all over the world. He has made and lost everal fortunes in zinc and lead mines. Foster rode the first lo-comotive across the bridge connecting the American and Canadian shores at Niag-

Oldest Lawsult Not Yet Settled.

New York World. The fourth trial of an action begun in 1876 has just ended in the Supreme Court.
The case is the oldest on the supreme

The case is the oldest of the expedition Court calendar. Adolph Goldschmidt, David Bachrach and Daniel Goldschmidt sued the Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford to recover $5000 on policies on the life of Oscar Adler, a glove manufacturer. The in-surance company contended that Adler committed suicide, and the heirs maintained he died from natural causes.

The first trial ended in dismissal of the complaint. The old general term of the Supreme Court ordered a new trial. The second trial ended in dismissal and again a new trial was ordered. The heirs won a verdict the third trial, but the insurance company took the case to the appellate division and the Court of Appeals. The case went back to the Supreme Court on an error of the trial judge.

In the recent trial the heirs got verdict for $15,050.85, the amount of the claim plus interest. Justice Ger-ard granted the company's attorneys 30 days' stay and 60 days in which to prepare an appeal. The lawyers said the case would probably go to the Court of Appeals again.

Italy's Salt Monopoly.

Edinburgh Scotsman. In 1909 fiscal year, the government of Italy made a profit of $12,821,665